INTRODUCTION.

In presenting to the public the "Gazetteer and Business Directory of Chautauqua County," the publisher desires to return his sincere thanks to all who have so kindly aided him in obtaining the information it contains, and rendered it possible to present it in the brief space of time in which it is essential such works should be completed. Especially are our thanks due to the several editors of the papers published in the county, for the uniform kindness they have evinced in calling public attention to the author's efforts; and for essential aid in furnishing material for the work. Many others have placed us under similar obligations, but as credit has been given in most of such cases, as well as in works from which we have quoted, in connection with the substance of the information gleaned from each, we omit special mention here; while still others have kindly volunteered their assistance, to all of whom we tender our grateful acknowledgment.

That errors have occurred in so great a number of names and dates as are here given is probable; and that names have been omitted which should have been inserted is quite certain. We can only say that we have exercised more than ordinary diligence and care in this difficult and complicated feature of book making. Of such as feel aggrieved in consequence of errors or omissions we beg pardon, and ask the indulgence of the reader in marking such as have been observed in the subsequent reading of the proofs, and which are found in the Errata, following the Introduction.

Opium Antidote. Warranted to cure the Opium Habit. Agents Wanted, Ladies or Gentlemen. Address Drs. Ormes & Kellogg, 69 Main Street, Jamestown, N. Y.

It was designed to give a brief history of all the Church organizations in the county, but owing, in some cases, to the negligence of those who alone were able to give the necessary information, and in others, to the inability of any one to do so, we have been obliged to omit many or indefinitely delay the completion of the work.

We would suggest that our patrons observe and become familiar with the explanations at the commencement of the Directory. The names it embraces, and the information connected therewith, were obtained by actual canvass, and are as correct and reliable as the judgment of those from whom they were solicited render practicable. Each agent is furnished with a map of the town he is expected to canvass, and he is required to pass over every road, and call at every farm house and place of business in the town, in order to obtain the facts from the individuals concerned whenever possible.

The map of the county was engraved with great care by Weed, Parsons & Co., of Albany, and will, it is believed, prove a valuable acquisition to the work.

The Advertisers represent some of the leading business men and firms of this and other counties; and we most cheerfully commend them to the patronage of those under whose observation these pages may come.

While thanking our patrons and friends generally for the liberality and cordiality with which our efforts have been seconded, we take this occasion to express the hope that the information found in these pages will not prove devoid of interest and value, though we are fully conscious that the brief history of the county the scope of the work enables us to give, is by no means an exhaustive one, and can only hope that it may prove a nucleus and incentive to future historians, who will be the better able to do full justice to the subject, and leave our work to secure that favor which earnest endeavor ever wins from a discriminating public.

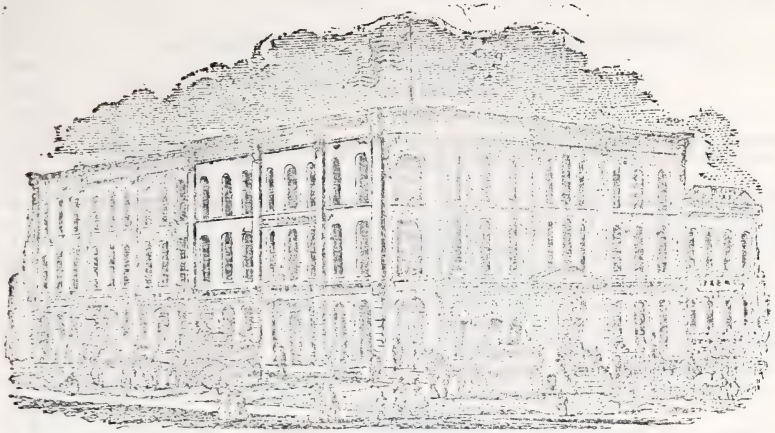
GIFFORD HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN & THIRD STREETS,

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.



This popular House, situated in the center of business, has been enlarged by an addition of 22 rooms, with a Dining Room on first floor, and new Commercial and Sample Rooms. We have now ample accommodations for Commercial travel and Pleasure parties. A Chickering Grand Piano from C. A. Brown & Bro., is in the public parlors for the use of our guests. Free carriage to Boats and Cars. It will be, as it always has been, our endeavor to make this a strictly First Class House. Our aim is to please.

Thankful for the past very liberal patronage, we ask a continuance of the same, and remain

ERRATA.

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.

Stamp Duties.—All Stamp Duties enumerated in this work, were abolished from October 1st, 1872, with the exception of the two cent stamp on Bank Checks, which still remains in force.

Postal Rates and Regulations.—The postage on Circulars is now one cent for every two ounces or fraction over two ounces. On Books, two cents for every two ounces. On Newspapers, one cent if under two ounces, and one cent for every two ounces or fraction over two ounces. On packages of Merchandise not exceeding twelve ounces and containing no writing, done up so they may be examined, two cents for each two ounces. Unpaid postage will be charged double rates.

By a recent Act of Congress, the franking privilege hitherto held by Members of Congress and many Government officials, is abolished from and after June 30th, 1873. From and after the same date, by the same Act of Congress, subscribers to papers which have heretofore passed through the mails free, within the counties in which they are printed, will be obliged to pay, on weeklies, five cents quarterly; and on dailies, thirty cents quarterly.

GAZETTEER.

Baker Bros. & Co., proprietors of the "Jamestown Iron Works," advertise on page 296. The extensive Foundry and Machine Shops, known under the above title, were established by other parties about twenty years ago. The works are fitted with all the necessary machinery and appliances for turning out first-class work, and the new proprietors are determined that if skilled workmen and the best materials can produce good machinery, that they are sure to please their customers. They manufacture Steam Engines, Circular and Mulay Saw Mills, Shingle Mills, Boring Machines, Band Saws, Water Wheels of the most approved patterns, Agricultural Implements &c. They also make Castings to order and will attend to any kind of Machinery making or repairing. Their charges we are assured will be moderate for the work performed. Remember this firm when anything in their line is wanted.

Mrs. Thos. Langford, at Jamestown, repairs and alters Furs to the latest styles. By patronizing her, ladies and gentlemen may save considerable sums, for it often happens that goods are cast off just because they are unfashionable, or if exchanged for new ones, they bring but a small sum indeed. Care on page 252.

Fire! Fire!! Fire!!!—Well, what of it? If you are insured in good sound companies, such as S. W. Reynolds represents at Forestville, you need not loose much sleep on account of it. Reynolds advertises on page 256, where he is just now running a "Masheen."

W. F. Woods the Liveryman, at Fredonia, can furnish stylish turn-outs and trusty drivers on application. His charges are such that customers will feel inclined to patronize him again. See card, page 188.

M. Fuller, dealer in Groceries and custom-made Boots and Shoes, at Fredonia, presents his card on page 282. Mr. Fuller is a deserving man, and will do his best to please all the customers who may favor him with their patronage.

Tunstall, Lewis & Co., at Fredonia, are building up a large trade in Pick, Hammer and Sledge Handles, Croquet Sets &c. These goods are made from the best second-growth timber and are equal to any in the market. Buy of them. They advertise on page 323.

Michigan Tobacco Works, J. M. Taylor, General Agent, are advertised on page 192. This large wholesale house keeps a number of men constantly on the road, supplying purchasers of the "fragrant weed." The establishment has earned an enviable reputation, and is doing a prosperous business, the result of good management and fair dealing.

L. L. Riggs, "Singist," and dealer in Music and Musical Instruments, at Fredonia, is thoroughly competent to instruct pupils in the art of Vocal Culture. In his sale department may be found the celebrated Steinway and other first-class Pianos, and the best of Organs &c. Card on page 196.

C. Underwood, Jr. & Co., dealers in Dry Goods, Cloths &c., at Mayville, advertise on page 200. This firm is well known as being honorable and reliable in all their dealings. We commend them to the liberal patronage of the citizens of old Chautauqua.

Stevens Brothers, Custom Clothiers and dealers in Gents' Furnishing Goods generally, are gentlemen who strive to please. They believe fair dealing to pay best. Call and see them. Card on page 188.

The Great Original OPIUM AND MORPHINE ANTIDOTE! will Cure the Habit Quick, Cheap, and Without Pain. Send for large Pamphlet. Address, Drs. ORMES & KELLOGG, Jamestown.

Burke, Fitzsimons, Hone & Co., Importers, Jobbers and Retailers of Dry Goods, Fancy Goods and Woolens, Nos. 53, 55 and 57 Main Street, Rochester, publish a card on page 1. This House was established in 1849, since which time its success has been uninterrupted, each year increasing its amount of business. Their annual sales amount to the enormous sum of near $1,500,000, their trade extending from the Eastern portions of the State to the "Far West." Occupying, as they do, fully 40,000 feet of flooring in actual business departments, every portion of which is crowded with immense piles of Goods from foreign countries, as well as of domestic manufacture, rendering the facilities of this House for Jobbing equal to any in the country, making it the largest establishment of the kind in the State. The firm are also the proprietors of the "Genesee Falls Woolen Mills," where they manufacture 100,000 yards of goods annually.

Glen & Hall Manufacturing Co., of Rochester, manufacture superior Threshing Machines, Horse Powers and other Agricultural Implements. Their Works have been established more than 30 years, during which time they have supplied machines to many thousand customers in all parts of the country. For further particulars of this worthy establishment we refer the readers to their advertisement on page 416.

Smith & Cady, general Insurance, Real Estate and Loan Agents, at Jamestown, have been long in business. They have insured the greater part of the town and have bought and sold much of its territory. There is no doubt that parties in this vicinity owning Real Estate which they wish to sell, can accomplish a transfer on most favorable terms through the experience and good judgment of this firm. They advertise on page 408.

Union Butter Pail Company, of Jamestown, manufacture on an extensive scale, Southland's Patent Union Butter Pail, and also the common Butter Pail with plain covers. Their goods have an extensive sale and are considered the best in the market. Their new building is very large, fitted up with power for the use of several establishments, and they have yet a few rooms to rent on favorable terms. Card on page 408.

C. W. Warren, wholesale and retail dealer in Pianos and Organs, prints an illustrated advertisement on the Map. His instruments are all from celebrated manufacturers and possess qualities not to be found in those of other makes. If those persons who contemplate purchasing either a Piano or Organ will take the [illegible] to address Mr. Warren, (if they [illegible] call at his store,) he will [illegible] circulars and price lists. [illegible] in these goods, he is enabled to offer superior inducements. "A word to the wise," &c.

Banner Printing House.—This Printing Office is situated in Dunkirk on East Third Street, three blocks west of the Depot, and is in every respect a first-class Job Printing Office. The type is all new, and of the latest styles, and a Gordon Press (see engraving in advertisement opp. page 245,) is now in use in the office, and is considered by city printers to be the best and fastest press now in use. Proprietors of Printing Offices, when using the Gordon Press, can do work in at least one-third less time and for at least one-third less price than when using any other Press now manufactured. As the Banner is supplied with one of the above named Presses, and the proprietor, Mr. J. M. Lake, is a practical printer himself, and keeping none but first-class workmen, no newspaper to eat up the profits of Job Printing, and no rent to pay, he must certainly be well prepared to please his patrons by furnishing good work at low prices. Merchants and business men throughout the county, as well as those in Dunkirk, will find it to their interest to call on or write to the proprietor when in want of anything in the line of Printing.

W. C. Harris, dealer in fine Watches, Jewelry &c., at Westfield, advertises on page 368. His stock is the best in this part of the county, and comprises Silver and Plated Ware, and Fancy Goods generally. Mr. Harris is an expert Watch Maker and can easily trim up a tired or lazy watch and make it work to time.

F. D. Ellis, Furniture dealer and Undertaker, at Forestville, keeps a full stock of stylish goods on hand, and sells at fair living prices. He will attend Funerals and furnish everything required in the Undertaking department. We refer the reader to his advertisement on page 368.

Johnson & Bros., at Jamestown, make the wherewith to shut out the cold from your houses. Their Sash, Doors, Blinds &c., are reliable, are made from the best of timber and are well put together. They are prepared to fill all orders from mechanics or others. See card on page 352.

H. E. Butler is a dealer in Boots and Shoes, at Jamestown. There was a row near his store one day, the principal incidents of which are illustrated in the picture on page 352. The advice of the gentleman to the seedy looking stranger was followed, and he left a happier man.

Jno. W. Pitts, the well known Wholesale and Retail dealer in Groceries, Provisions, Crockery &c., at No. 38 Main St., Jamestown, has long been one of the prominent merchants of the village. He buys in large quantities and can and does sell his goods low as the market will afford. Customers may be sure of fair dealing at this well known house. Card on page 180.

Jno. H. Towle, the enterprising Druggist, at Westfield, publishes an illustrated advertisement on page 2, facing the Map. His store is purchasing Headquarters for a large number of the citizens of Western Chautauqua. His stock consists of Drugs, Medicines, Liquors, Paints, Oils, School and Miscellaneous Books, Wall Paper, Shades, Fixtures &c. The Depository of the Chautauqua Co. Bible Society is located at his store. Mr. Towle is a live business man and proposes to sell goods at bottom prices for "cash on delivery." He will move to his new store next spring, where he will, if it were possible, increase the attractions. Remember Mr. Towle when you want goods in his line.

Mrs. J. H. E. Tiedemann, importer, manufacturer and dealer in Human Hair Goods, at Dunkirk, advertises on page 397. Her stock is large and of great variety. Customers can here find any color or grade of Hair desired; and Mrs. Tiedemann can make it up in the best possible manner. We commend her to the patronage of those who have to engage the service of one of her profession.

S. S. Clark, of Fredonia, advertises Horses on page 412. Mr. C. is breeder of the celebrated Hambletonian stock of Horses, and owner of "Fredonia Chief," the celebrated stallion. Interested parties should consult Mr. Clark.

P. P. Bradish & Co., of the Genesee Agricultural Works, Batavia, N. Y., manufacture a great variety of the best Agricultural Implements in use in this and adjoining States. Established in 1840, additions have been constantly made to the number and variety of articles manufactured, until they now have nearly everything needed for farm cultivation. Merchants of Chautauqua will find it an object to buy here at wholesale. See advertisement on page 415.

Benedict & English, Broom manufacturers, at Dunkirk, began business here last spring. They fully understand the business; and as they use only the best stock of western broom corn, they are enabled to offer merchants and others wanting large quantities of Brooms, superior goods, at the lowest prices. Try a new broom, as advised on page 176.

T. S. Hubbard & Co., Nurserymen at Fredonia, offer superior Fruit Trees, Vines, Shrubs, Ornamental Stock &c., of their own growing, which is superior for the climate of Chautauqua County to that of stock growers elsewhere. Of course it would be for their best interest to supply their fellow citizens of the county with superior stock; and there is as much difference in quality of nursery stock as in most other articles of merchandise. When you visit Fredonia, go through the grounds of the firm. You will be well repaid for the trouble. See advertisement on page 330.

Oron Monroe & Son, Druggists and dealers in Paper Hangings, Fancy Goods &c., at Dunkirk, present an attractive card on page 397. This firm preside over a neat and attractive store, where everything is kept in "ship shape" order, and denotes that care and precision are exercised,—qualities nowhere more important than in a drug store. We can conscientiously recommend this firm to the patronage of all who may be in want of their goods.

Milo Harris, manufacturer of Sewing Machine Attachments, at Jamestown, advertises on page 412. His attachments fit any machine. "Legal attachments" wont always do that. Mr. Harris uses the best material and warrants his goods to give satisfaction.

At L. & J. M. Burgess' Livery Stables, on East Third St., Jamestown, may be found elegant Carriages and splendid Horses; in fact the proprietors can turn out as good a rig as can be found in the county. Patronize them. Their terms are as liberal as their rigs are nobby. See card on page 412.

David Holland & Son, Clothiers and dealers in Gents' Furnishing Goods &c., at Dunkirk, make their bow on page 196. Drop in and see this firm. Ye that are bareheaded and ragged, they have the wherewith to clothe your nakedness.

C. B. Boyd, Marble Dealer, advertises on page 268. Mr. Boyd will set Monuments, Head Stones &c., anywhere in the county, at reasonable rates. He is fair as can be, for he warrants his work to satisfy or no sale.

Opium Antidote, Warranted to cure the Opium Habit. Agents Wanted, Ladies or Gentlemen. Address Drs. Ormen & Kellogg, 69 Main Street, Jamestown, N. Y.

Go to 33 MAIN STREET, Jamestown, N. Y.

T. O'Donnell & Sons, Doors, Sash and Blinds, made at Dunkirk, are considered by the best mechanics equal to any in the market. They use the best of kiln dried lumber and employ good close workmen, who understand their business. Card on page 192.

J. D. Maynard, Druggist, at Fredonia, prints a fine card on page 192. Understanding the business thoroughly, he is competent to put up Prescriptions, and does it neatly. His general stock of goods is fresh and will be sold at low prices. Try him and see.

Reed & Reynolds are enterprising Hardware dealers at Sinclairville. They keep a general assortment, including Tin and Copper Ware, Stoves, Agricultural Implements, Paints, Oils &c., which they mean to sell at bottom prices. They advertise on page 196.

J. W. Perkins' Harness Shop, on Center Street, Dunkirk, is the center of attraction for all those who wish to dress their horses out in the best style. Mr. Perkins has been in business here twelve years, has built up a large trade and is noted for getting up good durable goods. His prices are so low that every one who owns a horse can afford to have a good Harness. Good clothing is as important for a horse as for a man. The best of Saddles, Bridles, Collars, Trunks, Whips, Blankets, Robes &c., may also be had here in almost endless variety. Give him a call. See advertisement on page 6.

Isaac Moore, proprietor of the Jamestown Carriage Factory, advertises on page 208. He keeps a large stock constantly on hand, and makes to order anything in the line of Carriages, Wagons or Cutters, and furnishes Trimmings to the trade. Using the best quality of iron and timber, he is enabled to make superior work. Please examine his stock on hand, and see if what we say is true.

James D. Stearns, Veterinary Surgeon, at Jamestown, is celebrated as being a scientific practitioner in the treatment of horses or cattle for diseases peculiar to them. The early procuring of his services may save the life of a valuable animal. His card is on page 236.

N. L. Howard, General Insurance Agent, at Smiths Mills, advertises on page 252. Farmers and others may rely on Mr. Howard's statements relative to Insurance. He wants their custom and wants to keep it; considers their interests to be mutual. Among the companies he represents, we desire particularly to mention the "Farm Building" of Herkimer, N. Y., for insurance against fire, and the "Globe Mutual Life" of New York; at the head of the latter is Pliny Freeman, the veteran pioneer manager of Life Insurance in America. Patronize Mr. Howard.

C. F. Hedman, successor to P. C. Kimball, in the manufacture of carriages &c., at Jamestown, advertises on page 308. Mr. Hedman also deals at wholesale in Carriage and Wagon Woods, Paints, Oils and Carriage Makers' Furnishings generally. He is a prompt and careful business man, has always been successful, and is calculated to please his customers in any deal they may have. He believes that what is for his customers interest is also his best interest. He don't believe that it pays him to send a poor wagon out of his shop. "Good work pays best in the long run," is his motto, and he lives up to it.

W. S. Howard, Photographer, at Forestville, is prepared to furnish fine Pictures in any style of the art desired. He has not yet adopted the Machine shown on page 248. He thinks another patent which he does use is preferable. An ample experience and natural artistic talents, fit him peculiarly for the business.

W. R. Horton, wholesale and retail dealer in Paints, Oils, Glass &c., at Jamestown, advertises on page 309. Mr. Horton also does Sign Painting and Ornamental Painting generally. Buyers of Paints will find it to their interest to deal with him.

Hill & Wagner, manufacturers and dealers in Marble Monuments, Head Stones &c., at Smiths Mills, print a card on page 294. Their designs are superior, their work good and prices low. They should receive a liberal share of patronage.

MINNESOTA was settled about 1846, chiefly by emigrants from the Northern and Western States. It was organized as a Territory by act of Congress approved March 3, 1849, and admitted into the Union February 26, 1857. Area 95,274 square miles, or 60,975,536 acres. Population in 1870, 424,543 whites. It is an agricultural State, chiefly devoted to Northern grains. The right to vote is extended to male persons of 21 years of age, of the following classes, if they have resided in the United States one year, the State four months, and the election district ten days: citizens of the United States, and those of foreign birth who have declared their intention to become citizens; persons of mixed white and Indian blood who have adopted the customs of civilization, and those of pure Indian blood who have been pronounced capable by any district court of the State.

MISSISSIPPI was settled at Natchez, in 1716, by the French, and was formed out of part of the territory ceded to the United States by South Carolina in 1787, and Georgia in 1802. It was organized as a Territory by act of Congress, April 7, 1789, and enlarged on the north March 27, 1804, and on the south May 14, 1812. After several unsuccessful attempts to enter the Union, Congress finally passed an act March 1, 1817, enabling the people of the western part of the Territory to form a State Constitution and Government, which being complied with August 15, it was admitted December 10 of the same year. Area 47,156 square miles, or 30,179,840 acres. Population in 1860, 791,305, of whom 436,631 were slaves. Population in 1870 was 842,056. It is the second cotton growing State of the Union. Citizens who have resided one year in the State, and four months in the county, and having performed military duty or paid taxes, are entitled to vote. A Convention met January 7, 1861, and on the 9th passed an ordinance of secession by a vote of 84 to 15.

MISSOURI was settled at Genevieve in 1763, by the French, and was part of the territory ceded by France by treaty of April 30, 1803. It was created under the name of the District of Louisiana, by an act approved March 26, 1804, and placed under the direction of the officers of the Indiana Territory, and was organized into a separate Territory June 4, 1812, its name being changed to that of Missouri; and was divided March 2, 1819, the Territory of Arkansas being then created. An act authorizing it to form a State Constitution and Government was passed March 6, 1820, and it was admitted into the Union December 14, 1821. Area 67,380 square miles, or 43,123,200 acres. Population in 1860, 1,182,012, of whom 114,931 were slaves. Population in 1870 was 1,691,693. An act of gradual emancipation was passed July 1, 1863, by a vote of 51 to 30. On the 6th of January, 1865, a Constitutional Convention assembled in St. Louis, and on the 8th of April adopted a new Constitution, declaring the State free, prohibiting compensation for slaves, and adopting many other radical changes. On the 6th of June the Constitution was adopted by the people by a vote of 43,670 to 41,808, and pursuant to a Proclamation issued on the 1st of July, the Constitution went into effect July 4, 1865. It is an agricultural and mining State. Citizens of the United States who have resided in the State one year, and county three months, are entitled to vote. By an act passed by the Legislature of 1863, voting by ballot was adopted, and the viva voce system abolished.

NEBRASKA was settled by emigrants from the Northern and Western States, and was formed out of a part of the territory ceded by France, April 30, 1803. Attempts to organize it were made in 1844 and 1848, but it was not accomplished until May 30, 1854. Area 75,955 square miles, or 44,796,160 acres. Population in 1870 116,888, besides a few roving tribes of Indians. A Convention adopted a State Constitution Feb. 9, 1866, which was submitted to the people on the 22d of June, and adopted by a vote of 3,938 for, to 3,838 against, and State officers were elected. A bill was passed by Congress, July 27th, admitting the State, but the President withheld his signature. In Feb. 1867, Congress passed an act imposing certain conditions to admission, which were promptly accepted, and the territory became a State. It is an agricultural region, its prairies affording boundless pasture lands.

NEVADA was organized as a Territory March 2, 1861. Its name signifies snowy, and is derived from the Spanish word nieve (snow.) It comprises 81,539 square miles, or 52,184,960 acres, lying mostly within the Great Basin of the Pacific coast. Congress, at its session in 1864, passed an act which was approved March 21, to enable the people of the Territory to form a Constitution and State Government, in pursuance of which a Government was organized and the Territory admitted as a State by Proclamation of the President, October 31, 1864. At the time of its organization the Territory possessed a population of 6,857 white settlers. Population in 1870 was 42,456. The development of her mineral resources was rapid and almost without parallel, and attracted a constant stream of immigration to the Territory. As the population has not been subject to the fluctuations from which other Territories have suffered, the growth of Nevada has been rapid and steady. At the general convention election of 1863, 10,934 votes were cast. During 1864 great accessions to the population were made. It is probably the richest State in the Union in respect to mineral resources. No region in the world is richer in argentiferous leads. It also contains an immense basin of salt, five miles square. Quartz mills are a very important feature in mining operations. The State is barren for agricultural purposes, and is remarkably healthy.

NEW HAMPSHIRE was settled at Dover, in 1623, by English Puritans, and continued under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts until September 18, 1679, when a separate charter was granted. It is an agricultural State, with some mines and extensive pine forests. Males of 21 years of age, having resided one year in any county in the State, may vote for a member of the House of Commons, but must own fifty acres of land to vote for a Senator. A State Convention passed an ordinance of secession May 21, 1861. An election for delegates to a State Convention took place September 21, 1865. The Convention assembled October 2. On the 2d of October it passed an ordinance forever prohibiting slavery. The Legislature ratified the Constitutional amendment December 1. An election was held on the first Thursday of November, for Governor, Members of Congress and the Legislature.

OHIO was settled at Marietta, in 1788, by emigrants from Virginia and New England; was ceded by Virginia to the United States October 20, 1783; accepted by the latter March 1, 1784, and admitted into the Union April 30, 1802. Area 39,964 square miles, or 25,576,960 acres. Population in 1870, 2,652,302. It is the most populous and wealthy of the agricultural States, devoted principally to wool growing, grain and live stock. A male of 21 years of age, who has resided in the State one year, and has paid or been charged with a State or county tax, is eligible to vote.

OREGON, although it had previously been seen by various navigators, was first taken possession of by Capt. Robert Gray, who entered the mouth of its principal river May 7, 1792, naming it after his vessel, the Columbia, of Boston. Exploring expeditions soon followed, and fur companies sent their trappers and traders into the region. In 1811 a trading post was established at the mouth of the Columbia river by the American Fur Company, who named it Astoria. For some time a Provisional Territorial Government existed, but the boundary remained unsettled until the treaty with Great Britain in 1846, when the 49th parallel was adopted. It was formally organized as a Territory August 14, 1848; was divided March 2, 1853, on the 46th parallel, the northern portion being called Washington and the southern Oregon. November 9, 1857, a State Constitution was adopted, under which it was admitted February 14, 1859, about one-third of it on the east being added to Washington Territory, its northern boundary following the Columbia river until its intersection with latitude 46° north. Area 102,606 square miles, or 65,667,840 acres. Population in 1870, 90,878. It is an agricultural State, possessed of a fertile soil, extensive pastures, genial climate, and is well wooded. It was one of the original thirteen States, ratifying the United States Constitution December 12, 1787; adopted a State Constitution September 28, 1776, and amended it September 2, 1790. Area 46,000 square miles, or 29,440,000 acres. Population in 1870, 3,511,543. It is the second State in wealth and population, and the principal coal and iron mining region in the Union. Residence in the State one year, and ten days in the election district, with payment of a State or county tax assessed ten days prior to an election, gives the right to vote; except that citizens between 21 and 22 years of age need not have paid the tax.

RHODE ISLAND was settled at Providence in 1636, by the English from Massachusetts, under Roger Williams. It was under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts until July 8, 1662, when a separate charter was granted, which continued in force until the formation of a Constitution in September, 1842. It was one of the original thirteen States, ratifying the United States Constitution May 29, 1790. Area 1,306 square miles, or 835,840 acres. Population in 1870, 217,356. It is largely engaged in manufactures. A freehold possession of $13; or, if in reversion, renting for $7, together with a residence of one year in the State and six months in the town; or, if no freehold, then a residence of two years in the State and six months in the town, and payment of $1 tax or military service instead, are the qualifications of voters.

SOUTH CAROLINA was settled at Port Royal, in 1670, by the English, and continued under the charter of Carolina, or North Carolina, until they were separated in 1729. It was one of the original thirteen States, ratifying the United States Constitution May 23, 1798; it framed a State Constitution March 26, 1776, which was amended March 19, 1778, and June 3, 1790. Area 29,385 square miles, or 18,806,400 acres. Population in 1860, 703,708, of whom 402,406 were slaves, an excess of 101,270 over the whites. Population in 1870, 705,789. It is the principal rice-growing State. Males residing in the State two years and district six months, and having a freehold of fifty acres of land, or have paid a State tax, are entitled to vote. December 17, 1860, a Convention assembled in Columbia, adjourned to Charleston, and on the 24th unanimously adopted an ordinance of secession, which was followed the next day by a Declaration of Causes claimed to be sufficient to justify the act. An election for delegates to a State Convention was held September 4, 1865. The Convention assembled September 13, and adjourned on the 28th. It repealed the ordinance of secession, abolished slavery, equalized the representation of the Senate and taxation throughout the State, giving the election of Governor and Presidential electors to the people, ordered voting in the Legislature by viva voce, endorsed the Administration unanimously, and directed a commission to submit a code to the Legislature for the protection of the colored population. The Legislature ratified the Constitutional Amendment November 13, 1865.

TENNESSEE was settled at Fort Donelson, in 1756, by emigrants from Virginia and North Carolina; was ceded to the United States by North Carolina, December, 1789, conveyed by the Senators of that State February 25, 1790, and accepted by act of Congress April 2 of the same year; it adopted a Constitution Feb. 6, 1796, and was admitted into the Union the 1st of June following. Area 45,600 square miles, or 29,184,000 acres. Population in 1860, 1,109,601, of whom 275,179 were slaves. Population in 1870 was 1,225,937. It is a mining and agricultural State, and is largely productive of live stock. Citizens of the United States who have resided six months in the county are entitled to vote. A military league was formed between the Governor, Isham G. Harris, and the rebel States, May 7, 1861, ratified the same day by the Senate by a vote of 14 to 6, and a Declaration of Independence submitted to the people, the election to be held June 8, the result of which was declared by the Governor, June 24, to be 104,913 for, and 47,238 against. This movement not being acceptable to the people of East Tennessee, which had declared against separation by a vote of 32,923 to 14,780, they, in a Convention held at Greenville, June 18–21, repudiated it. Andrew Johnson, Provisional Governor of the State, called a State Convention to be held in Nashville the second Monday in January. Delegates were elected, the Convention met, declared slavery forever abolished, prohibited compensation to owners of slaves, and abrogated the secession ordinances. These amendments of the Constitution were submitted to the people 22d of February, 1865, with the following result: For ratification, 22,197; rejection, 63. The United States Constitutional Amendment was ratified April 5, 1865.

TEXAS was first settled at Bexar, in 1694, by Spaniards; formed a part of Mexico until 1836, when she revolted from that Republic and instituted a separate Government, under which she existed until admitted into the Union by a joint resolution approved March 1st, 1845, imposing certain conditions, which were accepted, and a Constitution formed July 4 of the same year, and another joint resolution adopted by Congress, consummating the annexation, was approved December 29, 1845. Area 237,504 square miles, or 152,002,500 acres. Population in 1860, 604,215, of whom 182,566 were slaves. Population in 1870 was 795,500. It is an agricultural region, principally devoted to grain, cotton and tropical fruits. Male citizens of 21 years of age, who have resided in the State one year and district six months are entitled to vote. A Convention assembled at Galveston January 28, 1861, and on February 1 passed an ordinance of secession, by a vote of 166 to 7, to be submitted to the people February 23, and on March 4 they declared the State out of the Union, and Gov. Houston issued a Proclamation to that effect.

VERMONT was settled in 1724, by Englishmen from Connecticut, chiefly under grants from New Hampshire; was formed from a part of the territory of New York, by act of its Legislature March 6, 1769; framed a Constitution December 25, 1777, and was admitted into the Union March 4, 1791, by virtue of an act of Congress passed February 18 of the same year. Area 10,212 square miles, or 6,535,680 acres. Population in 1870, 330,582. It is a grazing region, producing more wool, live stock, maple sugar, butter, cheese and hay, in proportion to its population, than any other State. Any citizen of the United States who has resided in the State one year, and will take the oath of allegiance, is entitled to vote.

VIRGINIA was settled at Jamestown, in 1607, by the English, and was chartered April 10, 1606, May 23, 1609, and March 12, 1612. It was one of the original thirteen States, ratifying the United States Constitution June 25, 1788; it framed a State Constitution July 5, 1776, which was amended January 15, 1830. The State was divided in 1863. Present area 37,352 square miles. Population in 1860, 1,314,532, of whom 481,410 were slaves. Population in 1870 1,211,442. It is a large corn producing, and the chief tobacco growing State. Every male citizen of the age of 21 years, who has been a resident of the State for one year, and of the county, city or town where he offers to vote for six months next preceding an election, and has paid all taxes assessed to him, after the adoption of the Constitution, under the laws of the Commonwealth, after the re-organization of the county, city or town where he offers to vote, is qualified to vote for members of the General Assembly and all officers elective by the people. A Convention sitting in Richmond on the 17th of April, 1861, passed an ordinance of secession, by a vote of 88 to 55, which was submitted to the people at an election held May 23, the result of which was announced June 25 to be 128,824 for, and 32,134 against.

The State Government was re-organized by a Convention which met at Wheeling, May 11, 1861. Upon the division of the State in 1863, the seat of Government was removed to Alexandria. A State Constitutional Convention, March 10, 1864, adopted a section abolishing slavery.

WEST VIRGINIA.—On the passage of the ordinance of secession by the Virginia Convention, a Convention of the western and other loyal counties of the State was held at Wheeling, which assembled May 11, 1861, and on the 17th unanimously deposed the then State officers and organized a Provisional Government. On the 26th of November, 1861, a Convention representing the western counties assembled in Wheeling and framed a Constitution for West Virginia, which was submitted to the people on the 3d of May, 1862, and adopted by them by a nearly unanimous vote. The division of the State was sanctioned by the Legislature May 13, 1862, and ratified by Congress by an act approved December 31, 1862, conditioned on the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution providing for the gradual abolition of slavery, which was done on the 24th of March, 1863, by a vote of the qualified electors of the proposed State, 28,318 voting in favor of the amendment, and 572 against it.. In pursuance of the act of Congress, the President issued a Proclamation, April 20, 1863, admitting the State sixty days from the date thereof, and on the 20th of June the new State Government was formally inaugurated. Area 24,000 square miles. Population in 1860, 350,599, of whom 12,754 were slaves. Population in 1870 was 441,094. It is a large corn producing State, and abounds in coal and other minerals. The Alexandria Legislature adopted the United States Constitutional Amendment February 9, 1865. Male citizens, residents of the State one year and county thirty days, unless disqualified by rebellion, are entitled to vote.

WISCONSIN was settled at Green Bay, in 1669, by the French; was a part of the territory ceded by Virginia, and was set off from Michigan December 24, 1834, and was organized into a Territory April 30, 1836. Iowa was set off from it June 12, 1838, and acts were passed at various times setting its boundaries. March 3, 1847, an act for its admission into the Union was passed, to take effect on the issuing of a Proclamation by the President, and by act of May 29, 1848, it was admitted into the Union. Area 53,924 square miles, or 34,511,360 acres. Population in 1870, 1,055,501. It is an agricultural State, chiefly engaged in grain raising and wool growing. Citizens of the United States, or foreigners who have declared their intention to become citizens, are entitled to vote. Colored citizens were admitted to the franchise, by a decision of the Supreme Court, rendered the 27th day of March, 1866, holding that, whereas an election was held in 1849, under the provisions of chapter 137, of that year, at which election 5,265 votes were cast in favor of the extension of the right of suffrage to colored men, and 4,075 against such extension, therefore, the section of said law conferring such right had been constitutionally adopted and is the law of the land.

THE TERRITORIES,

THEIR BOUNDARIES, AREA, PHYSICAL FEATURES ETC.

ALASKA, our new territory, recently purchased of Russia, comprehends all the north-west coast on the Pacific, and the adjacent islands north of the parallel of 50 degrees 40 minutes north, and the portion of the mainland west of the meridian (about 140° west) of Mount St. Elias. The area is computed at 481,276 square miles. The climate, although warmer than in the same latitude on the eastern coast, is too rigorous to admit of successful agricultural operations, and the chief value of the country and adjacent seas is derived from their fisheries and hunting grounds. The southern and central portions are mountainous; the northern portion along the Arctic ocean is quite flat, nowhere rising more than fifteen or twenty feet above the sea. The population is estimated at about 80,000, mostly Esquimeaux.

ARIZONA was organized by the Thirty-Seventh Congress, in the winter of 1863, out of the western half of New Mexico, the boundary between the two Territories being the 109th meridian (32d west from Washington,) and includes the greater portions of the valleys of Colorado and Gila, which two rivers drain its entire surface, with parts of Utah, New Mexico and Nevada, and yet convey, it is reported, a less volume of water to the sea than the Hudson at Albany. The fertile Messilla Valley was left with New Mexico. The Territory forms a block nearly square, and contains 126,141 square miles, or 80,730,240 acres. Its white population in 1870 was 9,658. For agricultural purposes it is probably the most worthless on the Continent, owing to the absence of rains, but it is reputed to abound in silver mines.

COLORADO was organized March 2, 1861, from parts of Kansas, Nebraska and Utah, and is situated on each side of the Rocky Mountains, between latitude 37° and 41°, and longitude 25° and 32° west from Washington. Area 104,500 square miles, or 66,880,000 acres. Population in 1870 was 39,706, besides numerous tribes of Indians. By an enabling act passed March 21, 1864, the people of the Territory were authorized to frame a State Constitution and organize a State Government, and a Convention accordingly met in 1865, and on the 12th of August adopted a Constitution, which was submitted to and adopted by the people September 5, and State officers elected November 14. A bill to admit the Territory as a State passed Congress, but was vetoed May 25, 1866. It is said to be a superior grazing and cattle producing region, with a healthy climate and rich soil. An extensive coal bed, and also gold, iron and other minerals abound.

COLUMBIA.—Originally the "District of Columbia" was ceded to the United States by Maryland and Virginia, in 1790, and became the seat of the National Government in 1800. It was orignally ten miles square, lying on both sides of the Potomac, thirty-six square miles having been taken from Virginia, and sixty-four square miles from Maryland. By an act of Congress in 1846, that portion taken from Virginia was retroceded to that State. The 41st Congress, 1870–71, erected the District into a Territory. Until this year the District was governed directly by the Congress of the United States, and its inhabitants had no representation and no voice in the Federal elections. The cities of the Territory are Washington and Georgetown. Population in 1870 was 131,706.

DAKOTA was first settled by employees of the Hudson Bay Company, but is now being peopled by emigrants from the Northern and Western States. It was set off from the western portion of Minnesota when that Territory became a State in 1857, and was organized March 2, 1861. Area 148,932 square miles, or 95,316,480 acres. Population in 1870 was 14,181 whites, besides the roving tribes of Indians.

IDAHO was organized by the Thirty-Seventh Congress, at its second session, in the winter of 1863. Its name means 'Bead of the Mountains,' and it embraces the whole breadth of the Rocky Mountain region, and has within its bounds the head waters of nearly all the great rivers that flow down its either slope, but the greater portion lies east of the mountains. Its southern boundary is the 41st, its northern the 46th parallel of latitude. It extends from the 104th meridian on the east to the 110th on the west. Area 326,373 square miles, or 208,870,720 acres. Population in 1870, 14,998 besides the Indians. For agricultural purposes it is comparatively worthless, but abounds in gold and other valuable mines.

MONTANA was settled by emigrants from the Northern and Western States. Organized in 1864, with the following boundaries: Commencing at a point formed by the intersection of the 27° L. W. from Washington with the 45° N. L.; thence due west on said 45th degree to a point formed by its intersection with the 34th degree W. from Washington; thence due south along said 34th degree of longitude to its intersection with the 44th degree and 30 minutes of N. L.; thence due west along said 44th degree and 30 minutes of N. L. to a point formed by its intersection with the crest of the Rocky Mountains; thence following the crest of the Rocky Mountains northward till its intersection with the Bitter Root Mountains; thence northward along the crest of said Bitter Root Mountains to its intersection with the 39th degree of longitude W. from Washington; thence along said 39th degree of longitude northward to the boundary line of the British possessions; thence eastward along said boundary to the 27th degree of longitude W. from Washington; thence southward along said 27th degree to the place of beginning. This makes it the northermost Territory next the States east of the Missouri Valley. It is a good mining and agricultural region. The population in 1870 was 20,594.

NEW MEXICO was formed from a part of the territory ceded to the United States by Mexico, by the treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo, February 2, 1848, and was organized into a Territory September 9, 1850.—Area 121,201 square miles, or 77,568,640 acres. Population in 1870 was 91,789, besides large tribes of warlike Indians. The principal resource of the country is its minerals.

UTAH was settled by the Mormons, and was formed from a part of the territory ceded to the United States by Mexico, by the treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo, February 2, 1848, and was organized into a Territory, September 9 1850. Area, 196,382 square miles, or 68,084,480 acres. Population in 1870 was 86,786. Brine, sulphurous and chalybeate springs abound; limestone, granite, sandstone and marble are found in large quantities; iron is abundant, and gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc have been found. Not one-fiftieth part of the soil is fit for tillage, but on that which is, abundant crops of grain and considerable cotton are raised. A Convention was held at Great Salt Lake City, January 22, 1862, and a State Constitution formed, but it has not been acted on by Congress.

WASHINGTON was settled by emigrants from the Northern and Western States, and was organized into a Territory, March 2, 1853, from the northern portion of Oregon, to which was added another portion from the eastern part when the latter Territory was admitted as a State, February 14, 1859. Area 69,994 square miles, or 48,636,800 acres. Population in 1870 was 23,901 besides numerous tribes of Indians.

WYOMING was organized in July 1868. It lies between the 27th and 34th meridians of longitude west from Washington, and between the 41st and 45th parallels of latitude. The Territory is rich in mineral wealth, having large quantities of iron, coal, gypsum and building stone, besides vast quantities of gold, silver and copper. Salt springs of great value are found within its limits. The western portion of the Territory embraces what is generally known as the "Sweet Water Mines." The climate is healthy, and the Territory is rapidly filling up with an enterprising and hardy population. The act of Congress organizing the Territory, provides that "There shall be no denial of the elective franchise or any other right, on account of color or race, and all persons shall be equal before the law." Population in 1870 was 9,118.

Quit-claim deed to be stamped as a conveyance, except when given as a release of a mortgage by the mortgagee to the mortgagor, in which case it is exempt; but if it contains covenants may be subject as an agreement or contract.
Receipts for satisfaction of any mortgage or judgment or decree of any court,	exempt.
Receipts for any sum of money or debt due, or for a draft or other instrument given for the payment of money,	exempt.
Receipts for the delivery of property.	exempt.
Renewal of agreement, contract or charter, by letter or otherwise, same stamp as original instrument.
Sheriff's return on writ or other process,	exempt.
Trust deed, made to secure a debt, to be stamped as a mortgage.
Warehouse receipts,	exempt.
Warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, if the bond or note is stamped,	exempt.
Weigher's returns,	exempt.
Official documents, instruments, and papers issued by officers of the United States Government,	exempt.
Official instruments, documents, and papers issued by the officers of any State, county, town, or other municipal corporation, in the exercise of functions strictly belonging to them in their ordinary governmental or municipal capacity,	exempt.
Papers necessary to be used for the collection from the United States Government of claims by soldiers, or their legal representatives, for pensions, back pay, bounty, or for property lost in the service,	exempt.

NOTE.—The last Congress passed an act, "That on and after the first day of October, 1870, the stamp tax imposed in Schedule B, on promissory notes for a less sum than one hundred dollars, and on receipts for any sum of money, or for the payment of any debt, and the stamp tax imposed in Schedule C, on canned and preserved fish, be, and the same are hereby repealed. And no stamp shall be required upon the transfer or assignment of a mortgage, where it or the instrument it secures has been once duly stamped."

CANCELLATION.

In all cases where an adhesive stamp is used for denoting the stamp duty upon an instrument, the person using or affixing the same must write or imprint thereupon in ink the initials of his name, and the date (the year, month, and day) on which the same is attached or used. Each stamp should be separately cancelled. When stamps are printed upon checks, &c., so that in filling up the instrument, the face of the stamp is and must necessarily be written across, no other cancellation will be required.

All cancellation must be distinct and legible, and except in the case of proprietary stamps from private dies, no method of cancellation which differs from that above described can be recognized as legal and sufficient.

PENALTIES.

A penalty of fifty dollars is imposed upon every person who makes, signs, or issues, or who causes to be made, signed, or issued, any paper of any kind or description whatever, or who accepts, negotiates, or pays, or causes to be accepted, negotiated, or paid, any bill of exchange, draft, or order, or promissory note, for the payment of money, without the same being duly stamped, or having thereupon an adhesive stamp for denoting the tax chargeable thereon, cancelled in the manner required by law, with intent to evade the provisions of the revenue act.

A penalty of two hundred dollars is imposed upon every person who pays, negotiates, or offers in payment, or receives or takes in payment, any bill of exchange or order for the payment of any sum of money drawn or purporting to be drawn in a foreign country, but payable in the United States, until the proper stamp has been affixed thereto.

A penalty of fifty dollars is imposed upon every person who fraudulently makes use of an adhesive stamp to denote the duty required by the revenue act, without effectually cancelling and obliterating the same in the manner required by law.

Attention is particularly called to the following extract from section 155, of the act of June 30, 1864, as amended by the act of July 13, 1866:

"If any person shall wilfully remove or cause to be removed, alter or cause to be altered, the cancelling or defacing marks on any adhesive stamp, with intent to use the same, or to cause the use of the same, after it shall have been used once, or shall knowingly or wilfully sell or buy such washed or restored stamps, or offer the same for sale, or give or expose the same to any person for use, or knowingly use the same or prepare the same with intent for the further use thereof, or if any person shall knowingly and without lawful excuse (the proof whereof shall lie on the person accused) have in his possession any washed, restored, or altered stamps, which have been removed from any vellum, parchment, paper, instrument or writing; then, and in every such case, every person so offending, and every person knowingly and wilfully aiding, abetting, or assisting in committing any such offence as aforesaid, shall, on conviction thereof, * * * be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment and confinement to hard labor not exceeding five years, or both, at the discretion of the court."

It is not lawful to record any instrument, document, or paper required by law to be stamped, or any copy thereof, unless a stamp or stamps of the proper amount have been affixed and cancelled in the manner required by law; and such instrument or copy and the record thereof are utterly null and void, and cannot be used or admitted as evidence in any court until the defect has been cured as provided in section 158.

All willful violations of the law should be reported to the United States District Attorney within and for the district where they are committed.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B, except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

The law does not designate which of the parties to an instrument shall furnish the necessary stamp, nor does the Commissioner of Internal Revenue assume to determine that it shall be supplied by one party rather than by another; but if an instrument subject to stamp duty is issued without having the necessary stamps affixed thereto, it cannot be recorded, or admitted, or used in evidence, in any court, until a legal stamp or stamps, denoting the amount of tax, shall have been affixed as prescribed by law; and the person who thus issues it is liable to a penalty, if he omits the stamps with an intent to evade the provisions of the internal revenue act.

The first act imposing a stamp tax upon certain specified instruments took effect, so far as said tax is concerned, October 1, 1862. The impression which seems to prevail to some extent, that no stamps are required upon any instruments issued in the States lately in insurrection, prior to the surrender, or prior to the establishment of collection districts there, is erroneous.

Instruments issued in those States since October 1, 1862, are subject to the same taxes as similar ones issued at the same time in the other States.

No stamp is necessary upon an instrument executed prior to October 1, 1862, to make it admissible in evidence, or to entitle it to record.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any written or printed evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand, or at a time designated, are subject to stamp duty as "promissory notes."

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamp to which the instrument is liable under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by either of them; and "when more than one signature is affixed to the same paper, one or more stamps may be affixed thereto, representing the whole amount of the stamp required for such signatures."

No stamp is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required; and, whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers—such stamp duty being the highest rate required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgement of the instrument which is not stamped.

Particular attention is called to the change in section 154, by striking out the words "or used;" the exemption thereunder is thus restricted to documents, &c., issued by the officers therein named. Also to the changes in sections 152 and 158, by inserting the words "and cancelled in the manner required by law."

The acceptor or acceptors of any bill of exchange, or order for the payment of any sum of money, drawn or purporting to be drawn in any foreign country, but payable in the United States, must, before paying or accepting the same, place thereupon a stamp indicating the duty.

It is only upon conveyances of realty sold that conveyance stamps are necessary. A deed of real estate made without valuable consideration need not be stamped as a conveyance; but if it contains covenants, such, for instance, as a covenant to warrant and defend the title, it should be stamped as an agreement or contract.

When a deed purporting to be a conveyance of realty sold, and stamped accordingly, is inoperative, a deed of confirmation, made simply to cure the defect, requires no stamp. In such case, the second deed should contain a recital of the facts, and should show the reasons for its execution.

Partition deeds between tenants in com mon, need not be stamped as conveyances, inasmuch as there is no sale of realty, but merely a marking out, or a defining, of the boundaries of the part belonging to each ; but where money or other valuable consideration is paid by one co-tenant to another for equality of partition, there is a sale to the extent of such consideration, and the conveyance, by the party receiving it, should be stamped accordingly.

A conveyance of lands sold for unpaid taxes, issued since August 1, 1866, by the officers of any county, town, or other municipal corporation in the discharge of their strictly official duties, is exempt from stamp tax.

A conveyance of realty sold, subject to a mortgage, should be stamped according to the consideration, or the value of the property unencumbered. The consideration in such case is to be found by adding the amount paid for the equity of redemption to the mortgage debt. The fact that one part of the consideration is paid to the mortgagor and the other part to the mortgagee does not change the liability of the conveyance.

The stamp tax upon a mortgage is based upon the amount it is given to secure. The fact that the value of the property mortgaged is less than that amount, and that consequently the security is only partial, does not change the liability of the instrument. When, therefore, a second mortgage is given to secure the payment of a sum of money partially secured by a prior mortgage upon other property, or when two mortgages upon separate property are given at the same time to secure the payment of the same sum, each should be stamped as though it were the only one.

A mortgage given to secure a surety from loss, or given for any purpose whatever, other than as security for the payment of a definite and certain sum of money, is taxable only as an agreement or contract.

The stamp duty upon a lease, agreement, memorandum, or contract for the hire, use, or rent of any land, tenement, or portion thereof, is based upon the annual rent or rental value of the property leased, and the duty is the same whether the lease be for one year, for a term of years, or for the fractional part of a year only.

An assignment of a lease within the meaning and intent of Schedule B, is an assignment of the leasehold, or of some portion thereof, by the lessee, or by some person claiming by, from, or under him ; such an assignment as subrogates the assignee to the rights, or some portion of the rights, of the lessee, or of the person standing in his place. A transfer by the lessor of his part of a lease, neither giving nor purporting to give a claim to the leasehold, or to any part thereof, but simply a right to the rents, &c., is subject to stamp tax as a contract or agreement only.

The stamp tax upon a fire insurance policy is based upon the premium.

[illegible] by a mutual fire insurance company, not as payment of premium nor as evidence of indebtedness therefor, but to be used simply as a basis upon which to make rateable assessments to meet the losses incurred by the company, should not be reckoned as premium in determining the amount of stamp taxes upon the policies.

When a policy of insurance properly stamped has been issued and lost, no stamp is necessary upon another issued by the same company to the same party, covering the same property, time, &c., and designed simply to supply the loss. The second policy should recite the loss of the first.

An instrument which operates as the renewal of a policy of insurance, is subject to the same stamp tax as the policy.

When a policy of insurance is issued for a certain time, whether it be for one year only or for a term of years, a receipt for premium, or any other instrument which has the legal effect to continue the contract and extend its operation beyond that time, requires the same amount of revenue stamps as the policy itself; but such a receipt as is usually given for the payment of the monthly, quarterly, or annual premium, is not a renewal within the meaning of the statute. The payment simply prevents the policy from expiring, by reason of non-performance of its conditions ; a receipt given for such a payment requires no stamp. When, however, the time of payment has passed, and a tender of the premium is not sufficient to bind the company, but a new policy or a new contract in some form, with the mutuality essential to every contract, becomes necessary between the insurer and the insured, the same amount of stamps should be used as that required upon the original policy.

A permit issued by a life insurance company changing the terms of a policy as to travel, residence, occupation, &c., should be stamped as a contract or agreement.

A bill single or a bill obligatory, i. e., an instrument in the form of a promissory note, under seal, is subject to stamp duty as written or printed evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at a time designated, at the rate of five cents for each one hundred dollars or fractional part thereof.

A waiver of protest, or of demand and notice, written upon negotiable paper and signed by the indorser, is an agreement, and requires a five-cent stamp.

A stamp duty of twenty-five cents is imposed upon the "protest of every note, bill of exchange, check or draft," and upon every marine protest. If several notes, bills of exchange, drafts, &c., are protested at the same time and all attached to one and the same certificate, stamps should be affixed to the amount of twenty-five cents for each note, bill, draft, &c., thus protested.

When, as is generally the case, the caption to a deposition contains other certificates in addition to the jurat to the affidavit of the deponent, such as a certificate that the parties were or were not notified, that they did or did not appear, that they did or did not object, &c., it is subject to a stamp duty of five cents.

When an attested copy of a writ or other process is used by a sheriff or other person in making personal service, or in attaching property, a five-cent stamp should be affixed to the certificate of attestation.

A marriage certificate issued by the officiating clergyman or magistrate, to be returned to any officer of a State, county, city, town, or other municipal corporation, to constitute part of a public record, requires no stamp; but if it is to be retained by the parties, a five-cent stamp should be affixed.

The stamp tax upon a bill of sale, by which any ship or vessel, or any part thereof, is conveyed to or vested in any other person or persons, is at the same rate as that imposed upon conveyances of realty sold; a bill of sale of any other personal property should be stamped as a contract or agreement.

An assignment of real or personal property, or of both, for the benefit of creditors, should be stamped as an agreement or contract.

Written or printed assignments of agreements, bonds, notes not negotiable, and of all other instruments the assignments of which are not particularly specified in the foregoing schedule, should be stamped as agreements.

No stamp is necessary upon the registry of a judgment, even though the registry is such in its legal effect as to create a lien which operates as a mortgage upon the property of the judgment debtor.

When a "power of attorney or proxy for voting at any election for officers of any incorporated company or society, except religious, charitable, or literary societies, or public cemeteries," is signed by several stockholders, owning separate and distinct shares, it is, in its legal effect, the separate instrument of each, and requires stamps to the amount of ten cents for each and every signature; one or more stamps may be used representing the whole amount required.

A notice from landlord to tenant to quit possession of premises requires no stamp.

A stamp tax is imposed upon every "manifest for custom-house entry or clearance of the cargo of any ship, vessel, or steamer for a foreign port." The amount of this tax in each case depends upon the registered tonnage of the vessel.

If a vessel clears in ballast and has no cargo whatever, no stamp is necessary; but if she has any, however small the amount—a stamp should be used.

A bond to convey real estate requires stamps to the amount of twenty-five cents.

The stamp duty upon the probate of a will, or upon letters of administration, is based upon the sworn or declared value of all the estate and effects, real, personal, and mixed, undiminished by the debts of the estate for or in respect of which such probate or letters are applied for.

When the property belonging to the estate of a person deceased, lies under different jurisdictions and it becomes necessary to take out letters in two or more places, the letters should be stamped according to the value of all the property, real, personal, and mixed, for or in respect of which the particular letters in each case are issued.

Letters de bonis non should be stamped according to the amount of property remaining to be administered upon thereunder, regardless of the stamps upon the original letters.

A mere copy of an instrument is not subject to stamp duty unless it is a certified one, in which case a five-cent stamp should be affixed to the certificate of the person attesting it; but when the instrument is executed and issued in duplicate, triplicate, &c., as in the case of a lease of two or more parts, each part has the same legal effect as the other, and each should be stamped as an original.

POSTAL RATES AND REGULATIONS.

LETTERS.—The law requires postage on all letters (including those to foreign countries when prepaid), excepting those written to the President or Vice President, or members of Congress, or (on official business) to the chiefs of the executive departments of the Government, and the heads of bureaux and chief clerks, and others invested with the franking privilege, to be prepaid by stamps or stamped envelopes, prepayment in money being prohibited.

All drop-letters must be prepaid. The rate of postage on drop-letters, at offices where free delivery by carrier is established, is two cents per half ounce or fraction of a half ounce; at offices where such free delivery is NOT established the rate is one cent.

The single rate of postage on all domestic mail letters throughout the United States, is three cents per half ounce, with an additional rate of three cents for each additional half ounce or fraction of a half ounce. The ten cent (Pacific) rate is abolished.

NEWSPAPERS, ETC.—Letter postage is to be charged on all handbills, circulars, or other printed matter which shall contain any manuscript writing whatever.

Daguerreotypes, when sent in the mail, are to be charged with letter postage by weight.

Photographs on cards, paper, and other flexible material, (not in cases), can be sent at the same rate as miscellaneous printed matter, viz., two cents for each four ounces or fraction thereof.

Photograph Albums are chargeable with book postage—four cents for each four ounces or fraction thereof.

NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.—Postage on daily papers to subscribers when prepaid quarterly or yearly in advance, either at the mailing office or office of delivery, per quarter (three months), 35 cts.; six times per week, per quarter 30 cts.; for tri-weekly, per quarter 15 cts.; for semi-weekly, per quarter 10 cts.; for weekly, per quarter 5 cents.

Weekly newspapers (one copy only) sent by the publisher to actual subscribers within the county where printed and published, FREE.

Postage per quarter (to be paid quarterly or yearly in advance) on newspapers and periodicals issued less frequently than once a week, sent to actual subscribers in any part of the United States: Semi-monthly, not over 4 oz., 6 cts.; over 4 oz. and not over 8 oz., 12 cts.; over 8 oz. and not over 12 oz., 18 cts.; monthly, not over 4 oz., 3 cts; over 4 oz. and not over 8 oz., 6 cts.; over 8 oz. and not over 12 oz., 9 cts.; quarterly, not over 4 oz., 1 cent; over 4 oz. and not over 8 oz., 2 cts.; over 8 oz. and not over 12 oz., 3 cts.

TRANSIENT MATTER.—Books not over 4 oz. in weight, to one address, 4 cts.; over 4 oz. and not over 8 oz., 8 cts.; over 8 oz. and not over 12 oz., 12 cts.; over 12 oz. and not over 16 oz., 16 cts.

Circulars not exceeding three in number to one address, 2 cts.; over 3 and not over 6, 4 cts.; over 6 and not over 9, 6 cts.; over 9 and not exceeding 12, 8 cts.

On miscellaneous mailable matter, (embracing all pamphlets, occasional publications, transient newspapers, hand-bills and posters, book manuscripts and proof-sheets, whether corrected or not, maps, prints, engravings, sheet music, blanks, flexible patterns, samples, and sample cards, phonographic paper, letter envelopes, postal envelopes or wrappers, cards, paper, plain or ornamental, photographic representations of different types, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots and scions,) the postage to be pre-paid by stamps, is on one package, to one address, not over 4 oz. in weight, 2 cts.; over 4 oz. and not over 8 oz., 4 cts.; over 8 oz. and not over 12 oz., 6 cts.; over 12 oz. and not over 16 oz., 8 cts. The weight of packages of seeds, cuttings, roots and scions, to be franked, is limited to thirty-two ounces.

Any word or communication, whether by printing, writing, marks or signs, upon the cover or wrapper of a newspaper, pamphlet, magazine, or other printed matter, other than the name or address of the person to whom it is to be sent, and the date when the subscription expires, subjects the package to letter postage.

Infallible Rules for Detecting Counterfeit or Spurious Bank Notes.

RULE 1st.—Examine the shading of the letters in title of Bank called LATHEWORK, which in genuine notes presents an even, straight, light and silky appearance, generally so fine and smooth as to appear to be all in one solid, pale body. In the counterfeit the lines are coarse and irregular, and in many of the longer lines breaks will be perceived, thus presenting a very inferior finish in comparison to genuine work.

2d.—Observe the dies, circles and ovals in the genuine; they are composed of a network of lines, which, by crossing each other at certain angles, produce an endless variety of figures; SEE THE ONE CENT STAMP ATTACHED. The fine line alone is the unit which enables you to detect spurious work. In the counterfeit, the REPRESENTED white lines are coarse, irregular, and cross each other in a confused, irregular manner, thus producing blurred and imperfect figures.

3d.—Examine the form and features of all human figures on the note. In the genuine, the texture of the skin is represented by fine dots and lines intermixed. In the eyes, the pupil is distinctly visible, and the white clearly seen; the nose, mouth and chin, well formed, natural and expressive; the lips are slightly pouting, and the chin well thrown out; and the delicate shading of the neck perfectly harmonizes with the rest of the figure. Observe the fingers and toes; they should be clearly and accurately defined. The hair of the head should show the fine strands and present a natural appearance. The folds of the drapery of human figures should lay natural and present a fine, finished appearance. In the counterfeit the female figure does not bear the natural prominence in outlines; observe, the eyes and shading surrounding does not present the lifelike appearance it should. The fingers and toes are not properly and proportionately defined; the hair does not bear that soft and finished appearance as in the genuine.

4th.—Examine the imprint or engraver's names in the evenness and shape of the fine letters. Counterfeits never bear the imprint perfect. This rule should be strictly observed, as it is infallible in detecting counterfeits.

5th.—In the genuine note the landscapes are well finished; trees and shrubs are neatly drawn; the limbs well proportioned, and the foliage presenting a fine natural appearance; clear sky is formed of fine parallel lines, and when clouds or heavy skies appear, they cross each other, and bear a soft, smooth and natural appearance. The perspective, showing a view of the surrounding country, is always clear and distinct. The small figures in the background are always plainly seen, and their outlines and general character recognized. Ships are well defined and the canvass has a clear texture; railroad cars are very accurately delineated; in examining a train observe carefully the car most distant. In the counterfeit the landscape is usually poorly executed; the leaves of trees poorly and unnaturally defined.—The lines representing still water are scratchy rather than parallel, the sky is represented generally in like manner, and where rolling clouds are to be seen, the unnatural effect is obvious. Domestic animals are generally poorly executed, particularly the head and limbs; the eyes are seldom clearly defined. Ships are poorly drawn, the texture of the canvass coarse and inferior in style of workmanship, thus giving an artificial appearance. Railroad cars are also poorly executed; the car farthest from the eye is usually the most imperfect. The perspective is always imperfect, the figures in the background can seldom be recognized.

6th.—Bills altered from a smaller to a higher denomination, can readily be detected by a close observer, in consequence of the striking difference between the parts which have been extracted and the rest of the note. This difference is readily perceived in the lack of color, body and finish of the dye; we have seen bills where the surrounding shading in altered dies was too dark, but from the back or finish of the white lines you have a sure test. Again observe particularly the words "Five" or "Ten Dollars" as the case may be, denoting the denomination of the note; the parallel outlines and shading (if any) are coarse and imperfect. Alterations are frequently made by pasting a greater denomination over a smaller, but by holding the bill up to the light, the fraud will be perceived. Another method resorted to is to cut out the figures in the dies as well as the words one dollar, or the words two or three as the case may be, and with a sharp engraver, scrape down the ends and also the edges of the pieces to be inserted; when the pieces thus prepared are affixed they are hardly perceivable; but by passing the note through the hand, so as to feel the die both with the finger and thumb at the same time, the fraud will be detected by the stiffness of the outer edges, "occasioned by the gum or method adopted" in affixing the parts. The letter S should always be examined, as in many alterations it is pasted or stamped at the end of the word "dollar;" and even when stamped there, the carrying out of the outlines for its shading will readily show the fraud. Bills of broken banks are frequently altered by extracting the name of bank, state and town; they may readily be detected by observing first the state, second the title or name of the bank, third the town or location.

General Remarks in Reference to Counterfeits.—The paper on which they are printed is generally of a very inferior quality, with less body, finish and toughness than bank note paper has. The ink generally lacks the rich luster of the genuine; the red letters and figures are generally imperfect, and the ink does not present the vermillion hue as it should. The printing is generally inferior, usually exhibiting specks of white in the most prominent letters. The date and filling up, and the President's and Cashier's names are generally written by the same person, although in many instances they present a different appearance. There are bills in circulation bearing either genuine dies or vignettes; but upon close examination you will be enabled to detect any spurious bill, whether counterfeit or altered, by the instructions here given, if persevered in for a short time. We beg to suggest, if time will admit, the learner should examine minutely every bill he receives. A powerful pocket magnifying glass, which can be purchased for from fifty cents to one dollar at any of the opticians, will greatly enable you to see and comprehend the difference between genuine and spurious work.

HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS.

What will my readers give to know how to get rich? Now, I will not vouch that the following rules will enable every person who may read them to acquire wealth; but this I will answer for, that if ever a man does grow rich by honest means, and retains his wealth for any length of time, he must practice upon the principles laid down in the following essay. The remarks are not original with me, but I strongly commend them to the attention of every young man, at least as affording the true secret of success in attaining wealth. A single perusal of such an essay at an impressible moment, has sometimes a very wonderful effect upon the disposition and character.

Fortune, they say, is a fickle dame—full of her freaks and caprices; who blindly distributes her favors without the slightest discrimination. So inconstant, so wavering is she represented, that her most faithful votaries can place no reliance on her promises. Disappointment, they tell us, is the lot of those who make offerings at her shrine. Now, all this is a vile slander upon the dear blind lady.

Although wealth often appears the result of mere accident, or a fortunate concurrence of favorable circumstances without any exertion of skill or foresight, yet any man of sound health and unimpaired mind may become wealthy, if he takes the proper steps.

Foremost in the list of requisites are honesty and strict integrity in every transaction of life. Let a man have the reputation of being fair and upright in his dealings, and he will possess the confidence of all who know him. Without these qualities every other merit will prove unavailing. Ask concerning a man, "Is he active and capable?" Yes. "Industrious, temperate and regular in his habits?"—Oh yes. "Is he honest? Is he trustworthy?" Why, as to that, I am sorry to say that he is not to be trusted; he needs watching; he is a little tricky, and will take an undue advantage, if he can. "Then I will have nothing to do with him," will be the invariable reply. Why, then, is honesty the best policy? Because, without it, you will get a bad name, and everybody will shun you.

A character for knavery will prove an insurmountable obstacle to success in almost every undertaking. It will be found that the straight line is, in business, as in geometry, the shortest. In a word, it is almost impossible for a dishonest man to acquire wealth by a regular process of business, because he is shunned as a depredator upon society.

Needy men are apt to deviate from the rule of integrity, under the plea that necessity knows no law; they might as well add that it knows no shame. The course is suicidal, and by destroying all confidence, ever keeps them immured in poverty, although they may possess every other quality for success in the world.

Punctuality, which is said to be the soul of business, is another important element in the art of money getting. The man known to be scrupulously exact in the fulfillment of his engagements, gains the confidence of all, and may command all the means he can use with advantage; whereas, a man careless and regardless of his promises in money matters will have every purse closed against him. Therefore be prompt in your payments.

Next, let us consider the advantages of a cautious circumspection in our intercourse with the world. Slowness of belief and a proper distrust are essential to success. The credulous and confiding are ever the dupes of knaves and impostors. Ask those who have lost their property how it happened, and you will find in most cases that it has been owing to misplaced confidence. One has lost by endorsing, another by crediting, another by false representations; all of which a little more foresight and a little more distrust would have prevented. In the affairs of this world men are not saved by faith, but by the want of it.

Judge of men by what they do, not by what they say. Believe in looks rather than words. Observe all their movements. Ascertain their motives and their ends. Notice what they say or do in their unguarded moments, when under the influence of excitement. The passions have been compared to tortures which force men to reveal their secrets. Before trusting a man, before putting it in his power to cause you a loss, possess yourself of every available information relative to him. Learn his history, his habits, inclinations and propensities; his reputation for honor, industry, frugality and punctuality; his prospects, resources, supports, advantages and disadvantages; his intentions and motives of action; who are his friends and enemies, and what are his good or bad qualities. You may learn a man's good qualities and advantages from his friends—his bad qualities and disadvantages from his enemies. Make due allowance for exaggeration in both. Finally, examine carefully before engaging in anything, and act with energy afterwards. Have the hundred eyes of Argus beforehand, and the hundred hands of Briarius afterwards.

Order and system in the management of business must not be neglected. Nothing contributes more to dispatch. Have a place for everything and everything in its place; a time for everything, and everything in its time. Do first what presses most, and having determined what is to be done, and how it is to be done, lose no time in doing it. Without this method all is hurry and confusion, little or nothing is accomplished, and business is attended to with neither pleasure nor profit.

A polite, affable deportment is recommended. Agreeable manners contribute powerfully to a man's success. Take two men, possessing equal advantages in every other respect, but let one be gentlemanly, kind, obliging and conciliating in his manners; the other harsh, rude and disobliging; and the one will become rich, while the other will starve.

We are now to consider a very important principle in the business of money-getting, namely—Industry—persevering, indefatigable attention to business. Persevering diligence is the Philosopher's stone, which turns everything to gold. Constant, regular, habitual and systematic application to business, must in time, if properly directed, produce great results. It must lead to wealth, with the same certainty that poverty follows in the train of idleness and inattention. It has been truly remarked that he who follows his amusements instead of his business, will, in a short time, have no business to follow.

The art of money-saving is an important part of the art of money-getting. Without frugality no one can become rich; with it, few would be poor. Those who consume as fast as they produce, are on the road to ruin. As most of the poverty we meet with grows out of idleness and extravagance, so most large fortunes have been the result of habitual industry and frugality. The practice of economy is as necessary in the expenditure of time as of money. They say if "we take care of the pence the pounds will take care of themselves." So, if we take care of the minutes, the days will take care of themselves.

The acquisition of wealth demands as much self-denial, and as many sacrifices of present gratification, as the practice of virtue itself. Vice and poverty proceed, in some degree, from the same sources, namely—the disposition to sacrifice the future to the present; the inability to forego a small present pleasure for great future advantages. Men fail of fortune in this world, as they fail of happiness in the world to come, simply because they are unwilling to deny themselves momentary enjoyments for the sake of permanent future happiness.

Every large city is filled with persons, who, in order to support the appearance of wealth, constantly live beyond their income, and make up the deficiency by contracting debts which are never paid. Others, there are, the mere drones of society, who pass their days in idleness, and subsist by pirating on the hives of the industrious. Many who run a short lived career of splendid beggary, could they be but persuaded to adopt a system of rigid economy for a few years, might pass the remainder of their days in affluence. But no! They must keep up appearances, they must live like other folks.

Their debts accumulate: their credit fails; they are harassed by duns, and besieged by constables and sheriff. In this extremity, as a last resort, they submit to a shameful dependence, or engage in criminal practices which entail hopeless wretchedness and infamy on themselves and families.

Stick to the business in which you are regularly employed. Let speculators make thousands in a year or a day; mind your own regular trade, never turning from it to the right hand or to the left. If you are a merchant, a professional man, or a mechanic, never buy lots or stocks, unless you have surplus money which you wish to invest. Your own business you understand as well as other men; but other people's business you do not understand. Let your business be some one which is useful to the community. All such occupations possess the elements of profit in themselves.

How to Secure the Public Lands,

OR THE ENTRY OF THE SAME UNDER THE PRE-EMPTION AND HOMESTEAD LAWS.

The following circular gives all necessary information as to the procedure necessary in purchasing and securing the public lands:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
GEN'L LAND OFFICE, July 19, 1865.

Numerous questions having arisen as to the mode of procedure to purchase public lands, or acquire title to the same by bounty land locations, by pre-emptions or by homestead, this circular is communicated for the information of all concerned.

In order to acquire title to public lands the following steps must be taken:

1. Application must be made to the Register of the district land office in which the land desired may be situated.

A list of all the land offices in the United States is furnished by the Department, with the seats of the different offices, where it is the duty of the Register and Receiver to be in attendance, and give proper facilities and information to persons desirous of obtaining lands.

The minimum price of ordinary public lands is $1.25 per acre. The even or reserved sections falling within railroad grants are increased to double the minimum price, being $2 50 per acre.

Lands once offered at public sale, and not otherwise kept out of market by reservation, or otherwise, so as to prevent free competition, may be entered or located.

2. By the applicant filing with the Register his written application describing the tract, with its area; the Register will then certify to the receiver whether the land is vacant, with its price; and when found to be so, the applicant must pay that price per acre, or may locate the same with land warrant, and thereafter the Receiver will give him a "duplicate receipt," which he is required to surrender previous to the delivery to him of the patent, which may be had either by application for it to the Register or to the General Land Office.

3. If the tract has not been offered at public sale it is not liable to ordinary private entry, but may be secured by a party legally qualified, upon his compliance with the requirements of the pre-emption laws of 4th September, 1841, and 3d March, 1843; and after such party shall have made actual settlement for such a length of time as will show he designs it for his permanent home, and is acting in good faith, building a house and residing therein, he may proceed to the district land office, establish his pre-emption claim according to law, by proving his actual residence and cultivation, and showing that he is otherwise within the purview of these acts.—Then he can enter the land at $1.25, either in cash or with bounty land warrant, unless the premises should be $2.50 acre lands. In that case the whole purchase-money can be paid in cash, or one half in cash the residue with a bounty land warrant.

4. But if parties legally qualified desire to obtain title under the Homestead Act of 20th May, 1862, they can do so on complying with the Department Circular, dated 30th October, 1862.

5. The law confines Homestead entries to surveyed lands; and although, in certain States and Territories noted in the subjoined list, pre-emptors may go on land before survey, yet they can only establish their claim after return of survey, but must file their pre-emption declaration within three months after receipt of official plat, at the local land-office where the settlement was made before survey. Where, however, it was made after survey, the claimant must file within three months after date of settlement; and where actual residence and cultivation have been long enough to show that the claimant has made the land his permanent home, he can establish his claim and pay for the same at any time before the date of the public sale of lands within the range in which his settlement may fall.

6. All unoffered surveyed lands not acquired under pre-emption, homestead, or otherwise, under express legal sanction, must be offered at public sale under the President's Proclamation, and struck off to the highest bidder, as required by act of April 24, 1820.

J. M. EDMUNDS,
Commissioner General Land Office.

LAW MAXIMS.

1. A promise of a debtor to give "satisfactory security" for the payment of a portion of his debt, is a sufficient consideration for a release of the residue by his creditor.

2. Administrators are liable to account for interest on funds in their hands, although no profit shall have been made upon them, unless the exigencies of the estate rendered it prudent that they should hold the funds thus uninvested.

3. Any person who voluntarily becomes an agent for another, and in that capacity obtains information to which as a stranger he could have had no access, is bound in subsequent dealing with his principal, as purchaser of the property that formed the subject of his agency, to communicate such information.

4. When a house is rendered untenantable in consequence of improvements made on the adjoining lot, the owner of such cannot recover damages, because it is presumed that he had knowledge of the approaching danger in time to protect himself from it.

5. When a merchant ship is abandoned by order of the master, for the purpose of saving life, and a part of the crew subsequently meet the vessel so abandoned and bring her safe into port, they will be entitled to salvage.

6. A person who has been led to sell goods by means of false pretenses, cannot recover them from one who has purchased them in good faith from the fraudulent vendor.

7. An agreement by the holder of a note to give the principal debtor time for payment, without depriving himself of the right to sue, does not discharge the surety.

8. A seller of goods who accepts, at the time of sale, the note of a third party, not endorsed by the buyer, in payment, cannot in case the note is not paid, hold the buyer responsible for the value of the goods.

9. A day-book copied from a "blotter" in which charges are first made, will not be received in evidence as a book of original entries.

10. Common carriers are not liable for extraordinary results of negligence that could not have been foreseen by ordinary skill and foresight.

11. A bidder at a Sheriff's sale may retract his bid at any time before the property is knocked down to him, whatever may be the conditions of the sale.

12. Acknowledgment of debt to a stranger does not preclude the operation of the statute.

13. The fruits and grass on the farm or garden of an intestate descend to the heir.

14. Agents are solely liable to their principals.

15. A deposit of money in bank by a husband, in the name of his wife, survives to her.

16. Money paid on Sunday contracts may be recovered.

17. A debtor may give preference to one creditor over another, unless fraud or special legislation can be proved.

18. A court cannot give judgment for a larger sum than that specified in the verdict.

19. Imbecility on the part of either husband or wife, invalidates the marriage.

20. An action for malicious prosecution will lie, though nothing further was done than suing out warrants.

21. An agreement not to continue the practice of a profession or business in any specified town, if the party so agreeing has received a consideration for the same, is valid.

22. When A consigns goods to B to sell on commission, and B delivers them to C, in payment of his own antecedent debts, A can recover their value.

23. A finder of property is compelled to make diligent inquiry for the owner thereof, and to restore the same. If, on finding such property, he attempts to conceal such fact, he may be prosecuted for larceny.

24. A private person may obtain an injunction to prevent a public mischief by which he is affected in common with others.

25. Any person interested may obtain an injunction to restrain the State or a municipal corporation from maintaining a nuisance on its lands.

26. A discharge under the insolvent laws of one State will not discharge the insolvent from a contract made with a citizen of another State.

27. To prosecute a party with any other motive than to bring him to justice, is malicious prosecution, and actionable as such.

28. Ministers of the gospel, residing in any incorporated town, are not exempt from jury, military, or fire service.

29. When a person contracts to build a house, and is prevented by sickness from finishing it, he can recover for the part performed, if such part is beneficial to the other party.

30. In a suit for enticing away a man's wife, actual proof of the marriage is not necessary. Cohabitation, reputation, and the admission of marriage by the parties, are sufficient.

31. Permanent erections and fixtures, made by a mortgagor after the execution of the mortgage upon land conveyed by it, become a part of the mortgaged premises.

32. When a marriage is denied, and plaintiff has given sufficient evidence to establish it, the defendant cannot examine the wife to disprove the marriage.

33. The amount of an express debt cannot be enlarged by application.

34. Contracts for advertisements in Sunday newspapers cannot be enforced.

35. A seller of goods, chattels, or other property, commits no fraud, in law, when he neglects to tell the purchaser of any flaws, defects, or unsoundness in the same.

36. The opinions of witnesses, as to the value of a dog that has been killed, are not admissible in evidence. The value of the animal is to be decided by the jury.

37. If any person puts a fence on or plows the land of another, he is liable for trespass whether the owner has sustained injury or not.

38. If a person, who is unable from illness to sign his will, has his hand guided in making his mark, the signature is valid.

39. When land trespassed upon is occupied by a tenant, he alone can bring the action.

40. To say of a person, "If he does not come and make terms with me, I will make a bankrupt of him and ruin him," or any such threatening language, is actionable, without proof of special damage.

41. In an action for slander, the party making the complaint must prove the words alleged; other words of like meaning will not suffice.

42. In a suit of damages for seduction, proof of pregnancy, and the birth of a child, is not essential. It is sufficient if the illness of the girl, whereby she was unable to labor, was produced by shame for the seduction; and this is such a loss of service as will sustain the action.

43. Addressing to a wife a letter containing matter defamatory to the character of her husband is a publication, and renders the writer amenable to damages.

44. A parent cannot sustain an action for any wrong done to a child, unless he has incurred some direct pecuniary injury therefrom in consequence of some loss of service or expenses necessarily consequent thereupon.

45. A master is responsible for an injury resulting from the negligence of his servant, whilst driving his cart or carriage, provided the servant is at the time engaged in his master's business, even though the accident happens in a place to which his master's business does not call him; but if the journey of a servant be solely for a purpose of his own, and undertaken without the knowledge and consent of his master, the latter is not responsible.

46. An emigrant depot is not a nuisance in law.

47. A railroad track through the streets is not a nuisance in law.

48. If an agreement upon which a party relies be oral only, it must be proved by evidence. But if the contract be reduced to writing, it proves itself; and now no evidence whatever is receivable for the purpose of varying the contract or affecting its obligations. The reasons are obvious. The law prefers written to oral evidence, from its greater precision and certainty, and because it is less open to fraud. And where parties have closed a negotiation and reduced the result to writing, it is presumed that they have written all they intended to agree to, and therefore, that what is omitted was finally rejected by them.—[PARSONS.

49. Delivery of a husband's goods by a wife to her adulterer, he having knowledge that she has taken them without her husband's authority, is sufficient to sustain an indictment for larceny against the adulterer.

50. The fact that the insurer was not informed of the existence of impending litigation, affecting the premises insured, at the time the insurance was effected, does not vitiate the policy.

51. The liability of an innkeeper is not confined to personal baggage, but extends to all the property of the guest that he consents to receive.

52. When a minor executes a contract, and pays money, or delivers property on the same, he cannot afterwards disaffirm such contract and recover the money, or property, unless he restores to the other party the consideration received from him for such money or property.

53. When a person has, by legal inquisition been found an habitual drunkard, he cannot, even in his sober intervals, make contracts to bind himself or his property, until the inquisition is removed.

54. Any person dealing with the representative of a deceased person, is presumed, in law, to be fully apprized of the extent of such representative's authority to act in behalf of such estate.

55. In an action against a railroad company, by a passenger, to recover damages for injuries sustained on the road, it is not compulsory upon the plaintiff to prove actual negligence in the defendants; but it is obligatory on the part of the latter to prove that the injury was not owing to any fault or negligence of theirs.

56. A guest is a competent witness, in an action between himself and an inn-keeper, to prove the character and value of lost personal baggage. Money in a trunk, not exceeding the amount reasonably required by the traveler to defray the expenses of the journey which he has undertaken, is a part of his baggage; and in case of its loss, while at any inn, the plaintiff may prove its amount by his own testimony.

57. The deed of a minor is not absolutely void. The court is authorized to judge, from the instrument, whether it is void or not, according to its terms being favorable or unfavorable to the interests of the minor.

58. A married woman can neither sue nor be sued on any contract made by her during her marriage, except in an action relating to her individual property. The action must be commenced either by or against her husband. It is only when an action is brought on a contract made by her before her marriage, that she is to be joined as a co-plaintiff, or defendant, with her husband.

59. Any contract made with a person judicially declared a lunatic is void.

60. Money paid voluntarily in any transaction, with a knowledge of the facts, cannot be recovered.

61. In all cases of special contract for services, except in the case of a minor, the plaintiff can recover only the amount stipulated in the contract.

62. A wife is a competent witness with her husband, to prove the contents of a lost trunk, or when a party.

63. A wife cannot be convicted of receiving stolen goods when she received them of her husband.

64. Insurance against fire, by lightning or otherwise, does not cover loss by lightning when there is no combustion.

65. Failure to prove plea of justification, in a case of slander, aggravates the offence.

66. It is the agreement of the parties to sell by sample that constitutes a sale by sample, not the mere exhibition of a specimen of the goods.

67. An agent is liable to his principals for loss caused by his misstatements, tho' unintentional.

68. Makers of promissory notes given in advance for premiums on policies of insurance, thereafter to be taken, are liable thereon.

69. An agreement to pay for procuring an appointment to office is void.

70. An attorney may plead the statute of limitations, when sued by a client for money which he has collected and failed to pay over.

71. Testimony given by a deceased witness on first trial, is not required to be repeated verbatim on the second.

72. A person entitling himself to a reward offered for lost property, has a lien upon the property for the reward; but only when a definite reward is offered.

73. Confession by a prisoner must be voluntarily made, to constitute evidence against him.

74. The defendant in a suit must be served with process; but service of such process upon his wife, even in his absence from the State, is not, in the absence of statutory provisions, sufficient.

75. The measure of damages in trespass for cutting timber, is its value as a chattel on the land where it was felled, and not the market price of the lumber manufactured.

76. To support an indictment for malicious mischief in killing an animal, malice towards its owner must be shown, not merely passion excited against the animal itself.

77. No action can be maintained against a sheriff for omitting to account for money obtained upon an execution within a reasonable time. He has till the return day to render such account.

78. An interest in the profits of an enterprise, as profits, renders the party holding it a partner in the enterprise, and makes him presumptively liable to share any loss.

79. Males can marry at fourteen, and females at twelve years of age.

80. All cattle found at large upon any public road, can be driven by any person to the public pound.

81. Any dog chasing, barking, or otherwise threatening a passer-by in any street, lane, road, or other public thoroughfare, may be lawfully killed for the same.

82. A written promise for the payment of such amount as may come into the hands of the promisor, is held to be an instrument in writing for the payment of money.

83. The declaration of an agent is not admissible to establish the fact of agency.—But when other proper evidence is given, tending to establish the fact of agency, it is not error to admit the declarations of the agent, accompanying acts, though tending to show the capacity in which he acted. When evidence is competent in one respect and incompetent in another, it is the duty of the court to admit it, and control its effects by suitable instructions to the jury.

84. The court has a general power to remove or suspend an attorney for such immoral conduct as rendered him unworthy of confidence in his official capacity.

85. Bankruptcy is pleadable in bar to all actions and in all courts, and this bar may be avoided whenever it is interposed, by showing fraud in the procurement of the discharge, or a violation of any of the provisions of the bankrupt act.

86. An instrument in the form of a deed, but limited to take effect at the termination of the grantor's natural life, is held to be a deed, not a will.

87. A sale will not be set aside as fraudulent, simply because the buyer was at the time unable to make the payment agreed upon, and knew his inability, and did not intend to pay.

88. No man is under an obligation to make known his circumstances when he is buying goods.

89. Contracting parties are bound to disclose material facts known to each, but of which either supposes the other to be ignorant, only when they stand in some special relation of trust and confidence in relation to the subject matter of the contract. But neither will be protected if he does anything, however slight, to mislead or deceive the other.

90. A contract negotiated by mail is formed when notice of acceptance of the offer is duly deposited in the post-office, properly addressed. This rule applies, although the party making the offer expressly requires that if it is accepted, speedy notice of acceptance shall be given him.

91. The date of an instrument is so far a material part of it, that an alteration of the date by the holder after execution, makes the instrument void.

92. A corporation may maintain an action for libel, for words published of them and relating to its trade or business, by which it has incurred special damages.

93. It is unprofessional for a lawyer who has abandoned his case without trying it, a term or two before trial, to claim a fee conditional upon the success of his client, although his client was successful.

94. Although a party obtaining damages for injuries received through the default of another, was himself guilty of negligence, yet that will not defeat his recovery, unless his negligence contributed to cause the injury.

95. A person may contract to labor for another during life, in consideration of receiving his support; but his creditors have the right to inquire into the intention with which such arrangement is made, and it will be set aside if entered into to deprive them of his future earnings.

96. A grantor may by express terms exclude the bed of a river, or a highway, mentioned as boundary; but if without language of exclusion a line is described as 'along,' or 'upon,' or as 'running to' the highway or river, or as 'by,' or 'running to the bank of' the river; these expressions carry the grantee to the center of the highway or river.

97. The court will take pains to construe the words used in a deed in such a way as to effect the intention of the parties, however unskillfully the instrument may be drawn. But a court of law cannot exchange an intelligible word plainly employed in a deed for another, however evident it may be that the word used was used by mistake for another.

98. One who has lost his property and understanding is entitled to legal protection, whether such loss is occasioned by his own misconduct or by an act of Providence.

99. When a wife leaves her husband voluntarily, it must be shown, in order to make him liable for necessaries furnished to her, that she could not stay with safety. Personal violence, either threatened or inflicted, will be sufficient cause for such separation.

100. Necessaries of dress furnished to a discarded wife must correspond with the pecuniary circumstances of the husband, and be such articles as the wife, if prudent, would expect, and the husband should furnish, if the parties lived harmoniously together.

101. A fugitive from justice from one of the United States to another, may be arrested and detained in order to his surrender by authority of the latter, without a previous demand for his surrender by the executive of the State whence he fled.

102. A watch will not pass under a bequest of "wearing apparel," nor of "household furniture and articles for family use."

103. Money paid for the purpose of settling or compounding a prosecution for a supposed felony, cannot be recovered back by a party paying it.

104. An innkeeper is liable for the death of an animal in his possession, but may free himself from liability by showing that the death was not occasioned by negligence on his part.

105. Notice to the agent of a company is notice to the company.

106. An employer is not liable to one of his employes for an injury sustained by the latter in consequence of the neglect of others of his employes engaged in the same general business.

107. Where a purchaser at a Sheriff's sale has bid the full price of property under the erroneous belief that the sale would divest the property of all liens, it is the duty of the court to give relief by setting aside the sale.

108. When notice of protest is properly sent by mail, it may be sent by the mail of the day of the dishonor; if not, it must be mailed for the mail of the next day; except that if there is none, or it closes at an unreasonably early hour, then notice must be mailed in season for the next possible mail.

109. A powder-house located in a populous part of a city, and containing large quantities of gunpowder, is a nuisance.

110. When the seller of goods accepts at the time of the sale, the note of a third person, indorsed by the purchaser, in payment, the presumption is that the payment was intended to be absolute; and if the note should be dishonored, the purchaser will not be liable for the value of the goods.

111. A man charged with crime before a committing magistrate, but discharged on his own recognizance, is not privileged from arrest on civil process while returning from the magistrate's office.

112. When one has been induced to sell goods by means of false pretences, he cannot recover them from one who has bona fide purchased and obtained possession of them from the fraudulent vendor.

113. If the circumstances attendant upon a sale and delivery of personal property are such as usually and naturally accompany such a transaction, it cannot be declared a legal fraud upon creditors.

114. A stamp impressed upon an instrument by way of seal, is good as a seal, if it creates a durable impression in the texture of the paper.

115. If a party bound to make a payment use due diligence to make a tender, but through the payee's absence from home is unable to find him or any agent authorized to take payment for him, no forfeiture will be incurred through his failure to make a tender.

Government Land Measure.

A township, 36 sections, each a mile square.

A section, 640 acres.

A quarter section, half a mile square. 160 acres.

An eighth section, half a mile long, north and south, and a quarter of a mile wide, 80 acres.

A sixteenth section, a quarter of a mile square, 40 acres.

The sections are numbered from one to thirty-six, commencing at the northeast corner, thus:

6	5	4	3	2	n w n e / s w s e
7	8	9	10	11	12
18	17	16	15	14	13
19	20	21	22	23	24
30	29	28	27	26	25
31	32	33	34	35	36

The sections are all divided in quarters, which are named by the cardinal points, as in section one. The quarters are divided in the same way. The description of a 40 acre lot would read: The south half of the west half of the southwest quarter of section [illegible] 24, north of range 7 west, or as the case might be. Surveys will fall short, and sometimes overrun the number of acres it is supposed to contain.

THE DECIMAL SYSTEM

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

As Authorized by Act of Congress--Approved July 28, 1866.

STANDARDS.

In every system of Weights and Measures it is necessary to have what are called "Standards," as the pound, yard, gallon, &c., to be divided and multiplied into smaller and larger parts and denominations. The definition and construction of these Standards involve philosophical and scientific principles of a somewhat abstruse character, and are made and procured by the legislative department of the government. The nominal Standards in the new system are the METER, the ARE, the LITER, and the GRAM. The only real Standard, the one by which all the other standards are measured, and from which the system derives its name of "Metric," is the METER.

THE METER

Is used for all measures of length, distance, breadth, depth, height, &c., and was intended to be, and is very nearly, one ten-millionth of the distance on the earth's surface from the equator to the pole. It is about 39⅜ inches, or 3 feet, 3 inches and 3 eighths, and is to be substituted for the yard.

THE ARE

Is a surface whose side is ten Meters, and is equal to 100 square Meters or about 4 square rods.

THE LITER

Is the unit for measuring solids and capacity, and is equal to the contents of a cube whose side is one-tenth of a meter. It is about equal to 1 quart, and is a standard in cubic, dry and liquid measures.

☞ A cubic Meter (or Kiloliter) is called a stere, and is also used as a standard in certain cubic measures.

THE GRAM

Is the Unit of weight, and is the weight of a cube of pure water, each edge of the cube being one one-hundredth of a Meter. It is about equal to 15½ grains. It is intended as the Standard in all weights, and with its divisions and multiples, to supersede the use of what are now called Avoirdupois, Apothecaries and Troy Weights.

Each of the foregoing Standards is divided decimally, and larger units are also formed by multiples of 10, 100, &c. The successive subordinate parts are designated by the prefixes Deci, Centi and Milli; the successive multiples by Deka, Hecto, Kilo and Myria; each having its own numerical signification, as will be more clearly seen in the tables hereinafter given.

The terms used may, at first sight, have a formidable appearance, seem difficult to pronounce, and to retain in memory, and to be, therefore, objectionable; but with a little attention and use, the apprehended difficulty will be found more apparent than real, as has been abundantly proved by experience. The importance, also, of conformity in the use of commercial terms, on the part of the United States, with the practice of the many nations in which the system, with its present nomenclature, has already been adopted, must greatly overbalance the comparatively slight objection alluded to.

Acts and Resolutions of Congress.

PUBLIC—No. 183.

AN ACT to authorize the use of the metric system of weights and measures.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the passage of this act, it shall be lawful throughout the United States of America to employ the weights and measures of the metric system; and no contract or dealing, or pleading in any court, shall be deemed invalid or liable to objection, because the weights or measures expressed or referred to therein are weights or measures of the metric system.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the tables in the schedule hereto annexed, shall be recognized in the construction of contracts, and in all legal proceedings, as establishing, in terms of the weights and measures now in use in the United States, the equivalents of the weights and measures expressed therein in terms of the metric system; and said tables may be lawfully used for computing, determining and expressing, in customary weights and measures, the weights and measures of the metric system.

Discount and Premium.

When a person buys an article for $1,00—20 per cent off, (or discount,) and sells it again for $1,00, he makes a profit of 25 per cent. on his investment. Thus: He pays 80 cents and sells for $1.00—a gain of 20 cents, or 25 per cent of 80 cents. And for any transaction where the sale or purchase of gold, silver, or currency is concerned, the following rules will apply in all cases.

RULE 1st.—To find premium when discount is given: Multiply 100 by rate of discount and divide by 100, less rate of discount.

RULE 2d.—To find discount when premium is given. Multiply the rate of interest by 100, and divide by 100, plus the rate of premium.

Suppose A has $140 in currency, which he wishes to exchange for gold, when gold is 27 per cent. premium. how much gold should he receive? In this case the premium is given, consequently we must find the discount on A's currency and subtract it from the $140, as per rule 2d, showing the discount to be a trifle more than 21 per cent. and that he should receive $110.60 in gold.

Facts on Advertising.

The advertisements in an ordinary number of the London Times exceed 2,500. The annual advertising bills of one London firm are said to amount to $200,000; and three others are mentioned who each annually expend for the purpose $100,000. The price for advertising the great editions of the "Encyclopedia Britannica" is said to have been $15,000.

In large cities nothing is more common than to see large business establishments, which seem to have an immense advantage over all competitors, by the wealth, experience, and prestige they have acquired, drop gradually out of public view, and be succeeded by firms of a smaller capital, more energy, and more determined to have the fact that they sell such and such commodities known from one end of the land to the other. In other words, the establishments advertise; the old die of dignity.—The former are ravenous to pass out of obscurity into publicity; the latter believe that their publicity is so obvious that it cannot be obscured. The first understand that they must thrust themselves upon public attention, or be disregarded; the second, having once obtained public attention, suppose they have arrested it permanently; while, in fact, nothing is more characteristic of the world than the ease with which it forgets.

Stephen Girard, than whom no shrewder business man ever lived, used to say: I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule too, to advertise in the dullest times as well as the busiest; long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out; as by keeping my business continually before the public it has secured me many sales that I would otherwise have lost.

Brilliant Whitewash.

Many have heard of the brilliant stucco whitewash on the east end of the President's house at Washington. The following is a recipe for it; it is gleaned from the National Intelligencer, with some additional improvements learned by experiments: Take half a bushel of nice unslacked lime, slack it with boiling water, cover it during the process to keep in the steam. Strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer, and add to it a peck of salt, previously well dissolved in warm water; three pounds of ground rice, boiled to a thin paste, and stirred in boiling hot; half a pound of powdered Spanish whiting, and a pound of clean glue, which has been previously dissolved by soaking it well, and then hanging it over a slow fire, in a small kettle within a large one filled with water. Add five gallons of hot water to the mixture, stir it well, and let it stand a few days covered from the dirt.

It should be put on right hot; for this purpose it can be kept in a kettle on a portable furnace. It is said that about a pint of this mixture will cover a square yard upon the outside of a house if properly applied. Brushes more or less small may be used according to the neatness of the job required. It answers as well as oil paint for wood, brick or stone, and is cheaper. It retains its brilliancy for many years. There is nothing of the kind that will compare with it, either for inside or outside walls.

Coloring matter may be put in and made of any shade you like. Spanish brown stirred in will make red pink, more or less deep according to the quantity. A delicate tinge of this is very pretty, for inside walls. Finely pulverized common clay, well mixed with Spanish brown, makes a reddish stone color. Yellow-ochre stirred in makes yellow wash, but chrome goes further, and makes a color generally esteemed prettier. In all these cases the darkness of the shades of course is determined by the quantity of coloring used. It is difficult to make rules, because tastes are different. It would be best to try experiments on a shingle and let it dry. We have been told that green must not be mixed with lime. The lime destroys the color, and the color has an effect on the whitewash, which makes it crack and peel. When walls have been badly smoked, and you wish to have them a clean white, it is well to squeeze indigo plentifully through a bag into the water you use, before it is stirred in the whole mixture. If a larger quantity than five gallons be wanted, the same proportion should be observed.

How to get a Horse out of a Fire.

The great difficulty of getting horses from a stable where surrounding buildings are in a state of conflagration, is well known—the plan of covering their eyes with a blanket will not always succeed.

A gentleman whose horses have been in great peril from such a cause, having tried in vain to save them, hit upon the expedient of having them harnessed as though going to their usual work, when, to his astonishment, they were led from the stable without difficulty.

The Chemical Barometer.

Take a long narrow bottle, such as an old-fashioned Eau-de-Cologne bottle, and put into it two and a half drachms of camphor, and eleven drachms of spirits of wine; when the camphor is dissolved, which it will readily do by slight agitation, add the following mixture: Take water, nine drachms; nitrate of potash (saltpetre) thirty-eight grains; and muriate of ammonia (sal ammoniac) thirty-eight grains. Dissolve these salts in the water prior to mixing with the camphorated spirit; then shake the whole well together. Cork the bottle well, and wax the top, but afterwards make a very small aperture in the cork with a red-hot needle. The bottle may then be hung up, or placed in any stationary position. By observing the different appearances which the materials assume, as the weather changes, it becomes an excellent prognosticator of a coming storm or of a sunny sky.

Leech Barometer.

Take an eight ounce phial, and put in it three gills of water, and place in it a healthy leech, changing the water in summer once a week, and in winter once in a fortnight, and it will most accurately prognosticate the weather. If the weather is to be fine, the leech lies motionless at the bottom of the glass and coiled together in a spiral form; if rain may be expected, it will creep up to the top of its lodgings and remain there till the weather is settled: if we are to have wind, it will move through its habitation with amazing swiftness, and seldom goes to rest till it begins to blow hard; if a remarkable storm of thunder and rain is to succeed, it will lodge for some days before almost continually out of the water, and discover great uneasiness in violent throes and convulsive-like motions; in frost as in clear summer-like weather it lies constantly at the bottom; and in snow as in rainy weather it pitches its dwelling in the very mouth of the phial. The top should be covered over with a piece of muslin.

To Measure Grain in a Bin.—Find the number of cubic feet, from which deduct one fifth. The remainder is the number of bushels nearly, however, one bushel extra to every 224. Thus in a remainder of 224 there would be 225 bushels. In a remainder of 448 there would be 450 bushels, &c.

VALUABLE RECIPES.

[The following recipes are vouched for by several who have tried them and proven their virtues. Many of them have been sold singly for more than the price of this book.—PUB.]

HORSES.

RING BONE AND SPAVIN.—2 oz. each of Spanish flies and Venice turpentine; 1 oz. each of aqua ammonia and euphorbium; ½ oz. red precipitate; ½ oz. corrosive sublimate; 1½ lbs. lard. When thoroughly pulverized and mixed, heat carefully so as not to burn, and pour off free from sediment.

For ring-bone, rub in thoroughly, after removing hair, once in 48 hours. For spavin, once in 24 hours. Cleanse and press out the matter on each application.

POLL-EVIL.—Gum arabic ½ oz; common potash ½ oz; extract of belladonna ½ dr. Put the gum in just enough water to dissolve it. Pulverize the potash and mix with the dissolved gum, and then put in the extract of belladonna, and it will be ready for use. Use with a syringe after having cleansed with soap suds, and repeat once in two days till a cure is affected.

SCOURS.—Powdered tormentil root, given in milk, from 3 to 5 times daily till cured.

GREASE-HEEL AND SCRATCHES.—Sweet oil, 6 ozs.; borax 2 ozs.; sugar of lead 2 ozs. Wash off with dish water, and, after it is dry, apply the mixture twice a day.

CHOLIC IN HORSES.—To ½ pt. of warm water add 1 oz. laudanum and 3 ozs. spirits of turpentine, and repeat the dose in about ½ of an hour, adding ½ oz. powdered aloes, if not relieved.

[illegible] warm sage tea. After the operation of 30 minutes, sufficient lard to physic.—Never fails.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PILES—PERFECTLY CURED.—Take flour of sulphur 1 oz., rosin 3 ozs., pulverize and mix well together. (Color with carmine or cochineal, if you like.) Dose—What will lie on a five cent piece, night and morning, washing the parts freely in cold water once or twice a day. This is a remedy of great value.

The cure will be materially hastened by taking a table-spoon of sulphur in a half pint of milk, daily, until the cure is affected.

SURE CURE FOR CORNS, WARTS AND CHILBLAINS.—Take of nitric and muriatic acids, blue vitriol and salts of tartar, 1 oz. each. Add the blue vitriol, pulverized, to either of the acids; add the salts of tartar in the same way; when done foaming, add the other acid, and in a few days it will be ready for use. For chilblains and corns apply it very lightly with a swab, and repeat in a day or two until cured. For warts, once a week, until they disappear.

HOOF-AIL IN SHEEP.—Mix 2 ozs. each of butter of antimony and muriatic acid with 1 oz. of pulverized white vitriol, and apply once or twice a week to the bottom of the foot.

COMMON RHEUMATISM.—Kerosene oil 2 ozs.; neats-foot oil 1 oz.; oil of organum ½ oz. Shake when used, and rub and heat in twice daily.

VERY FINE SOAP, QUICKLY AND CHEAPLY MADE.—Fourteen pounds of bar soap in a half a boiler of hot water; cut up fine; add three pounds of sal-soda made fine; one ounce of pulverized rosin; stir it often till all is dissolved; just as you take it off the fire, put in two table-spoonfuls of spirits of [illegible]

[illegible] It is [illegible] soap for washing clothes, extracting the dirt readily, and not fading colored articles.

WATER PROOF FOR LEATHER.—Take linseed oil 1 pint, yellow wax and white turpentine each 2 ozs. Burgundy pitch 1 oz., melt and color with lampblack.

TO KEEP CIDER SWEET.—Put into each barrel, immediately after making, ¼ lb. ground mustard, 2 oz. salt and 2 oz. pulverized chalk. Stir them in a little cider, pour them into the barrel, and shake up well.

AGUE CURE.—Procure 1¼ table-spoons of fresh mandrake root juice, (by pounding) and mix with the same quantity of molasses, and take in three equal doses, 2 hours a part, the whole to be taken 1 hour before the chill comes on. Take a swallow of some good bitters before meals, for a couple of weeks after the chills are broken, and the cure will be permanent.

CURE FOR SALT RHEUM OR SCURVY.—Take of the pokeweed, any time in summer; pound it; press out the juice; strain it into a pewter dish; set it in the sun till it becomes a salve—then put it into an earthen mug; add to it fresh water and bees' wax sufficient to make an ointment of common consistency; simmer the whole over a fire till thoroughly mixed. When cold, rub the part affected. The patient will almost immediately experience its good effects, and the most obstinate cases will be cured in three or four months. Tested.—The juice of the ripe berries may be prepared in the same way.

SUPERIOR PAINT—FOR BRICK HOUSES.—To lime whitewash, add for a fastener, sulphate of zinc, and shade with any color you choose, as yellow ochre, Venetian red, etc. It outlasts oil paint.

FELONS.—Stir 1 oz. of Venice turpentine with ¼ tea-spoonful of water, till it looks like candied honey, and apply by spreading upon cloth and wrapping around the finger. If not too long delayed will cure in 6 hours.

A poke root poultice is also said to be a sure remedy.

WATER-PROOF BLACKING AND HARNESS POLISH.—Take two and a half ounces gum shellac and half a pint of alcohol, and set in a warm place until dissolved; then add two and a half ounces Venice turpentine to neutralize the alcohol; add a tablespoonful of lampblack. Apply with a fine sponge. It will give a good polish over oil or grease.

MOSQUITOS.—To get rid of these tormentors, take a few hot coals on a shovel, or a chafing dish, and burn upon them some brown sugar in your bed-rooms and parlors, and you effectually banish or destroy every mosquito for the night.

CHEAP OUTSIDE PAINT.—Take two parts (in bulk) of water lime ground fine, one part (in bulk) of white lead ground in oil. Mix them thoroughly, by adding best boiled linseed oil, enough to prepare it to pass through a paint mill, after which temper with oil till it can be applied with a common paint brush. Make any color to suit. It will last three times as long as lead paint, and cost not one-fourth as much. IT IS SUPERIOR.

CURE FOR A COUGH.—A strong decoction of the leaves of the pine, sweetened with loaf sugar. Take a wine-glass warm on going to bed, and half an hour before eating three times a day. The above is sold as a cough syrup, and is doing wonderful cures, and it is sold at a great profit to the manufacturers.

How to Judge a Horse.

A correspondent, contrary to old maxims, undertakes to judge the character of a horse by outward appearances, and offers the following suggestions, the result of his close observation and long experience:

If the color be light sorrell, or chestnut, his feet, legs and face white, these are marks of kindness. If he is broad and full between the eyes, he may be depended on as a horse of good sense, and capable of being trained to anything.

As respects such horses, the more kindly you treat them the better you will be treated in return. Nor will a horse of this description stand a whip, if well fed.

If you want a safe horse, avoid one that is dish-faced. He may be so far gentle as not to scare; but he will have too much go-ahead in him to be safe with everybody.

If you want a fool, but a horse of great [illegible] hay, with [illegible] white [illegible] about him. If his face is [illegible] dished, so much the worse. Let no man ride such a horse that is not an adept in riding—they are always tricky and unsafe.

If you want one that will never give out, never buy a large, overgrown one.

A black horse cannot stand heat, nor a white one cold.

If you want a gentle horse, get one with more or less white about the head; the more the better. Many persons suppose the parti-colored horses belonging to the circuses, shows, &c., are selected for their oddity. But the selections thus made are on account of their great docility and gentleness.

Measurement of Hay in the Mow or Stack.—It is often desirable, where conveniences for weighing are not at hand, to purchase and sell hay by measurement. It is evident that no fixed rule will answer in all cases, as it would require more cubic feet at the top of a mew than at the bottom. The general rule adopted by those who have tested it, is that a cube, each side of which shall measure eight feet, of solid Timothy hay, as taken from mow or bottom of stack will weigh a ton. The rule may be varied for upper part of mow or stack according to pressure.

EXPLANATION.—Find the Year and observe the Letter above it; then look for the Month, and in a line with it find the Letter of the Year; above the Letter find the Days; and the figures on the left, in the same line, are the days of the same name in the month.

Leap Years have two letters; the first is used till the end of February, the second during the remainder of the year.

CHAUTAUQUA COUNTY.

CHAUTAUQUA COUNTY was formed from Genesee, March 11, 1808, with its present limits, and was provisionally annexed to Niagara county until a population of 500 persons qualified to vote for members of the assembly was attained. Prior to that time, with the exception of the tenth range of townships, it formed the town of Chautauqua in Genesee county, receiving its name from the beautiful lake within its borders. In 1811 the organization of the county was completed, officers* were appointed, and a commission† designated to select a site for the county seat and superintend the erection of a court house and jail.‡

The county lies upon the south shore of Lake Erie, in the southwest corner of the State. It is centrally distant from Albany 288 miles, and contains 1,099 square miles.§ Its physical features are marked by rolling and hilly uplands,

* The first county officers were: First Judge, Zattu Cushing, who represented the county the three preceding years in the judiciary of Niagara county; Associate Judges, Matthew Prendergast, Philo Orton, Jonathan Thompson and Wm. Alexander; Sheriff, David Eason; and County Clerk, John E. Marshall.

† This commission consisted of Jonas Williams, Isaac Sutherland and Asa Ransom.

‡ The county seat was established at Mayville, and the first court was held there June 25th of that year. At that time the county contained only two towns—Chautauqua and Pomfret, the latter having been erected at the erection of the county in 1808. The location of the county seat at Mayville excited the jealousy of the residents of Pomfret, who desired to have the county buildings located at Fredonia, then known as Canadaway; and in 1812, an appropriation of $1500 for the construction of county buildings, authorized at the erection of the county, and proposed by the Supervisor of Chautauqua, was opposed by the Pomfret Supervisor. As the latter manifested no disposition to yield the point the subject was temporarily laid aside for the transaction of other business. When the business of auditing town accounts was reached the Chautauqua Supervisor retaliated by refusing an appropriation for the accounts presented by his opponent, and as the board consisted of only two members, a majority could not be obtained upon either question. A dead [illegible] and the matter was compromised by all [illegible] the appropriation [illegible]. French's Gazetteer of New York and Warren's Sketches of the History [illegible] County.

similar to those of the southern tier of counties. The hills, though of the same nature, are less elevated than those of Cattaraugus and Allegany counties by two hundred feet; and as we proceed further west we find their altitude constantly diminishing until in Ohio, the highest rocks in this county, where an altitude of about 2,000 feet above tide is attained, are only a few hundred feet above Lake Erie. The highest point in the county is in the town of Charlotte. The north and south parts are less elevated than the central. A ridge extending through the county from four to six miles from Lake Erie, and converging toward that lake in the west, forms the water shed between the streams flowing north and those flowing south.* The hills forming this ridge are from 1000 to 1200 feet above Lake Erie, to which they descend by a picturesque slope—nearly the whole descent being made in the first three or four miles. The uplands are broken by several deep valleys. Chautauqua Lake, near the center, lies more than 700 feet below the highest summits; Conewango Creek, in the southeast, forms a depression of 500 to 800 feet; while the deep gorge of the Cattaraugus, in the northeast, is even lower than the Conewango. In many places these declivities are too steep to admit of profitable cultivation.

The county is well watered by numerous streams and lakes. The principal streams are Cattaraugus, (which forms a small portion of the north boundary,) Silver, Walnut,† Canadaway, Chautauqua and Twenty Mile creeks, flowing north into Lake Erie, and Conewango,‡ Cassadaga and French creeks, flowing

*It is a remarkable fact that the waters of Chautauqua Lake, which is distant only eight miles from Lake Erie, and a small stream flowing into the former, and distant less than five miles, are discharged by the Conewango, Allegheny, Ohio and Mississippi into the Gulf of Mexico.

†This creek received its name from a large black-walnut tree which stood near its bank, within the limits of the village of Silver Creek, and on the line of the old stage road from Buffalo to Cleveland. This tree measured nine feet in diameter three and one-half feet from the ground and ran up sixty feet to the first limbs. It was blown down April 22, 1822, and about 1829 a section fourteen feet in length was cut from the butt by Luther Heaton and Calvin Wood, who hollowed it out, leaving the shell about three inches thick, cut openings for a door and window, furnished it with a circular table, shelves, &c., and kept a grocery, with "Cake and Beer for Sale." Twelve men could be comfortably seated within it. On the opening of the Erie Canal in 1825 it was taken to Buffalo, put on board the first canal boat that ran the whole length of the canal, and conveyed to New York, where it was set up on the Bowery as a grocery. After a few years it was sent to London, where it was sold for £1500, and honored with a place in the British Museum, being regarded as the "great American curiosity." Titus Roberts, of Gowanda, Cattaraugus county, then a resident of Forestville and proprietor of the principal hotel there, was engaged in its removal eastward, and, as was currently reported, lost money in the enterprise.—[From statements of Mr. H. H. Hawkins, of Silver Creek, March 13, 1873; and Hon. Geo. W. Patterson at the semi-centennial celebration of the Fredonia Censor, in the issue of that paper of Feb. 8, 1871.

‡This name is variously spelled by different authors. On Guy Johnson's map of the frontiers of the northern colonies, &c., published in Doc. Hist. Vol. I. page 760, it is spelled Canawangan; on "A Map of the Genesee Country," accompanying a description of that country by Robert Munro, published in Doc. Hist. Vol. II. page 1170, Canawongo River; in French's Gazetteer of New York and Warren's Historical Sketches south, the first and last into Allegheny River, and Cassadaga, into the Conewango. The principal lakes are Chautauqua* and Cassadaga in the central, and Findleys in the west part.

Chautauqua Lake is a beautiful sheet of water, eighteen miles long, and from one to three miles wide. It extends diagonally nearly half across the country, and is navigable its entire length for steamboats. It is 726 feet above Lake Erie, and 1,291 feet above tide; and in 1846 it was pronounced by Emory F. Warren, "the highest body of water upon the globe navigated by steam." Upon the east it is bounded by fine sloping gravelly banks of exceeding richness and fertility, and on the west by level and in some places marshy shores. Its waters are supplied principally from springs, and their purity is attested by the depth to which objects within them are discernible, and the choice fish with which they abound. Its outlet forms a branch of the Conewango, and is navigable for steamers as far as Jamestown.

The rocks of this county belong to the Chemung and Portage groups. To superficial observation there are few rocks to be seen in the county, but examinations made along the deep ravines prove the existence of all the great masses further east. All the northern part of the county below the elevation of 1,400 feet above tide, or about 840 feet above Lake Erie, is underlaid by the shale and thin sandstone of the Portage group, which are distinguished from those above by the almost entire absence of all fossils except fucoids, as well as the greater predominance of shale. All the southern part as well as the highest portions of the northern part, are occupied by the Chemung group, readily known by the great number of shells of the genera strophomena, orthis, delthyris, avicula, &c., which characterize it everywhere. In this group the proportion of sand increases over that below, and in its upper part the larger proportion is sandstone. The strata composing the Portage group may be Chautauque County, Conewango; and in Spafford's Gazetteer of New York, Conewango. We have adopted the form of the word officially applied to the post office of the same name in Cattaraugus county, a course in which Hough, in his Gazetteer of New York, has preceded us. A similar remark is applicable to the word Cassadaga, the most noticeable deviation we have observed being sanctioned by Spafford, who writes it Cosdauga.

* The French named this lake Chadakoin, (Colonial History of the State of New York, Vol. VI. page 835;) in Benton's Dictionary of Geography, where a final e is substituted for the final a now in common use, it is pronounced Chau-tauc-ke-(e); and Warren, in his Historical Sketches of Chautauque County, (where it will be observed the final e is used,) says of the origin of the name "one authority derives it from a corruption of the Indian word Otsha-ta-ka, which signifies 'foggy place,' and was applied to the country around the head of Chautauqua Lake, which was said to be noted for the prevalence of its fogs. Another derives it from the words, Chaut-tauqua, in the [illegible] which signify "a pack is [illegible] the [illegible] which [illegible] to that object." Barber's Historical Collections of New York assigns [illegible] of the name to the same Indian word. On the map accompanying Munro's description of the Genesee country, before alluded to, the word is spelled Chautaughqua.

seen to advantage on the shore of Lake Erie, which consists of perpendicular bluffs from ten to one hundred feet in height; and those in the Chemung group, in the banks of Chautauqua Creek, six miles above Westfield, and in the outlet of Chautauqua Lake, below Jamestown. The latter may also be seen to some extent on Twenty Mile Creek, and in many of the ravines along the Conewango and Cassadaga valleys. They are nowhere seen, except in ravines on the banks of the streams. Many of the hills are capped with conglomerate, which is the highest rock in the county. It varies in thickness from five to six feet, and, when free from pebbles, forms a good building stone, being easily dressed and readily obtained in blocks of large dimensions. It is, in fact, almost the only building stone, exceeding a few inches in thickness, which can be obtained in the southern part of the county. At Panama it occurs on both sides of the stream, and follows the eastern slope of a hill for more than half a mile. Upon the stream it measured sixty feet thick, and lay in huge masses 60 or 70 feet long, and 20 or 40 feet wide and thick. These masses diminish in size and frequency toward the south, and soon disappear. They are separated by deep fissures, and are sometimes so arranged as to form caverns, which are so excluded from sunlight that snow and ice remain during the summer. Four miles north-west of Panama the conglomerate and sandstone cover the ground to a considerable depth. The whole is composed of fragments, most of them small, which are piled irregularly one above the other, as if rolled down from an eminence. The situation is at the foot of a hill on the western side. In Clymer this sandstone was formerly quarried for grindstones and other purposes. About three miles south-east of Panama, on the east side of the valley of the Little Broken Straw, the conglomerate is found, and still further east, on lot 13, the sandstone occupies the surface of two or three acres, outcropping on the northern and eastern sides of the hill. In digging a well near the summit of the hill, the same rock was found, covered with a layer of "fine beach sand." The rock beneath was fractured and the surface worn and smooth. Conglomerate has been quarried in considerable quantities upon a hill about two miles from Ashville; four miles north of Panama; and again one mile south-west of this. In the north part of Ellery conglomerate is found in loose blocks scattered thickly over the surface for a small extent, and is evidently the remains of a once continuous stratum; and again in the south-east corner of the county, upon a ridge extending southward between the Allegheny and Conewango, huge masses, consisting mainly of sandstone, lie scattered over the hill sides and tops, the thickest being about thirty feet. The sandstones of the Portage group crop out at Laona, Shumla, (where it is the terminating mass of the group,) in several places along the lake shore, and in excavations west of Fredonia. Shales and sandstones, differing in some degree, compose the whole assemblage of this group. In the lower part these are more intermingled, and the sand is finer; while in the higher part of this series the sand is often coarser, and generally less intermixed with shale. The Portage group forms the lower member of the division known as the thick bedded sandstones; its constituents are less separated than above; and the arenaceous strata are finer grained and always more argillaceous than in the Chemung group. The higher mass of sandstone in this group is very persistent, and forms a line of demarkation between the almost non-fossiliferous shales and sandstones below and those above, which are highly fossiliferous, and are a continuation of the Chemung group. Ripple marks are abundant in the shales which are interstratified with sandstone, but it is often difficult or impossible to obtain good specimens. Many of them have the appearance of having been produced by a current opposed to the direction of the wind. These strata give strong indications that at the time of their deposition the sea was alternately deep and shallow. The dark and green argillaceous shales bear no evidence of ripples or diagonal lamination, and their homogeneous nature implies that they were deposited in deep water. This group presents a great variety of concretionary forms, and from their shape and the fancied resemblance of the seams upon their surface to the lines of suture in the shells of the tortoise and turtle they are often mistaken for organic bodies. Hundreds are annually thrown down upon the beach of Lake Erie by the undermining action of the waves. Between Dunkirk and Portland Harbor they are frequently two or three feet in diameter, and not more than half a foot thick, and great numbers of them have been burned in that locality for hydraulic cement, for which they are well adapted. Lime has been manufactured to a limited extent from marl and bowlders of limestone. Large deposits of shell marl (the largest deposit in the county,) are found in Cassadaga Lake and the marshes which nearly divide it into two portions. There is also a bed of marl and tufa at the southern extremity of Chautauqua Lake, near Dexterville. The marl is made into the form of bricks and then burned. It has been used many years, and 2,000 bushels of lime have been made from it per annum. The existence of bowlders and fragments of limestone in various localities induced the belief that the same rock occurred in situ; but it is not found, except in detached fragments, south of the limestone terrace in Erie county. One of these masses, found near Forestville, yielded 150 barrels of lime. A few miles south-east of Fredonia was found a large mass of water lime, which burned into quicklime of a dark color. The county is practically destitute of earthy minerals—the various compounds of silica and alumina—and metallic minerals. Alum earth is found in the town of Sheridan, from which alum is formed by the action of the atmosphere. It is not, however, thought to be abundant.

This county presents by far the most interesting exhibition of the evolution of carbureted hydrogen which occurs in the State. This gas issues from the shales of the Portage group in various localities, but most profusely from the bed of Canadaway Creek, at Fredonia. The slate composing the bed of this stream has a blueish color, and some of the layers are exceedingly fragile, requiring only a few years exposure to be converted into a clayey soil. The lower strata, however, resist atmospheric agencies, and are sometimes used as a building material. When recently broken it emits a strong bituminous odor, and it frequently contains thin seams of a substance resembling bituminous coal. Most commonly, however, this bituminous matter occurs in patches, having more the appearance of detatched vegetable impressions than of a regular stratum. The escape of this gas is indicated by bubbles upon the surface of the water, both in this creek and on Lake Erie. It is sometimes accompanied by petroleum, which forms a pellicle upon the surface of the water. The gas burns with a white flame tinged with yellow above and blue near the orifice of the burner. It is used at Fredonia and Westfield for illuminating the villages and is supplied in ample quantity at the former place for all present purposes. The bituminous matter, through whose fissures the gas is so copiously disengaged, burns with a flame entirely resembling that of the gas. With the slate containing this bituminous matter, there alternates a sandstone, which everywhere contains small cavities, filled with petroleum, which gives out a strong bituminous odor. This liquid substance appears originally to have been diffused throughout the whole mass of the rock, both sandstone and slate, and to have given to it the peculiar character it now possesses. This gas is evolved at Barcelona and Van Buren Harbor, on Lake Erie; at Buffington's well;* in the town of Sheridan, six and a half miles from Fredonia; and on the west branch of Canadaway Creek, four miles south-east of that village. Formerly a light house at Barcelona was lighted with the gas which escapes in that locality; but since the light house was discontinued the village of Westfield has been supplied from this source. The origin of this gas is attributed by competent authority* to the action of heat upon the bituminous matter, from which it is evolved, or the decomposition by heat of animal and vegetable remains in what are now crystalline and metamorphic rocks. "Or it may be," says Prof. Beck, "that the same matter which in the upper strata is solid or liquid, is, at great depths, the gas kept in a liquid form by the pressure of the superincumbent strata. A fact which I observed at Fredonia, confirms this view, and in my opinion proves that there is, at some distance below the surface, a vast reservoir of gas, the evolution of which is prevented by the pressure exerted upon it. The fact to which I refer is, that when the water in the creek is low, bubbles of gas are often observed, which disappear entirely when the water has risen, as after a rain.[†] And again gas may be obtained at almost any part of the bank by boring to the depth of twenty or thirty feet.[‡] So common, indeed, is this occurrence, that many of the wells in the village of Fredonia are strongly charged with gas. It may also be added, that there are frequently to be observed in this vicinity, disruptions in the strata of slate, which have probably been caused by some expansive force exerted from beneath." This same gas is found issuing from strata from fifteen hundred to two thousand feet in thickness, and not less than four hundred miles in extent. Upon high ground, in a ravine on the west branch of Canadaway Creek, three miles south of Fredonia, upon what is known as the Frank farm, is a spring of light carbureted hydrogen, which is in constant ebulition. Sulphur springs are of frequent occurrence in the county, and apparently have some connection with the emission of carbureted hydrogen. In Fredonia many springs of this kind have been discovered; but they are said to lose their sulphurous character in a short time. This, however, is not the case with those found elsewhere. On the shore of Lake Erie, about a mile east of Van Buren Harbor, a spring, highly charged with sulphureted hydrogen, issues from the slate rock, nearly on a level with the lake. The water is cold and clear, but not very abundant in quantity. Its specific gravity is 1.00193 at 60 deg. F; and it contains minute portions of carbonate of lime, sulphate of lime and sulphate of soda. Another spring of a similar kind occurs near the sandstone quarries at Laona; and others are found in the town of Sheridan, a mile and a half from Lake Erie.

* Buffington's well is a boring, 612 feet deep, made on the shore of Lake Erie, a short distance below Barcelona, in search of salt water, on the supposition that at the level of tide water was reached, salt water would be found.—[Natural History of New York, Part III., Mineralogy, by Lewis C. Beck; and Warren's Historical Sketches of Chautauque County.

†It is proper to state that by boring wells the gas has been diverted to them and its presence is not indicated by bubbles on the surface of the creek as formerly. When the reservoir at Fredonia is full the surplus gas may be seen to bubble up with considerable force.

‡This assertion is disproved by the experiments instituted by Mr. Elias Forbes, President of the Fredonia Gas Company.

The soil of this county is composed chiefly by the decomposition of its underlying rocks. The valleys and low northern slopes are deeply covered with northern drift and alluvium, containing a large proportion of calcareous matter; while upon the higher grounds it is spread sparingly, and in many of the higher places it is wholly unknown. In consequence of its absence the character and productions of the soil of the hills and valleys are quite different. In some parts of the county underlaid by the portage group a deficiency in this matter is indicated by a different growth of timber, and a corresponding change in the products of the soil. When first cleared the land produces good crops of all the grains, but wheat does not always prove a sure crop after a few years cultivation. The soil derived from the lower part of this group is a stiff clay; but as we ascend the arenaceous matter increases, and the broken fragments of the sandy strata become intermixed with the finer materials, giving it the character of a clayey gravel, which is locally known as flat gravel, to distinguish it from that of the valleys, where the fragments are rounded by attrition into the form of pebbles. In the valleys and on the low northern slopes of the portage group, the soil produces wheat with the same facility and equal certainty as the formations north of it. As we ascend to the south, the wheat crops are less abundant and certain, and give place to the coarser crops and to pasturage. For the latter purpose the soil is superior to that north of it, and the evidence is fully substantiated by the important dairy interests of this section. The soil resulting from the decomposition of the Chemung group of rocks is a compact clayey loam, which, with the great abundance of the angular fragments of the rock, gives it the character of flat gravel. All the hills and a large portion of the higher ground are covered with it. Many of the lower valleys have evidently been overflowed with a quiet water, from which the fine loamy deposits have been made.*

*Bear, Cassadaga and Mud lakes have once been much more extensive than now; and by successive drainage, they have left marks of their subsidence along the sloping hills around them. The valleys of Cassadaga and Conewango creeks have evidently been extensive lakes, as would appear both from the nature of the materials in the bottom of these valleys, and from the evidences along the elevated grounds bordering them, as also from the narrow outlets worn through rocky strata. In the valley of Chautauqua Lake we find satisfactory evidence of its former great elevation in ridges or terraces of gravel and sand, which are particularly well defined upon the north side. Examinations about the outlet reveal the cause of this greater elevation in the past. It is not a present outlet, which was nearly in an easterly direction from the Cassadaga; where, as now, by the accumulation of large deposits of gravel, it is turned in a southerly direction, and only joins the Cassadaga valley by a channel excavated through the solid rock. This direction is seen very clearly by

Although the country bordering upon Lake Erie is subject to rigorous winters, it enjoys a certain immunity from those early frosts which prove so destructive to fruit in sections remote from it—a fact which gives it a peculiar value to the pomologist. A fact of little less importance, especially to the grape culturist, is the retardation of winter by the warm emanations from the lake. Vegetation along the shore of the lake remains verdant several weeks longer than in sections remote from it, allowing the wood of the more tender trees to mature and become sufficiently hardened to withstand the cold of winter. This imparts a degree of vigor and productiveness unknown in localities where growth is suddenly arrested by frost at a period of immaturity. The warm emanations from the lake, which retard the approach of winter, have their analogy in the cold emanations which retard the approach of spring, and check the tendency of premature growth and reactionary frosts. The lake's influence is, however, variable; but when the air does become sufficiently chilled at night to admit the formation of ice, the first rays of the rising sun are arrested by a haze, which soon thickens, and before noon a warm rain probably falls. The frost is abstracted so gradually from vegetation as not to impair the latter's vitality. Occasional exceptions to this occur, of which the year 1834 was a noticeable one. When the lake's warmth is most rapidly imparted to the incumbent atmosphere, strong southerly winds prevail at the earth's surface, while volumes of clouds, at a high elevation, may at the same time be moving rapidly in an opposite direction.* These emanations are condensed by the cool north winds, which commence about the middle of October, and pass off to the south, without, at first, discharging much rain. The latter part of October, as the cold from the north seems to gain the ascendancy, squalls of hail, rain and rounded snow appear alternately, with intervals of clear and warm weather, and as these premonitions always precede the autumnal frosts, no ap-examining its course on a map; and the wearing action upon the rocks are still visible at Dexterville below Jamestown. At the time the original outlet was obstructed, the waters of the lake must have been raised to more than thirty feet above the present level, overflowing for a great distance the low valleys on its western side and its northern extremity, and which exhibit clearly the evidence of such condition from the almost level deposits of fine alluvium which cover them.—[James Hall's Report of the Fourth Geological District of New York; to which, and to Lewis C. Beck's Report on the Mineralogy of the Fourth District of New York; Dana's System of Mineralogy; Rev. Dr. J. W. Armstrong, Principal of the Fredonia Normal and Training School; and Mr. Elias Forbes, President of the Fredonia Gas Company we are indebted for data relative to the natural history of this county.

* Says J. P. Kirtland, in Silliman's Journal of 1852, p. 217: "These counter-currents have sometimes given origin to a phenomenon in the city of Cleveland, not well understood by all of its good citizens. The vane of the lofty spire of the Baptist church, standing on a high ridge of ground, may point steadily to the north, while that of the low cupola of the First Presbyterian Church, situated on a less elevated position, may be directed to an opposite point of the compass, with a stiff southerly breeze at the same time."

prehensions for tender vegetables are felt until they make their appearance. During the winter comparatively little snow falls, and still less accumulates here, though it may be abundant on the higher grounds, thirty or forty miles in the interior. The long and severe droughts which often prevail in the summer, while the interior portions of the country enjoy bountiful showers, are in part counteracted by moisture in the atmosphere. The indigenous vegetation of this vicinity is of rather a southern type—shown by the absence in a great measure of evergreens, and the occurrence of more southern genera as the Judas tree, holley, horse chestnut, sacred bean, honey locust and magnolia. On the other hand, strange hyperborean plants are frequently found, which have been washed down from the north-west, through the chain of great lakes.*

The staple productions of the county are the cereals, especially spring wheat, in which this county ranks as ninth in the State, wine, of which considerable quantities of an excellent quality are made, butter, cheese, hay, grass seed, flax, maple sugar, maple molasses, and the products of the orchard and garden. The dairy interests, already important, are increasing in magnitude. For the number of pounds of butter made, this county ranks as fourth in the State. A belt of country bordering upon the shore of the lake, and from three to five miles wide, is largely devoted to the culture of grapes, for which it is admirably adapted. These are mainly converted into wine, a business which, in the town of Portland, is an important branch of industry. This county ranks as fifth in the number of gallons of wine made; first in the number of gallons of maple molasses; eighth in the number of tons of hay and pounds of flax; sixth in the value of its forest products; and tenth in the value of its orchard products.†

The manufactures of the county are rapidly increasing in importance and value, especially at Dunkirk and Jamestown.‡ Its commerce, once important, though, as at present, mainly confined to Dunkirk, has been seriously affected by the diversion of the main line of the Erie Railroad from Dunkirk, where it formerly terminated. Barcelona and Silver Creek are harbors of less note.

The county seat is still located at Mayville, at the head of Chautauqua Lake, and all the county buildings, except the poor house and insane asylum, are located there—upon, or adjacent to Main street, in the north-west part of the village. The court house, a plain two story brick structure, with a portico in front supported by six wooden pillars, was erected in 1834, at a cost of $11,000, and though commodious, evinces signs of dilapidation, and is illy heated and ventilated. The court room, jury room and ante-rooms occupy the upper story, and library and grand jury rooms the lower. The clerk's and surrogate's offices are opposite the court house. The latter was formerly occupied by both officers. They are both one story brick buildings. The new clerk's office stands north of the surrogate's office; and was built in 1860, at a cost of about $3,600, the appropriation of $2,500 made in 1860, being insufficient. It is 30 by 36 feet on the ground. The rear half, used for storing the records, is fire proof. The jail is a brick building situated south-east of the court house, and is 36 by 60 feet in the main part, two stories high, with a wooden addition about 30 by 60 feet on the south-east side, one and one-half stories high. The sheriff's family occupy the front third of the brick part and most of the wing, a portion, however, being occupied by the sheriff as an office. The rest of the brick part and the upper part of the wooden addition are used for the confinement of prisoners. There are twelve cells in the brick part, which is used for male prisoners. The females are confined in the upper part of the wooden addition, in a single room. At present there are fourteen inmates, six of whom are confined for intoxication, one for debt, on body execution, two for vagrancy, one for grand larceny, one for petit larceny, one for assault and battery, one for obtaining goods under false pretenses, and one for murder, all of whom are males. The jail is not sufficiently large, but is calculated to ensure the safety and comfort of the inmates, when the number does not exceed that it was designed to accommodate. The poor house and insane asylum are located about three-fourths of a mile north of Dewittville, upon a farm of 306 acres, valued at $24,480. They are elegant brick structures, suitably furnished, and evince a care for the welfare and comfort of their unfortunate inmates, which reflects much credit upon the county. The former was erected in 1870, replacing the one erected in 1832. The buildings are adjacent, and cost $60,000. Religious services are held at the poor house once in two weeks. The present number of paupers (May, 1873) is 120; of insane persons, 77. The poor house will accommodate 200 persons; the asylum, 60.

The insane who cannot be accommodated at the asylum are cared for at the poor house.*

The principal works of internal improvement are the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R., which enters the county at Irving and extends along the shore of the lake, through the towns of Hanover, Sheridan, Dunkirk, Portland, Westfield and Ripley; the Erie R. R., which enters the county near the center of the east line of Hanover, and extends through that town and Sheridan, in a westerly direction to the village of Dunkirk; the Atlantic and Great Western R. R., which connects with the Erie at Salamanca, enters the county in the north-east corner of Poland and runs in a south-westerly direction through Poland, Ellicott, Busti and Harmony; the Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburgh (or Cross Cut) R. R., which has recently passed under the management of the Allegheny Valley R. R. Co., enters the county in the south-west corner of Clymer, and passes in a northerly direction through that town, Sherman, Chautauqua and Portland to Salem on Erie, (Brocton Station) where it connects with the L. S. & M. S.; the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley and Pittsburgh R. R., which extends from the L. S. & M. S.R.R. at Dunkirk, through Dunkirk, Pomfret, Stockton, Gerry, Ellicott, Poland and Carroll, leaving the county in the south, west corner of the latter town; and the Jamestown and Buffalo R. R., which is now in process of construction, and, as surveyed, enters the county at the point where the A. & G. W. R. R. leaves it, runs parallel with that road to the point where it enters the county, passes into Cattaraugus county, again enters this county at Clear Creek, near the center of the east line of Ellington, and extends in a northerly direction to the north-east corner of Cherry Creek, where it again leaves the county.† A horse railroad connects Dunkirk and Fredonia, three miles distant. These facilities for travel and commerce are augmented by the traffic on Lake Erie and a line of steamboats‡

* From the Report of the Superintendent for the year ending October 16, 1872, we glean the following facts: The number of persons relieved at the poor house during the year was 246; at the asylum, 86. The average number at the poor house was 121; at the asylum, 63. The number at the poor house at the end of the year was 98; at the asylum, 67. The average number in both houses during the year was 184. Twelve died at the poor house; and two died, two absconded, and fifteen were discharged at the Asylum. "The total expense for the support of each person for the year, after deducting $1,192.81 for money received for board and care at the Poor House and Asylum from various sources, [was] $12.10." The number of persons relieved at the poor house and asylum during the year was 4,051. The total amount expended for the support of the poor during the year was $26,935.02. The value of supplies and personal property on hand at the end of the year was $14,367.30.

† "Chautauqua county already has more miles of railroad than any other county in the State," and other lines are projected, but the projects are too vague at present to warrant details.

‡ There is at present but one boat—the Jamestown—making regular trips, though another is being built to take the place of the Chautauqua, which exploded her boiler about 9:45 P. M., Aug. 14, 1871, while taking in wood at Whitney's Landing, six miles down the lake. By this accident, of some 28 persons who were on board at the time, nine were killed immediately, or died soon after from wounds received, fourteen were seriously wounded and five were slightly wounded.

on Chautauqua Lake, connecting Mayville at the head of that lake with Jamestown on its outlet.

This county and Cattaraugus compose the Thirty-Second Congressional and Senatorial Districts; it is in the Eighth Judicial District of the State; and it forms two Assembly Districts—the first being composed of the towns of Busti, Chautauqua, Clymer, Ellery, French Creek, Harmony, Mina, Portland, Ripley, Sherman, Stockton and Westfield; and the second of Arkwright, Carroll, Charlotte, Cherry Creek, Dunkirk, Ellicott, Ellington, Gerry, Hanover, Kiantone, Poland, Pomfret, Sheridan and Villenova.

There are eleven newspapers published in the county—two dailies and nine weeklies.

THE FREDONIA CENSOR, (weekly) the oldest paper published in the county, was commenced in March, 1821, by Henry C. Frisbee, who continued it for seventeen years. In 1838 it was purchased by E. and Jonas Winchester, and was published by the former for three years; after which it was sold to R. Cunnington, who published it one year. In 1842, it was purchased by Willard McKinstry, who, in 1852, admitted as partner A. Winthrop McKinstry, his brother, and the paper was published under the firm name of McKinstry & Bro. until 1865, when A. W. McKinstry severed his connection with it. The senior member published it alone two years, and in 1867, Louis McKinstry, his son, became a partner, and the paper has since been published under the firm name of McKinstry & Son.*

The JAMESTOWN JOURNAL (daily and weekly) was commenced as a weekly in June, 1826, by Adolphus Fletcher, and was continued by him until 1846. It was then issued by John W. Fletcher, a son of the original proprietor, for two years, when it passed into the hands of F. W. Palmer, who continued at the head of the establishment until 1858, having had in the meantime associated with him as partners, Francis P. Bailey, Ebenezer P. Upham and C. D. Sackett. Mr. Palmer's interest was purchased by C. E. Bishop, and the paper was then published by Sackett & Bishop until the death of the former in 1862. The firm then became Bishop Bros., by the admission of Prentice E. Bishop, and remained such until the death of Prentice. The paper was published by C. E. Bishop alone until May 1, 1866, when Alex. M. Clark became a member of the firm. June 1, 1868, Mr. Clark purchased the interest of Mr. Bishop, and became sole proprietor, and Jan. 1,

* The Censor was first started as the New York Censor, as, "being so near Pennsylvania, and that State then supposed to be made up mostly of thick-headed Dutchmen, I wanted to avoid being thought located over the line."—[Speech of Mr. Frisbee at the Semi-Centennial Celebration of the Censor.

1870, he established the Jamestown Daily Journal. Aug. 14, 1871, he sold a half interest to Davis H. Waite, since which time the papers have been published by Clark & Waite.

The MAYVILLE SENTINEL (weekly) was started in the fall of 1834, by Hons. Thos. A. Osborne and Wm. Smith and Mr. Samuel S. Whallon, with Judge Osborne as editor. It was a Democratic organ, and its management was entrusted to Timothy Kibbe, a practical printer. The following year it passed into the hands of Hon. Beman Brockway, (now connected with the Times and Reformer, at Watertown,) who purchased it in 1836, and became its editor and proprietor. In the fall of 1837, Horace E. Purdy became interested with Mr. Brockway in its publication, and continued his interest a year or more. In April, 1844, Mr. Brockway sold the establishment to John F. Phelps, by whom the paper is still published.

The CHAUTAUQUA DEMOCRAT, (daily and weekly,) was commenced at Jamestown, as The Liberty Star, by Harvey A. Smith, in 1847. In 1849 it passed into the hands of Adolphus Fletcher, and was changed to The Northern Citizen. In 1853, John W. Fletcher became proprietor; and in 1855 it received its present name, and was published by Adolphus Fletcher, with James Parker as editor. In 1860, A. Brooks Fletcher, son of Adolphus, became a member of the firm, and the paper was published by Fletcher & Co. until Oct. 1, 1862, when Davis H. Waite purchased the interest of Adolphus Fletcher, the senior member, after which the paper was published by Fletcher & Waite about three and a half years. Mr. Waite then sold his interest to his partner, who published it alone until August, 1872, when Rev. Edward Anderson purchased an interest. The firm name then became Fletcher & Anderson, and a daily was started and published in connection with the weekly, and is still continued. March 1, 1873, Mr. Anderson retired from the firm, but he is still associated with Mr. Fletcher in the editorial management.*

THE DUNKIRK JOURNAL, (weekly.) was started at Dunkirk as The Chautauqua Journal, in May, 1850, by W. L. Carpenter, who during his management started a daily—The Dunkirk Daily Journal—which he published about two months. In a short time from its commencement the present name was given the weekly. In 1861, Mr. Carpenter sold it to Beecher & Sill, who published it about three years, and then sold it to Rev. Isaac George, by whom it was published a short time and sold to Willard A. Cobb. After about two years, it again passed into the hands of Mr. George, and was by him sold Dec. 1, 1871, to Amos K. Warren and Cyrus D. Angel, in whose interest it was published by Geo. R. Dean, who was the putative owner. It was published by them until March 1, 1872, when it was purchased by Willard McKinstry & Sons, who still continue to publish it under the style of The Dunkirk Journal Company. Mr. George started a daily during his connection with the paper, but issued only one number.

*On the night of Jan. 21, 1871, the office and all its effects were destroyed by the fire which consumed the Broadhead Block. Mr. Fletcher repaired immediately to New York and purchased material which he moved into the building now occupied, and which he purchased for the purpose. In the interim the paper was published at the Journal office, and not an issue was omitted.

THE ADVERTISER AND UNION, (weekly,) published at Dunkirk and Fredonia, was started Dec. 25, 1868, by the unification of The Dunkirk Union and Fredonia Advertiser, the former published by Monroe D. Cushing, and the latter by C. E. Benton, who are still associated in the publication of this paper, under the firm name of Benton & Cushing.*

The WESTFIELD REPUBLICAN, (weekly,) "the first Republican paper in the State," was commenced April 25, 1855. It was first edited by M. C. Rice, and continued in his hands until March, 1873, when it was purchased by J. H. & F. A. Hall, the present proprietors.

THE CHAUTAUQUA NEWS, (weekly,) was started at Sherman, as The Sherman News, April 6th, 1868, by B. D. Southworth, who moved it to Mayville, and changed its name to that it now bears, Oct. 20, 1870, and still continues its publication.

The CHAUTAUQUA FARMER (weekly) was started at Dunkirk in January, 1869, by J. M. Lake, and in September of that year was removed to Forestville. In February, 1870, it was purchased by A. G. Parker, who admitted H. I. Russell as a partner, under the firm name of Parker & Russell. In February, 1871, Parker bought Russell's interest, and immediately sold a half interest to F. Hendricks, the firm then

* The Dunkirk Union was started in 1860, by L. P. Osmer and C. E. Daily, under the firm name of Osmer & Daily, who purchased the material used in printing The Dunkirk Press and Western Argus, and issued the first number of the paper Oct. 16, 1860. June 3, 1862, Osmer sold his interest to George R. Dean, when the firm name became Dean & Daily. Dean purchased Daily's interest Nov. 17, 1863, and published it alone till May 4, 1866, when he sold it to Monroe D. Cushing, by whom it was published until united with the Fredonia Advertiser.

The Fredonia Advertiser was started as a Whig paper, July 4, 1851, by Col. A. E. Tyler and Joseph Shepard, under the firm name of Tyler & Shepard, with Levi L. Pratt as editor. April 30th, 1852, it was purchased by L. L. Pratt and J. Burrows, and was published under the firm name of L. L. Pratt & Co., with Pratt as senior editor and proprietor, until August 12, 1861, undergoing various changes in proprietors associated with Mr Pratt, and a change, in 1855, to an American organ, and, again, in 1859, to a Democratic paper. Pratt, Morgan & Hilton sold it in 1864 to J. C. Mullett and C. E. Benton, who published it under the firm name of Mullett & Benton, until March 31, 1865, when Mr. Benton purchased his partner's interest, and continued it until uniting it with The Dunkirk Union.

The first issue under these associations was dated Jan. 1, 1869.

The design of uniting the two papers was to lessen the expense and increase the efficiency, by making one strong paper from two comparatively weak ones; at the same time securing to each village a local representation in its columns. In the opinion of the publishers, the experiment has been highly successful. The respective offices are continued.

becoming Parker & Hendricks, by whom the paper is still published. It is devoted to the interests of agriculture and the family circle.*

* The following is a list of the publications which have been issued in this county and are now obsolete:

The Chautauque Gazette, the first paper published in the county, was started at Fredonia, in January, 1817, by James Percival. It was subsequently published by Carpenter & Hull, and by James Hull, and was suspended in 1822. It was revived by James Hull in 1823, and continued till 1826, when it was united with the People's Gazette, and published a short time by Hull & Snow as

The Fredonia Gazette, when it was removed to Dunkirk by Mr. Hull, and changed to

The Dunkirk Gazette. In a few months it was removed to Westfield, and united with The Chautauque Phœnix.

The People's Gazette was started at Forestville in 1824, by Wm. S. Snow. In 1826 it was removed to Fredonia and united with The Chautauque Gazette.

The Chautauque Eagle was started at Mayville in May, 1819, by Robt. J. Curtis, and was published about one year.

The Western Star was started at Westfield in June, 1826, by Harvey Newcomb, and was discontinued after two years. It was soon after revived as

The Chautauque Phœnix, by Hull & Newcomb. In 1831 its name was changed to

The American Eagle, and was issued by G. W. Newcomb. In 1838 it was changed to

The Westfield Courier, and was issued a short time by G. W. Bliss.

The Chautauque Republican was started at Jamestown in 1828, by Morgan Bates. Richard K. Kellogg, Lewis C. Todd, Chas. McLean, Alfred Smith and Wm. H. Cutler were successively interested in its publication until 1832, when it passed into the hands of S. S. C. Hamilton, and its name was changed to

The Republican Banner. It was soon after removed to Mayville, and in a few months was discontinued.

The Genius of Liberty was started at Jamestown in 1829, by Lewis C. Todd, and was continued about two years.

The Western Intelligencer was published a short time at Forestville in 1833.

The Chautauque Whig was started at Dunkirk in August, 1834, by Thompson & Carpenter. About 1844 its name was changed to

The Dunkirk Beacon, and it was discontinued a short time afterward.

The Westfield Lyceum was started in 1835 and issued a short time by Sheldon & Palmer.

The Western Democrat and Literary Inquirer was started at Fredonia in 1835, by Wm. Verrinder. It was successively issued by Randall, Crosby & Co. and Arba K. Maynard, and by the latter it was removed to Van Buren Harbor in 1837, and issued as

The Van Buren Times. It soon after passed into the hands of W. H. Cutler, and was continued about two years.

The Western Farmer was started at Westfield in 1855, by Bliss & Knight, and was published about two years.

The Settler was issued a short time in 1850 from the Fredonia Censor office, by E. Winchester.

The Westfield Advocate was commenced in May, 1841, and was published only a few months.

The Westfield Messenger was started in August, 1841, by C. J. J. & T. Ingersoll. In 1851 it passed into the hands of Edgar W. Dennison, and was changed to

The Westfield Transcript. Buck & Wilson published it about one year from 1856.

The Panama Herald was started at Panama in August, 1846, by Dean & Hurlbut. Steward & Pray afterward became proprietors, and continued it till 1848.

The Frontier Express was started in June, 1846, by Cutler, Cottle & Perham. In 1849 it was changed to

The Fredonia Express, and was published by J. P. Cobb & Co., and afterward by T. A. Osborne & Co. In 1850 it was changed to

The Chautauque Union, and was published a short time by E. F. Foster.

The Silver Creek Mail was started at Silver Creek in 1848, by John C. Van Duzen. In 1852 it was changed to

The Home Register, and was published by Samuel Long. In 1854 Samuel Wilson became proprietor and changed it to

The Silver Creek Gazette, and continued it till 1856, assisted by Amos Wright, when it was discontinued. In August of that year it was revived as

The Lake Shore Mirror, by H. M. Morgan. He was succeeded by Geo. A. Martin, who published it until [illegible]

[illegible] a temperance paper, was published at Mayville by Lloyd Mills a short time about 1850.

The Countercurrent was published at Jamestown a short time in 1851–2, by Harvey A. Smith.

The Jamestown Herald was started in August, 1852, by Dr. Asaph Rhodes. In 1853

Previous to the occupancy of the country embraced in this county by the whites it was the home of the Eries, a powerful yet pacific tribe of Indians who flourished at the beginning of the seventeenth century. Occupying a position upon the banks of the Niagara, between the Wyandots, (who, until the advent of the French belonged to the Iroquois,) allied with the Algonquins and French, on the one side, and the five nations of the Iroquois, the allies of the Dutch and English, on the other, the Eries pursued a policy of neutrality in the feuds which continually engaged these war-like parties—a course which appeared their only means of salvation—and were known as the Neutrals. Their queen, Yagowanea, was constituted an arbiter between the hostile tribes, and her authority was acknowledged far beyond her own territory; but an overt act in granting vengeance to the Mississaques for the murder of their chief's son, made her tribe the implacable enemies of the Senecas and, after long and bloody wars, brought destruction and banishment upon her people. Next the Iroquois extended their lordly sway to these vast dominions, and maintained their supremacy until the advent of the whites. But, we believe, there is neither tradition, nor physical evidence in the face of the country to indicate that this county was once the seat of any considerable Indian village.* In 1701 the Iroquois ceded to the English for protection their lands around lakes Erie and Ontario.† In 1782, a party consisting of three hundred British soldiers and five hundred Indians, from Canada, with a train of artillery and other munitions of war, spent the months of June and July around Chautauqua Lake in constructing canoes and making other preparations for an attack upon Fort Pitt, near Pittsburgh, Pa. They designed to descend the Allegheny River, and a dam was constructed across the outlet of the lake

Joseph B. Nessel became proprietor, removed it to Ellington Center, and changed its name to The Ellington Luminary. It was discontinued in 1856.

The Philomathian Exponent was issued at Ellington by the students of the academy in 1852.

The Botanic Medical Journal was published a short time at Fredonia.

The Davidson was published a short time at Fredonia.

The Western Argus was started at Westfield, by John Young, in 1856, and published about nine months, when James Steward purchased and removed it to Dunkirk, and commenced the publication of

The Dunkirk Press and Western Argus, which he continued until the summer of 1860, when it passed into the hands of Patrick Barrett, who published only one or two numbers.

The Chautauqua Republican was started at Mayville in 1860, but only eighteen numbers were issued.

The Lake Shore Enterprise was removed to Westfield from North East, Pa., in the fall of 1868. It was edited by S. O. Hayward, and was Republican in politics. In the spring [illegible] to Youngstown, N. Y.

The Irving Democrat was published at Irving a short time by Col. Tyler.

to raise the water sufficiently to carry them down on the flood when the obstruction was removed.* The party had embarked in canoes preparatory to making the descent, but information received through their spies caused them to abandon the project.†

The county is included in the Holland Purchase, which embraced all that part of the State lying west of the west line of Phelps and Gorham's Purchase, and its settlement was commenced under the auspices of the Holland Land Co.‡ This

* While the people of Jamestown and vicinity, during the period of unusual drought in 1822, were engaged in deepening the outlet of Chautauqua Lake, to increase the supply of water for hydraulic purposes, was found a row of piles from three to four inches in diameter, and from three to five feet in length, driven firmly into the earth across the bed of the stream, and covered with gravel. It is fair to presume that these obstructions were placed there by the party above referred to. [Warren's Historical Sketches of Chautauque County, p 35.

‡ By the terms of its Colonial charter Mass. embraced the whole region between its north and south boundaries, from the Atlantic to the Pacific; and the title to this territory was claimed by Mass. after the Revolution. The subsequent charter of New York conflicted with this claim and difficulties arose, which were finally settled by a commission, at Hartford, Conn., Dec. 16, 1786. Mass. ceded to New York the sovereignty of all the territory claimed by it lying within the limits of the latter, and New York ceded to Mass. the right to pre-empt the soil from the Indians. The line defining the tract covered by this agreement is known as the "Pre-Emption Line," and extends from the 82d mile-stone on the line between New York and Penn., directly north through Seneca Lake to Great Sodus Bay. The line first run, and known as the "Old Pre-Emption Line," was made to deflect to the west, in the interest of Seth Reed and Peter Ryckman, who had secured a patent for 10,000 acres of land, lying between Seneca Lake and the east bounds of the land ceded to Mass., and were desirous that their tract should include the village of Geneva. In 1787 Mass. sold the whole tract ceded, containing about 6,000,000 acres, to Oliver Phelps and Nathaniel Gorham, for one million dollars. In July 1788, Mr. Phelps concluded a treaty with the Indians for 2,250,000 acres, bounded east by the pre-emption line, west by a line twelve miles west of, and running parallel with the Genesee River, south by the Penn. line, and north by Lake Ontario. Messrs. Phelps and Gorham suspected error or fraud in the running of the old line, and Robert Morris, who was also convinced of its inaccuracy, ordered a re-survey, which was made by Andrew Ellicott and Augustus Porter, under the superintendence of Maj. Hoops. A corps of ax-men were employed, and a vista thirty feet wide opened before the transit instrument, until the line reached Seneca Lake, when night signals were employed to run down and over the lake. Such care was taken to insure correctness, that the new survey was never disputed. The deviation in the old line commenced soon after leaving the Penn. line, gradually bearing off until it crossed the outlet of Crooked Lake, where an abrupt offset was made, and then an inclination for a few miles almost in a north-west course; then, as if fearful that it was running west farther than was necessary to secure a given object, the line was made to incline to the east until it passed the foot of Seneca Lake, when it was run nearly north and south to Lake Ontario, terminating three miles west of Sodus Bay, while the new line terminates very near the center of the head of the bay. The strip of land between the two lines was called "The Gore." In addition to the patent granted to Reed and Ryckman, the State, presuming the original survey to be correct, had made other grants, and allowed the location of military land warrants upon what had been made disputed territory. As an equivalent to the purchasers of this tract, compensation lands were granted by the State in the present towns of Galen and Wolcott, Wayne county. The portion of the tract to which the Indian title was not extinguished was abandoned by Phelps and Gorham, and reverted to Mass. It was re-sold by that State to Robert Morris, May 11, 1791; and at the same time including about seven-eighths of the whole was sold to the Holland Land Co., July 20, 1792.—Morris reserving a tract of [illegible] which is known as the "Morris Reserve." The Holland Purchase and Morris Reserve commenced upon the Penn. line, twelve miles west of the west line of the Phelps and Gorham Purchase, and from thence ran due north to near the center of Sheldon, Genesee Co., thence due west 2.07875 miles, and thence due north to Lake Ontario. This line was run in 1798, and is known as the transit line.

company consisted of an association of capitalists in Holland, who made the purchase through agents who were citizens of this country, as at that time aliens could not hold real estate. Their general office was at Philadelphia. Joseph Ellicott was the principal surveyor of the company; he completed the surveys in ten or twelve years. In 1800 he received the appointment of local agent, and for a period of more than twenty years he had almost exclusive control of the company's local business. He conducted the large and complicated business committed to his charge with marked ability, and he was highly honored throughout the extensive domain over which he exerted so commanding an influence.

The first settlement was made near the mouth of Cattaraugus Creek in 1797, by Amos Sottle, who came through the wilderness from Chenango county, and built a log hut near the village of Irving, about one and one-half miles above the mouth of the creek. The two following years Sottle assisted Joseph Ellicott in his surveys of the Holland Company's lands and had the lot upon which he had made improvements booked to him by Mr. Ellicott. In the fall of 1799, after Mr. Ellicott had completed his surveys for the season, Sottle went to Sandusky, Ohio, and returned in 1801, accompanied by William Sidney and Capt. Rosecrantz. During Sottle's absence, in 1800, a family named Skinner, from the Susquehanna country in Pennsylvania, came and opened a small house of entertainment on Cattaraugus Creeek, near the spot afterwards known as the "Mack Stand," and more recently, and until the year 1841, as the "Cattaraugus House,". Charles Avery came about the time of Sottle's return from Ohio, and opened a small store. He traded with the Indians and received fur in exchange for goods. At that time there were no settlements nearer than Buffalo on the east and Erie on the west.* In 1800 the county from its having been run with a transit instrument, then first used in surveys. The offset in this line was made to prevent the Holland Company's lands from overlapping the Coun. Tract of 100,000 acres, in Orleans and Genesee counties.

*It is proper to state that there is a conflict of authority among local historians as to when, where and by whom the first settlement was made. The only respectable authority conflicting with the above data which has come to our notice, is that of Judge E. T. Foote, of New Haven, Conn., formerly an honored resident of this county; but as his information, like our own and that of our predecessors, is derived from tradition or data based upon tradition, at least to a very great extent, his opinion must be fallible and is entitled to credence only in the degree that it is supported by collateral evidence. But as far as our observation extends the weight of evidence is against him. Our position is supported by French, in his New York State Gazetteer; by Warren, in his Historical Sketches of Chautauqua County, who, though he says Col. James McMahan made "the first attempt to subdue the dark old forest," in 1802 [illegible] the village of Westfield, and [illegible] also says on the same page [illegible] "formerly four years previously to 1800, Amos Sottle had located near Cattaraugus Creek in the present town of Hanover; after which he was absent for several years, and finally returned and became a permanent citizen. Two or three other persons came into the county and located near the same spot at about the same period."

was surveyed into townships, each six miles square, except those bordering upon the lake. These townships were subsequently subdivided into lots. In 1802 Gen. Paine, who was employed by the State of Connecticut, opened a wagon road from Buffalo to Chautauqua Creek, to render more accessible to emigrants the Connecticut Reserve Lands in Ohio. This road was soon after continued to the Pennsylvania line. In 1803 the first mail was received in Buffalo. It was carried on horse-back once in two weeks until 1806, when a weekly route was established. In the latter year a mail route was established between Buffalo and Erie, the first mail being carried in a handkerchief by a man named Metcalf, who went on foot. During the war of 1812, the settlement was slightly interrupted, especially in the frontier towns, which experienced those frequent alarms from reported and actual invasions of the enemy, the danger from which, however, was less real than apparent. Many of the settlers in this county participated in the engagements at Black Rock and Buffalo. After the war came the cold season of 1816, in which crops were almost a failure. The privations and sufferings of most of the settlers were great. Many families were months without bread.* After this season of great scarcity the settlements increased rapidly, and, although the products of the fields and orchards were abundant, there were no markets and the settlers, many of whom were very poor, found it extremely difficult to pay for their lands, which were usually contracted on long terms of payment. Black salts was the only thing which could be readily converted into cash, and the money thus realized furnished the chief means by which the settlers were able to meet their engagements with the land company. Their embarrassments were augmented by the sale, in 1835, of the outstanding contracts and unsold lands of the Holland Land Company to Cary & Lay, of Batavia. The new proprietors demanded compound interest on all sums due, and an increase of one-third upon all extensions of contracts. The conditions thus imposed aroused the indignation of the settlers, and measures were concerted

Also by O. W. Johnson, in A Memoir of Judge Zattu Cushing, delivered before the [illegible] and Historical Association of Fredonia, Jan. 8, 1861, where he says, (page 3,) (speaking of Judge Cushing's journey to Erie, Penn., in 1799.) "At that time the only [illegible] out of the county was Amos Sottle, located near Irving. His log cabin was the only habitation of white man between Buffalo and Erie;" and by Mr. H. H. Hawkins, of Silver Creek, who, in speaking of Sottle's settlement at the time and under the circumstances mentioned in the text, says in a letter dated March 15th 1853, "By personal acquaintance with Sottle for more than thirty years, and the testimony of [illegible] given to me nearly forty years since, establish the matter most [illegible] in my mind. Mr. S[illegible] was a truthful man, and in his life would not [illegible]." The [illegible] to McMahan's settlement agree substantially [illegible] his assertion that Sottle was absent an indefinite period of "several years" is evidently incorrect.

which resulted in the demolition of the land office at Mayville and the destruction of the records, which were burned in the public highway.* The difficulties engendered by these harsh measures were not remedied until 1838, in which year the interests of the Batavia Company were transferred to Duer, Morrison & Seward, who, by pursuing a policy calculated to ensure justice both to themselves and their tenants, restored harmony.

The prompt and efficient measures instituted in this county to raise troops during the successive crises of the war of the Rebellion reflect great credit upon its citizens. A regimental camp was organized at Westfield, Sept. 9th, 1861, under Capt. W. H. Knapp, at which the 9th (Stoneman's) cavalry was formed. In 1862 Jamestown was designated as the rendezvous for those enlisted in the 32d Senatorial District, (Cattaraugus and Chautauqua counties,) and in the summer and fall of that year the 112th and 159th regiments of N. Y. Vols. were organized there. Besides these, portions of the 15th and 22d cavalry, the 49th, 64th and 187th infantry and the 7th independent company of sharpshooters were raised in this county.

* The land office, and vault in which the records were stored, were the property of Judge Wm Peacock, who was appointed the agent of the company for this county, and opened his office in Mayville, in November, 1810. The vault, a strong stone structure, is still standing upon the grounds surrounding the residence of Mr. Peacock. The stone work, what little was disturbed by the mob, has been repaired, and the iron door, demolished by the same agency, superseded by a wooden one. It looks substantial and gives promise of standing many ages if left to decay through natural agency. Mr. Peacock retained the agency until the sale of the Holland Company's interest in 1835. He is still living on the old homestead, in the house erected by him soon after his location there, to which, however, a more modern brick addition has been made. He is in his 94th year. His mental faculties are vigorous, though he is slightly deaf, and is, at present, suffering from the effects of a fall sustained some eighteen months since, which seriously impairs his power of locomotion.

GAZETTEER OF TOWNS.

ARKWRIGHT was formed from Pomfret and Villenova, April 30, 1829.* A part of Pomfret was annexed in 1830. It is an interior town, lying north-east of the center of the county, and contains 21,202 acres. The surface is an elevated upland, broken and hilly in the south-west, and rolling in the north-east. The highest summit, near the center, is 1,000 to 1,200 feet above Lake Erie. Its streams are the head waters of Conewango, Canadaway and Walnut creeks, the former flowing in a southerly, and the latter two in a northerly direction. Upon Canadaway Creek, in the south-west part, on the Samuel Ball farm, is a fine cascade of twenty-five to thirty feet fall. Above the falls the water courses for several miles through a deep and narrow ravine. The quiet basin at the foot of the falls has a local reputation for trout. Mud Lake upon the east border covers an area of about ten acres. The soil is a clayey and gravelly loam.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,030, of whom 935 were native, 107, foreign, 1,025, white and 5, colored.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained nine school districts, and employed nine teachers. The number of children of school age was 372; the whole number attending school, 292; the average attendance, 159; the amount expended for school purposes, $2,440.29; and the value of school houses and sites, $4,400.

* The first town meeting was held in the house of Simeon Clinton, Mar. 2, 1830, and the following named officers were chosen: Wm. Wilcox, Supervisor; Aaron Fost[illegible] Town Clerk; Andrew M. Huyck, Daniel Harrington and Lucas Tucker, Assessors; Isaac Thompson, Joel White and Aaron Van Sleet, Commissioners of Highways; Israel Wooster, Collector; Silas Mayo and Chas. Crawford, Overseers of the Poor; [illegible] Wilcox and Lewis [illegible], Constables; Andrew [illegible], Lansing C. [illegible] and James [illegible], Justices of the Peace; John D. [illegible] and Israel Wooster, Constables; Isaac Dampman, Joan G. Curtis and Lewis L. [illegible] forth, Justices of the Peace.

ARKWRIGHT SUMMIT (p. o.) is situated in the east part of the town.

ARKWRIGHT is a hamlet situated a little north of the center.

Settlement was commenced in 1807 by Byron T. Orton, Benj. Perry* and Augustus Burnham, from the eastern part of the State, in the north-west part. Aaron Wilcox settled in 1809, Nathan Eaton in 1810, Uriah L. Johnson, and Jonathan and Benj. Sprague, near the center, in 1811, A. and Z. Wilson and Robert Cowden, in 1812, and Simeon Clinton, from Otsego county, at the center, in 1813. The first child born in the town was Horatio Nelson Johnson, May 11, 1811. The first death, which occurred in 1813, was that of Augustus Burnham. The first marriage was contracted in 1814, by Chauncey Andrews and Miss Louisa Wilson. Isaiah Martin built the first framed house, and kept the first store and tavern. Lucy Dewey taught the first school, near the center of the town, in the summer of 1813. Benj. Orton built the first saw mill in 1818, on the east branch of Canadaway Creek. The first religious services were held at the house of Aaron Wilcox, in 1810, by Rev. John Spencer. The first church (Baptist) was organized by Elder Thomas Grennel, in 1820.

BUSTI † was formed from Ellicott and Harmony, April 16, 1823.‡ A part was annexed to Ellicott, May 7, 1845. It lies upon the south border of the county, a little east of the center, and contains 29,152 acres. The surface is broken and hilly, and is drained by Stillwater Creek, the principal stream, which flows east to the Conewango, and by several smaller streams flowing north into Chautauqua Lake, which forms a portion of the north boundary of the town. The soil is a clay and gravelly loam.

The Atlantic & Great Western R. R. extends through the north border of the town, in close proximity to the lake.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,844, of whom 1,586 were native, 258, foreign, 1,824, white and 20, colored.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained thirteen school districts and employed fourteen teachers. The number of children of school age was 622; the number attending school, 503; the average attendance, 254; the amount expended for school purposes, $2,946.46; and the value of school houses and sites, $5,200.

* An incident is related of Mr. Perry, which occurred in 1813, while crossing Lake Erie, in company with Judge Cushing and Deacon Barrett, in an open boat from Canada, whither they had been to mill. A storm arose which threatened their frail bark with destruction. Deacon Barrett, very much alarmed, was about to commence praying, but the more practical Perry deterred him and admonished him to take the oar and row, or they would "all go to the devil."

BUSTI CORNERS, (Busti p. o.) situated on Stillwater Creek, a little south-east of the center of the town, contains two churches, (Baptist and M. E.) one school, one hotel, four stores, two shoe shops, one harness shop, three wagon shops, three blacksmith shops, one cooper shop, a box and basket manufactory and a population of about 300. It is the only village and post office in the town.

Settlement was commenced in December, 1810, by John L. Frank, who came in company with John Steward from Frankfort, Herkimer county, and took up a tract of land, on which he settled about two and one-half miles from the village. His family, consisting of wife and two children, came in February, 1811, in company with his father, three brothers, with their families, and the family of John Steward. Their nearest neighbors were four miles distant. Mr. Frank was born at Frankfort, Herkimer county, the native place of his parents, Nov. 28, 1786. Nov. 22, 1807, at the age of twenty-one, he married Lucretia Chapman, daughter of Noah and Ann Chapman, of Colchester, New London county, Conn. They have raised a family of fifteen children, ten of whom have become heads of families. Both are still living, the former being 86 years old, and his wife 81. During their married life of nearly sixty-six years they have had to employ a hired girl only sixteen weeks. They still continue to do their work, Mr. Frank managing alone a garden of two acres. John Demings also settled in Busti in 1810. Michael Frank, brother of John L., who came in 1811, died in 1869, aged eighty years. Jonas Lamphear, from New Lisbon, Otsego county, and Uriah Bentley, from the same county, settled in the town in 1811. Lamphear, with his wife and three children, came on the first day of January and located on land purchased the previous year, lying about a mile south of Ashville, and built a log cabin near where the depot on the A. & G. W. R. R. now stands. He removed in 1835 to Illinois, remaining there twelve years, and again in 1847 to Oregon, where he remained fifteen years. He is now living here, aged 89 years. Bentley died Sept. 28, 1860, aged 82 years. His remains rest upon the farm on which he first settled. Heman Bush, from Herkimer county, and Theron Plumb, from Mass., settled on lot 69 in 1811. Homer Wellman, from Whitestown, Oneida county, purchased land in this town in 1810, and settled upon it in March, 1811. He came with his family and goods, drawn in a covered sled by an ox team, bringing with him a cow. They were eighteen days on the way. They arrived at the house of Myron Bly, on Chautauqua Lake, the latter part of February, and remained there a week or more until a shanty could be built on the lands he had taken up, two and one-half miles south of Ashville, which then contained but one house. They moved into their house, in the midst of a dense forest, the first or second of March, their nearest neighbor being Jonas Lamphear. What grain they had ground at that early day Mr. Wellman carried upon his back through the woods to Frew's mills in Penn., a distance of eight miles. In 1812 Mr. Wellman was called out with the militia a short time for the defense of Buffalo. He had eleven children, eight of whom lived to be men and women, and died upon the farm where he first settled, Dec. 10, 1859. His wife is still living, and will be 86 years old Oct. 2, 1873. Asa Smith, who came from Orange county in 1814, is still living, at the age of 81 years, on the farm upon which he first settled. Clark Smith, Daniel Shearman, Ephraim Wilcox, Wm. Storum and Hendrick Mattison settled here in 1816. Smith came with his wife and four children from Oneida county, and settled two miles from the village, upon a farm of 100 acres, which he cleared. He took an active part in public matters and held many town offices, among them that of Justice of the Peace for ten years. He died in 1864, at the age of 82 years. Shearman came from Scipio, Onondaga county, and settled upon the shore of Chautauqua Lake. He was the first Supervisor of the town, and held the office for several years, also that of Sheriff for a number of years. He died April 11, 1854, aged 49 years. Wilcox came with his wife and three children Feb. 8, 1816, and remained until 1831. He is still living and is 81 years old. Storum was from New Hartford, Oneida county, and still resides in this town. He is 85 years old. Mattison and his wife came from Litchfield, Herkimer county, and settled first in the town of Chautauqua, as at present bounded, in February, 1812. Upon the opening of the war of that year he returned to Herkimer county, and when peace was declared he again came to this county (1816) and settled in this town near the village. He died in 1826, aged 35 years. His wife, who still survives him, is 82 years old. John Mitchell removed from Vermont to the town of Stockton in 1816, and subsequently to this town, where he died in 1861, aged 78 years. His wife is still living and is 82 years old. Henry Wemple settled about three miles from Ashville in 1820, and died May 26, 1857, aged 85 years. James Cole removed from Greenbush, Rensselaer county, to Sugar Grove, Pa., in 1813, and thence, after ten years, to this town, where he is still living, though quite infirm, aged 86 years.

Upon a tombstone in the village cemetery are recorded the facts connected with the abduction of Eve Frank by the Indians in 1811; her return and marriage after a period of three years captivity; and the subsequent abduction and detention for a similar period of her husband, also by the Indians.

The first marriage was contracted by Zebrick Root and Polly Parmiter, in 1813; and the first death was that of Lawrence Frank, in 1811. Olive Marsh taught the first school on lot 61, in 1813; and Capt. Heman Bush kept the first inn and store, and erected the first mill, on Stillwater Creek, in 1815.

The Second Baptist Church of Ellicott, at Busti Corners, was organized with [illegible] members in 1819, by Elders Paul Davis, the first pastor, Ebenezer Smith and Jonathan Wilson. The first church edifice was erected in 1836; the present one, which will seat 300 persons, in 1855, at a cost of $3,000. The Society consists of 132 members. The pastor is Rev. Spencer Fisher. The Church property is valued at $4,000.*

The M. E. Church, at Busti Corners, was organized with sixty members, in 1849, by Rev. Alvin Burgess, the first pastor, and the church edifice, which will seat 250 persons, erected the same year, at a cost of $1,000. There are 120 members. The Pastor is Rev. J. H. Starrett. The Church property is valued at $4,000.†

CARROLL‡ was formed from Ellicott, March 25, 1825.§ Kiantone was taken off Nov. 16, 1853. It lies in the south-east corner of the county, and contains 20,606 acres. The surface is broken and hilly in the east and north-east, and rolling in the south and south-west. The highest summits are 900 feet above Lake Erie. It is watered by Conewango Creek, which forms a part of the west boundary, and three small streams tributary to it, the principal of which are Case and Frew runs. The soil is a clay loam in the north and east, and a gravelly loam in the south and west.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,548, of whom 1,417 were native, 131, foreign and all, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained ten school districts and employed eleven teachers. The number of children of school age was 587; the number attending school, 454; the average attendance, 248; the amount expended for school purposes, $2,782.92; and the value of school houses and sites, $5,555.

The Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh R. R. crosses the town near the west border.

E. and Cong.,) one hotel, four dry goods, two grocery, one drug and one hardware stores, two stave mills, a hand sled factory, two grist mills, a cabinet shop, three wagon shops, two blacksmith shops, a cooper shop, a tannery and about 600 inhabitants.*

Frewsburgh Lodge of Good Templars was organized in February, 1873, and has about sixty-five members.

FENTONVILLE† (p. o.) is situated in the south-west corner of the town, on the D. A. V. & P. R. R., and contains one hotel, store, blacksmith and cooper shop, saw and lath mill, (in which from three to four million feet of lumber are annually sawed,) and about twenty houses. The population in 1870 was 82.

Fentonville Cemetery was established in 1869, by W. H. H. Fenton, who donated and fitted up the grounds, which consist of two acres, and are situated at Fentonville, near a fine pine grove.

There are other small manufacturing establishments in various parts of the town.‡

Settlement was commenced in January, 1807, by Joseph Aiken, who came from Rennselaer county and located on lot 29. Geo. W. Fenton,§ Laban Case and Wm. Aiken also came the same year. Case settled on lot 31, and Aiken, on lot 21. James Aiken settled on lot 13, in 1808; James Hall and Caleb Thompson, the former on lot 11, in 1810; and Wm. Sears, also on lot 11, in 1811. Mr. Thompson came from the town of Stillwater, Saratoga county, and built a house in the central part of

‡ The principal of these are Wilcox's saw mill, in the south part, Dickerson's and Baird's saw mills, near the center, Ames & Halliday's, in the north-east, and Moore's, near Frewsburgh, which annually saw about 3,000,000 feet of lumber; and Burch's shingle mill, near the center, which makes about one million shingles.

§ Geo. W. Fenton was born in Conn., Dec. 20, 1783, and died March 3, 1860. His sons are W. H. H. Fenton, born in Carroll, April 20, 1811, since which time he has continued to reside here; Geo. W. Fenton Jr., who was born here Feb. 9, 1812, and has also since resided here; Hon. Reuben E. Fenton, who was born July 4, 1819; Roswell O. Fenton, who was born at Warren, Pa., Sept. 16, 1807; and Jno. F. Fenton, who was born in Carroll, Oct. 20, 1816.

Hon. Reuben E. Fenton was educated at Pleasant Hill and Fredonia academies. He studied law, but followed the mercantile business. In 1843 he was elected Supervisor of the town of Carroll. He was a Representative in the XXXIII., XXXV., XXXVI., XXXVII. and XXXVIII. congresses, [illegible] on the Committee [illegible] Land [illegible] In [illegible] 1868. the town. He helped to run the first roads from Jamestown to the Penn. line and to the Cassadaga. When he came he says there were no houses at Jamestown, and but few in this town. He was a soldier during the war of 1812, and though commissions were twice tendered him he refused to serve in any other capacity than that of private. He is still living in the town, aged 88 years. John Frew, a native of Ireland, settled at a very early day, prior to 1811, since in that year he and Thomas Russell built the first saw mill in town, on lot 61. He was born in 1787, and died in 1865. Joseph Tobey, who is now eighty years old, came to this town from Vermont in 1815, and has since resided here. George W. Cowan, who is still living in the south part of the town, was born in Washington county in 1802, and came here from Essex county in 1822. Daniel Robbins came here from Otsego county in 1832, at which time his nearest neighbor was seven miles distant. He and his family, consisting of wife and two children, lived three weeks in the open air, sleeping at night under the friendly shelter of logs and trees. Samuel Garfield moved with his father from Vermont to near Pine Grove, Penn., in 1816. They remained there five years, when they removed to about one and one-half miles south of Jamestown. They subsequently removed to this town, having previously lived in six other places in the county. Joseph Garfield, father of Samuel, died in 1863.

The first child born in the town was Hamilton Tyler, in 1810; the first marriage, that of Wm. Bowles and Jerusha Walton, in 1811; and the first death, that of —— Woodcock, who was killed by the fall of a tree in 1810. The first school was taught by Stephen Rogers, on lot 51, in 1813. The first grist mill was built by John Frew, on lot 61, in 1817. The first inn was kept by Wm. Sears, on lot 11, in 1814; and the first store, by James Hall, on the same lot, in 1824.

The Congregational Church, at Frewsburgh, consisted of seventeen members at its organization, and its first pastor was Rev. R. Rouse. Their house of worship was erected in 1853, and will seat 300 persons. The present pastor is Rev. A. Bixby, our informant, and the present number of members, forty-two. The church property is valued at $3,000.

CHARLOTTE was formed from Gerry, April 18, 1829.* It is an interior town, lying north-east of the center of the county, and contains 22,366 acres. The surface is alternate hill and valley, the hills reaching their greatest altitude near the northern boundary. The highest point, known as Luce Hill, is more than 1,000 feet above Lake Erie, and affords a fine view, extending to Buffalo and the hills of Canada on the north and east, and to the forests of Penn. on the south. Every acre is tillable. The soil is chiefly a clay loam, well adapted to grazing and dairying, to which it is largely devoted. It is one of the best dairy towns in Western New York and sustains several large cheese factories, that at Sinclairville, which uses the milk of 1,300 cows, being among the largest in the State. Its streams are Mill Creek and its tributaries which have their source in many springs of the purest water. The timber upon the hills consists of beech, birch, ash, maple and cucumber, and along the streams, hemlock and other evergreens abound.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,682, of whom 1,501 were native, 181, foreign and all, except six, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained eleven school districts and employed thirteen teachers. The number of children of school age was 532; the number attending school, 464; the average attendance, 226; the amount expended for school purposes, $3,278.48; and the value of school houses and sites, $6,050.

SINCLAIRVILLE,* (p. v.) situated on Mill Creek, near the south line, is a village of about 600 inhabitants and a station on the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh R. R. It contains four churches, (Baptist, Catholic, Congregational and M. E.,) fifteen stores of various kinds, a fine hotel, two grist mills, two tanneries, three saw mills, two steam planing mills, a large cheese factory, a rake factory, carriage factory, broom factory, two blacksmith shops and about 120 dwellings and business places. It is the center of a prosperous dairy and agricultural region, and large quantities of pressed hay, butter, cheese and stock, are annually shipped here. Its citizens are active and enterprising.

CHARLOTTE CENTER, (p. o.) situated on Mill Creek, three miles above Sinclairville, contains two churches, a cheese factory, carriage and wood mill factory, blacksmith shop and about 100 inhabitants.

The town was surveyed into sections in 1808, by John Lamberton, of Genesee county, and settlement was commenced in the north-west part—known as the Picket District—in April, 1809, by John and Daniel Picket, (the former is still living,) Asa O. Austin, Abel Pryer and John and Taylor Gregg. About the same time a settlement was made at Charlotte Center by Robert W. Seaver, Wm. Devine and B. Edson, the two former from Oneida county. Seaver was a soldier of the Revolution, and served under Anthony Wayne at the storming of Stony Point. This same year Major Samuel Sinclear,* from whom the village of Sinclairville was named, purchased lot 41, on which that village is located, and with Wm. Berry, his partner, erected a log house, into which, the following March, Messrs. Sinclear and Berry moved the family of the latter. On the 22d of October, 1810, Major Sinclear moved his family, consisting of his wife (Fanny,) and eight children, (Obed, John M., Fanny, Edson, Samuel, David, Joseph, Nancy and Sally,) and others in his employ, in all to the number of twenty, to the same locality and soon after into the first framed house, which had been built for him during the year by Nathaniel Holdridge, and which subsequently became the village tavern. The first grist mill was erected the next year at Sinclairville by the Major.

Among the early residents of Sinclairville was Abram Winsor, an active and energetic man, who served with the citizens of Charlotte and neighboring towns in the war of 1812, first as Lieutenant and subsequently as Captain. Nathaniel Johnson, and Mary, his wife, came into the county in 1811, and to Sinclairville in 1816. He died Oct. 31, 1828, aged 65, and his wife, Dec. 11, 1838, aged 74. A daughter, Hannah, was married Oct. 8, 1816, to Sylvanus L. Henderson, a soldier of the war of 1812, who also settled here in 1816, and for more than half a century was actively connected with the growth and business interests of the place. He died April 6, 1870, aged 77. Judge John M. Edson, David and George Sinclear, Mrs. Hannah Henderson, before mentioned, and Ezra Richmond are the only surviving representatives of the early settlers of Sinclairville now resident there.

On the site of the village at the time of its settlement were the remains of old fortifications, consisting of two circular earthen forts, inclosing many acres in area, and breastworks along the brink of two of its hills. Near them have been found many rude implements of war and other evidences of occupation by an ancient people. In the vicinity of Sinclairville were other old entrenchments, and an ancient Indian burial ground, from which, at various times, many human bones have been disinterred. About 1859, as many as a score of skeletons were exhumed at one time.

In 1810, John and Moses Cleland, Daniel Spencer, Ezra White, Nathaniel Holdridge, Abner Winsor and others, of whom John Cleland is the only survivor, settled in various parts of the town. During the war of 1812 the population of the town steadily decreased and for several years subsequent the progress of settlement was slow. The following named persons represented Charlotte in the battle of Buffalo, viz: Captain Ezra White, 1*st Lieut.* Abner Winsor, 1*st Sergt.* Joel Burnell and Arva O. Austin, Seeley Picket, Jr., Samuel T. Booth and Samuel Vaughn. Subsequently, at the siege of Fort Erie, fifteen or twenty persons from this town participated under Captain Winsor.

For the first twenty years of its settlement the chief staple was crude potash, or black salts, the only product which commanded cash. In 1812, Capt. Winsor built an ashery at Sinclairville and for many years thereafter manufactured from the black salts pot and pearl ash, which he transported down Cassadaga Creek and Allegheny River to Pittsburgh, where he exchanged it for tobacco, nails and flour. Capt. Winsor, in company with Alvin Plumb and Obed Edson, established the first store at Sinclairville and stocked it mainly from Pittsburgh. About 1824, Walter Smith and Geo. A. French opened a second store at Sinclairville and engaged in considerable trade. This, with the opening of the Erie Canal gave a new impetus to settlement and the town from that time thrived and increased rapidly in population.

The thick underbrush of the Cassadaga swamp, which borders the western edge of the town, afforded a secure lair for wolves, and they increased in numbers with the settlement of the town until 1824 and '25, when they became so numerous as to be an intolerable annoyance to the settlers in destroying their sheep and other small animals. During the above mentioned years a series of wolf hunts occurred in this vicinity, participated in by a large portion of the inhabitants of the northern and interior towns of the county, which resulted in the destruction of large numbers of wolves and finally in their complete expulsion from this locality.

The first birth was that of Phebe Austin, Jan. 25, 1810; the first deaths, Mrs. Arnold and her sister Jerusha; and the first marriage that of Moses Cleland and Sally Anderson, in 1811.*

The First Baptist Church of Sinclairville was organized by Rev. Jonathan Wilson, the first pastor. The Church edifice was erected in 1834, at a cost of $2,000, and will seat 500 persons. There are fifty-five members, but the church is without a pastor. The property is valued at $3,000.§

Charlotte Center M. E. Church consists of about forty members, who are under the pastoral care of Rev. H. W. Leslie. The house of worship will seat 200 persons, and the Church property is valued at $3,000.‖

CHAUTAUQUA was formed from Batavia, (Genesee county,) April 11, 1804, and embraced all the territory now included within the limits of Chautauqua county, except the tenth range of townships.¶ Pomfret was taken off March 11, 1808; Portland, April 9, 1813; Harmony, Feb. 14, 1816; Clymer and Stockton, Feb. 9, 1821, and Ellery, Feb. 29, 1821. It is an interior town, lying a little west of the center of the county, at the head of Chautauqua Lake, about one half of which lies within the town. It contains 41,147 acres, and, with the exception of Harmony, is the largest town in the county. The surface is elevated and moderately hilly, occupying the watershed between the waters of Chautauqua Lake and those of Lake Erie. The soil is a clay loam of good quality. The streams are Chautauqua Creek, which forms a part of the west boundary, Prendergast and Mud creeks, and Chautauqua Inlet.

The Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburgh R. R. (Cross Cut) extends in a circuitous course through the town.

The population of the town in 1870, was 3,064, of whom 2,547 were native, 517, foreign and all, except six, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained twenty school districts, and employed twenty-three teachers. The number of children of school age was 1,629; the number attending school, 789; the average attendance, 416; the amount

MAYVILLE, (p. v.) the county seat, is pleasantly located at the head of Chautauqua Lake, and on the Buffalo, Corry & Pittsburgh R. R. It was incorporated April 20, 1830, and has a population of about 800.* It contains the court house, jail, offices of the clerk, treasurer and surrogate, six churches, (Bapt., Dutch Refd., Episc., German Lutheran, M. E. and Swede,) a new and very fine graded Union School,† with an academic department, two newspaper offices, (Mayville Sentinel and Chautauqua News,) one bank,‡ three hotels, twelve stores, one foundry,§ the machine shops of the B. C. & P. R. R.,‖ a grist and saw mill,¶ a planing mill, a cabinet and undertaking establishment, a photograph gallery, a milliner shop, paint shop, cooper shop, three wagon shops, two blacksmith shops and two shoe shops. It is connected with Jamestown, on the outlet of the Lake, by a steamer which makes daily trips, once each way. Mayville is becoming a favorite watering place and summer resort, and large numbers of persons visit the place during the summer season. Several small steamers and a large number of sail boats ply the lake and contribute to the pleasure and profit of their owners and the accommodation of the public. A large hotel—the Chautauqua House—was built adjacent to the depot and steamboat landing, in 1868, at a cost of $60,000. It will accommodate 130 guests. Additional accommodations are being provided in connection with it.

The Mayville Silver Cornet Band was organized Oct. 15, 1872. It has ten members, and is under the leadership of Albert H. Godard.

The Chautauqua Lake Camp Meeting Association, of the Erie Conference of the M. E. Church, was incorporated April 13, 1871, and the same year purchased the Fairpoint Fair Ground, upon the shore of Chautauqua Lake. Lots to the number of 289 have been laid out and leased for a term of ninety-nine years. There are now about twenty-five summer residences built upon

* In 1870, the population was 701.

† Mayville Union School was established in August, 1867, and the old academy was merged in it about that time. It will accommodate 265 pupils. It has philosophical and [illegible] valued at $781.14, and a library containing 421 volumes and valued at $328. It includes an academic, intermediate and first and second primary departments. The school stands upon an eminence overlooking the entire village. From its observatory ten towns are visible. The buildings and grounds are valued at $17,000.

the shore of the lake, and the immediate construction of others is contemplated. By the act of incorporation the real estate which the association may hold at any one time is limited in value to $100,000, and the annual income from its personal estate must not exceed $30,000.*

Peacock Lodge No. 696 F. & A. M., of Mayville, was organized Feb. 28, 1869, and chartered the 9th of the following June, with twenty members. The present number of members is sixty. Rev. Nicholas G. Luke was Master in 1869 and '70, and Wm. S. Gleason, in 1871, '2 and '3. Its property is valued at $6,000, and consists of a fine store, over which is the lodge room, which is beautifully furnished and is a model of taste and convenience. Upon the altar lies a beautiful Bible—a present from the ladies of Mayville, and costing $30. The lodge is named in honor of Hon. Wm. Peacock, a zealous mason, who aided liberally in establishing it.

DEWITTVILLE, (p. v.) situated in the east part, on the east shore of Chautauqua Lake, contains two churches, a school house, hotel, two stores, two shoe shops, two blacksmith shops, a cooper shop, a grist mill, steam saw mill, about 32 dwellings and 262 inhabitants.

HARTFIELD, (p. o.) situated on Chautauqua Lake Inlet, contains a Union church, store, grist and saw mill, two blacksmith shops, a shingle and planing mill, with cheese box factory attached, a tannery, wagon repair shop, shoe shop, and had 59 inhabitants in 1870.

SUMMER DALE (p. o.) is a hamlet, five miles south-west of Mayville.

SUMMIT STATION is on the B. C. & P. R. R., four miles from Mayville, by rail.

Chautauqua Creamery, situated in the north-east part of the town, gives employment to five persons and is capable of using the milk of 700 cows.

Wesley M. Cornell's Steam Mill, four miles south of Mayville, was built in 1871. It is operated by a forty horse-power engine, gives employment to six persons, and is capable of sawing 7,000 feet of lumber per day, besides a quantity of lath and shingles.

* The corporators and first trustees were Alonzo Kent, Chas. L. Jeffords, Isaac Moore, John P. Hall, Wm. Gifford, Darius Schofield, James E. Chapin, Richard A. Carruthers, John Smallwood, Lewis Miller, Wellington P. Cook, Cyrus Clarke, John Mc[illegible], Joseph [illegible], Herman Jones, Sardius Steward, Michael E. Hess, John S. [illegible], Archibald C. Merrill, M. W. [illegible], G. W. Andrews, Francis H. R[illegible], A. [illegible] and Cyrus D. Angel, who at their first meeting were [illegible] divided by lot into three classes, the first class of which to hold office one year, those of the second, two years, and those of the third, three years. Eight trustees are thereafter to be elected annually, and hold office for three years, or until their successors are elected.

Settlement was commenced in 1804, by Dr. Alex. McIntyre, who lived in a log hut near the steamboat landing in Mayville. McIntyre had been captured by the Indians, who cut off the rims of his ears. He lived with his captors many years and acquired many of their habits. He was a botanic physician and claimed to have derived his medical skill from the Indians. Jonathan Smith settled near the west shore of the lake about the same time. Peter Barnhart and his son Henry, the former a hero of the Revolution and the latter of the war of 1812, came to this town from Somerset county, Pa., in 1805, and located on the east shore of the lake. Henry was then in his 14th year, and has since resided in the town. Owing to the scarcity of food the first year of their arrival, he says they were obliged to dig up potatoes after they were planted, and to eat musk-rats, coons and porcupines (probably hedge-hogs.) After 1806, they raised corn, which they ground with a hand mill, as there was no grist mill nearer than Pennsylvania, and no roads in the town, except the carrying-place between the lakes, used for the transportation of salt. Martin and Wm. Prendergast and Messrs. Griffith and Bemus came in 1806. Wm. Prendergast, who was a colonel in the war of 1812, located on the farms now owned by Daniel V. Wilder and Chas. W. Tarbox. The other three settled on the east shore of the lake. Matthew Prendergast and Wm. Prendergast 2d came to this town in 1807. The former settled on the farm now owned by Edward C. Stephens. Among other public offices he held that of county judge of this county. The latter was a native of Dutchess county. In 1811-12 he commenced the practice of medicine, and pursued the profession successfully for many years. He was for several years Supervisor of this town. In 1808 Joseph Thayer settled on the site of the present county poor house. Philo Sackett, Mr. Thayer's brother-in-law, also came in 1808, and settled on the site of DeWittville, to which place Thayer removed the following year. Mr. Thayer was drowned in Chautauqua Lake, while crossing upon the ice. His sons-in-law, Joseph Dart and Daniel Curtis, came at the same time and settled at the same place. Nahum Aldrich also accompanied Thayer. —— Bennett, Alanson Wade, Isaac Young and John Putnam came about the same time. George and Morrow Lowry, brothers, who had suffered much from defective land titles in Erie county, Pa., settled at Mayville in 1808, or '9. The former, in old age, removed with his son to Kendall county, Ill., where he died, and the latter, after a few years, returned to Mercer county, Pa., where he died well advanced in years. Russell Morgan, a native of Conn., came here in September, 1809, and, with his brother Daniel, settled on lot 21. Waterman Tinckcom came here from Saratoga county, March 5, 1810, and located near Mayville. Judge Wm. Peacock settled at Mayville in November 1810, as the first local agent of the Holland Land Company's Purchase for this county and the west part of Cattaraugus. Mr. Peacock first visited the county about 1799, as assistant surveyor under Joseph Ellicott, and was engaged in running the township lines; and again in 1804, the year in which the settlement of the town was commenced, when he surveyed the village of Mayville. He also surveyed township 2 in range XIII. and a part of 3 in range XV., about 1805, or a little after surveying the village of Mayville. He came with his wife from Batavia (Genesee county) in the fall of 1810, on horseback, to the house of Mrs. Perry, who lived a little west of Westfield, where his wife remained a short time, while he made preparations for her removal to Mayville. Previous to his arrival at the latter place, Mr. Ellicott, the resident general agent of the Holland Land Company at Batavia, had two log houses built for him, one of which he occupied as an office and the other as a residence. The office was situated a few feet to the left of the walk which approaches his present residence in front, and the residence, a few feet on the right. On his arrival, Mr. Peacock found the buildings so miserably constructed that he immediately set about building a new house, and erected the wooden part on the left of the more modern brick addition which forms his present residence. It is 18 by 36 feet, and he completed and moved into it about 1812, occupying a part of the building as an office. He still occupies this old, yet comfortable apartment, in preference to the spacious brick addition. He subsequently built a strong stone vault—the one broken open by the mob and which is still standing—in which he kept the records of the Land Company. He continued to act as agent until 1835, at which time the interests of the Holland Company were sold to Cary & Lay, of Batavia. He is now in his 94th year, and has good health, though he is suffering from a fall sustained a year and a half ago. When he came in 1810, families named Lowry, Scott, Whiteside, McIntyre, Prendergast (Martin and Dr. Jedediah,) Judge Herrick and others, were living at Mayville. Lowry lived on Main street, and the widow Whiteside nearly opposite him. Scott kept a tavern on Main street, near the site of the Sentinel office. Martin Prendergast lived near the site of the Chautauqua House, and Dr. Jedediah Prendergast, on the Main street, (Erie) at the [illegible] from the Lake. Zachariah Prendergast, Esq., Archel. [illegible] from Herkimer county and purchased land two miles north of Hartfield about 1810. They returned in the fall, and in March, 1812, he moved his wife and family, consisting of three sons (Asahel, Ambrose and Wm., the two former of whom still reside here,) and four daughters into the town. Samuel Waterbury came in 1810 or '11. Edward Hovey came in 1811; Elisha Wallis and Daniel, his son, in February of the same year, and settled on the farm now occupied by the latter. Wm. C. Chace came to Mayville Sept. 23, 1814, for the purpose of studying medicine, and at the expiration of four years received a diploma. Wm. Hunt and four sons settled on what is known as the Fairpoint farm in 1816. The Fairpoint Camp Meeting grounds are on this farm. Elias Scofield, who was born in the town of Ellery in 1807, has been a resident of this town many years. James McCoul settled in the town March 24, 1818; John Russell, in 1819; and Judge Thomas A. Osborne, in 1822, having come to the county and engaged in the legal profession in partnership with Jacob Houghton the previous year. The first inn* was kept at Mayville, by John Scott, in 1808; and the first store at the same place, by J. & M. Prendergast, three years later.

The First Baptist Church of Mayville was organized with 38 members, by Elder Jonathan Wilson, missionary from the Shaftsbury Board, Vermont, Feb. 7, 1820. Their house of worship was erected in 1834, at a cost of $2,000, and will seat 400 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Jonathan Wilson; the present one is Rev. J. H. Miller. There are fifty-three members. The Church property is valued at $[illegible].†

The Chautauqua Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Mayville, was organized about 1820, and erected their house of worship in 1851. The house will seat 500 persons. There are 145 members. The present pastor is Rev. R. W. Scott of the Erie Conference. The Church property is valued at $3,000.‡

St. Paul's Church, of Mayville, was organized with about twenty members in April, 1823, by Rev. David Brown, the first pastor. The first church edifice was contracted April 10, 1826; was accepted in January, 1828; and consecrated by Bishop Hobart, Sept. 4, 1828. The present one was erected in 1859, and consecrated by Bishop Cox, May 18, 1865. It cost about $3,500, and will seat about 150 persons. The Society numbers forty-one communicants, and has a congregation of 125. The present pastor is Rev. M. B. Benton. The Church property, consisting of church and rectory is valued, the former at $1,000 and the latter at $2,500. "Its existence has been a constant struggle, but its friends still 'hope on—hope ever,' doing their duty and leaving events in His hands, who alone can prosper their work."§

The First M. E. Church of Dewittville was organized with ten members in 1835, by Wm. Gifford. Their house of worship was purchased of the Baptists the same year, at a cost of $400. It will seat 200 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Mr. Burgess;

* Upon the organization of the county the Supervisors resolved that the courts should be held at this inn until a court house should be erected. Upon learning this decision Capt. Scott, with the assistance of other citizens of Mayville, hastily procured green planks, joists and boards, which were sawed at Reuben Slayton's saw mill at Ashville, and floated down Goose Creek and up Chautauqua Lake to Mayville. A two story framed house was erected in front of and adjoining the log tavern. It was shingled, temporary rough floors were laid, and a few temporary windows were inserted. In the lower story of this new unfinished plank house the first courts were held. The chamber afforded lodging room for a portion of the officers of the courts. In this building, which is probably the oldest in Mayville, the Mayville Sentinel is now printed.

The First Freewill Baptist Church of Chautauqua Hill (four miles north of Hartfield) was organized with five members in 1840, by Rev. T. V. Main, the first pastor, and —— Neely. Their house of worship was erected about 1842, and will seat 200 persons. The Church property is valued at $500. The Society possesses but little vitality, and the church is now occupied by the Methodists.†

Summit Church (M. E., near Summit Station,) organized a building society through the instrumentality of John H. Flagler in 1849, and in that and the following year a house of worship was erected at a cost of $700. A class had been formed previous to that time. The first pastor, after the completion of the church, was Rev. John K. Hallock; the present one is Rev. Wm. Rice. There were about sixty members at the organization of the Society; at present there are about forty. The church will seat 250 persons. The Church property is valued at $1,500.‡

The Christian Church, at Dewittville, was organized with fifteen members Dec. 25, 1852, by Rev. E. H. Mosher, the first pastor, and E. H. Halisdy. Their church edifice, which will seat 300 persons, was erected in 1856, at a cost of $1,600. The present pastor is Rev. Samuel B. Morse; the present membership, sixty-four. The Church property is valued at $2,000.§

Mt. Pleasant Church (United Brethren, south-east three and one-half miles from Mayville,) was organized with eight members in 1858, by Rev. Z. Sullivan, the first pastor. The church edifice was erected in 1865, at a cost of $600, and will seat 150 persons. There are five members. The pastor is Rev. W. Robinson. The Church property is valued at $600.

The United Brethren in Christ of Elm Flats were organized with eight members Feb. 1, 1853, by Rev. N. R. Luce, the first pastor. The first house of worship was erected in 1861; the present one, in 1870, at a cost of $1,321, and will seat 300 persons. The Church property is valued at $3,963. The Society numbers 110 members, and is under the pastoral care of Rev. W. Robinson.¶

St. Peter's Church, (German United Evangelical Protestant) at Mayville, was organized with twenty members in 1871, by Rev. O. Schreder. The church edifice was erected in 1871, at a cost of $2,000, and will seat 300 persons. Rev. Jacob Weber was the first, and is the present pastor. The Society numbers forty; its property is vaulted at $2,500.

CHERRY CREEK was formed from Ellington May 4, 1829.†† It lies on the east border of the county, a little north of the center, and contains 22,604 acres. The surface is hilly in the north-west, and rolling in the south-east. A swamp on the east border extends the whole length of the town. Its streams are the Conewango and its tributaries, the principal of which are Clear and Cherry creeks. The soil is a clay and gravelly loam. The people are principally engaged in dairying.

The Buffalo & Jamestown R. R. enters the town in the north-east corner, curving west to the village of Cherry Creek, and leaves it again near the south-east corner. The town has issued bonds to the amount of nearly $50,000 in its aid.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,359, of whom 1,316 were native, 43, foreign and all, except one, white.

CHERRY CREEK, (p. v.) situated a little south-east of the center of the town, on the line of the proposed Buffalo & Jamestown railroad, contains three churches, seven stores, a grist mill, two saw mills, a cheese factory* and about 300 inhabitants.

SHATTUCKS CORNERS is a hamlet near the center.

Settlement was commenced on lot 15, in 1812, by Joshua Bentley from Rensselaer county. Joseph Kent settled on lot 9 in 1815, and Willard Cheney, Wm. Weaver, Anson Hendricks and Cogsdill Brown, on lot 18, in 1818. The first school was taught the latter year, by Reuben Cheney. The first inn was kept in 1823, by George H. Frost; and the first store, at Cherry Creek, in 1831, by Seth Grover. The first saw mill was built on Cherry Creek in 1824, by Wm. Kilbourn. In 1819 Joshua Bentley lost a two years' old daughter, who was supposed to have been carried off by the Indians. The first marriage was contracted by James Battles and Rachel Hadley; the first birth was that of Lydia Kent; and the first death that of Rufus Hitchcock, who fell from the roof of a building in 1820.

This town furnished one hundred soldiers during the war of the Rebellion, twenty-five of whom were killed or died of disease.

The first religious services were held at the house of Ward King, in 1817; the Rev. Mr. Holley (baptist) was the first preacher.

The First Free-will Baptist Church, at Cherry Creek, was organized with five members in 1826, by Rev. Thomas Grimmels, the first pastor. Their house of worship was erected in 1837, at a cost of $2,000, and will seat 350 persons. The Society now consists of sixty-five members, and enjoys the pastoral ministrations of Rev. A. P. Cross. CLYMER* was formed from Chautauqua, Feb. 9, 1821.† Mina was taken off March 23, 1824, and French Creek, April 23, 1829.‡ It lies upon the south border of the county, west of the center, and contains 21,731 acres. The surface is a hilly upland, broken by the valleys of Broken Straw Creek and its tributaries, the principal of which is Brownell Creek. The soil is a gravelly loam. A quarry, from which stone suitable for grindstones has been taken, was opened many years since in the south-west corner of the town by a Mr. Beardsley. The rock, says Prof. James Hall, is of great extent, and can be easily quarried for all the supply required. Few of the layers are thick enough to afford good building stone.

The Buffalo, Corry & Pittsburgh R. R. extends through the central part of this town.

The population of the town in 1870, was 1486, of whom 1187 were native, 299, foreign and all, except seven, white.

* Named in honor of George Clymer, a distinguished citizen and patriot of Pennsylvania and a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

† The first town meeting was held in the house of Gardner Cleveland, April 3, 1821, and the following named officers were chosen: Ande Nobles, Supervisor; Wm. Rice, Roger Haskell and John M. Fitch, Assessors; David Waldo, Town Clerk; Roswell Coe, John Cleveland and Alex. Findley, Commissioners of Highways; Ephraim Dean, Ande Nobles and John Lynde, School Inspectors; John Heath and Roger Haskell, School Commissioners; Alex. Findley and Roswell Coe, Poor Masters; Ande Nobles and Alex. Findley, Overseers of Highways; Wm. Thompson, Amon Beebe Jr. and Roger Haskell, Fence Viewers and Damage Appraisers; Ande Nobles, Sealer of Weights and Measures; and Eli Belknap, Constable and Collector.

Upon the erection of the town, the town meetings in Chautauqua were held the first Tuesday in April and this was held to govern the time of holding the meetings in Clymer; the meeting in 1821 was accordingly held at that time. That year the Legislature was petitioned and a change in the time was effected to the 1st of March. In 1822 the Federalists elected a set of officers in March, and the opposite party, learning that the act changing the time of holding meetings did not take effect until May, also elected a set of officers in April, with John Heath, as Supervisor, and Silas Terry, as Clerk. But the new officers, not being free holders, were ineligible, and as they were likely to be ejected by the Federalists, Heath repaired to Mayville and represented the dilemma to John Dexter, the County Clerk, who deeded to each of the new officers a piece of land, in order to legalize their election.

‡ By the erection of the town of French Creek, Silas Terry, who was then postmaster at Clymer, became a resident of the new town. The residents of Clymer, objecting to a postmaster residing in another town, forwarded a remonstrance to the Post Master General, who sent a copy of it to Mr. Terry. He, being loth to give up the office and equally so to leave his land and remove to this town for the purpose of [illegible] it, represented to the Post Master General that, although he was a resident of French Creek, his house was only two doors from the post office, which was a fact, although it was three-fourths of a mile distant. J. N. McKay's tannery in this town is the largest in the county. It gives employment to forty persons and is capable of tanning 1,200 sides per week.

About one-half the inhabitants of this town are Hollanders. The first immigrants of this nationality came about twenty-seven years since.

Settlement was commenced about 1820, in which year Gardner (Sen.) and John Cleveland came from French Creek, which then formed a part of this town, and settled on lot 58. Wm. Rice, from Washington county, settled on lot 59, in 1821, Horace and Anson Starkweather and Joseph Wing, in 1822, the former two were from Vermont, and settled on lot 43. Ebenezer Brownell came from Otsego county about 1822, when there were but eighteen families in the original town of Clymer. Nathaniel and Wm. Thompson, from French Creek, and Thomas Russell came in 1823. Harry E. Brownell also settled here in 1823 and has been a resident since. The first birth was that of Patience Russell, who is still living, in 1823; the first marriage was contracted the same year by Walter Freeman and Rowencia Brown; and the first death was that of a daughter of Joseph Wing. Her remains were interred in the present cemetery. John Stowe kept the first store in 1823, and Miss Maria Stowe, the first school, about 1825. Peter Jaquins built the first saw mill near Clymer village, on the site now occupied by Shepard & Hall, in 1825. He afterward built the first grist mill in connection with it. The first tavern was kept at Clymer village in 1826, by Alvin Williams. The first frame building was a barn built by Thomas Russell, and is still standing on the farm now owned by Charles Chappel. In this building the early settlers were accustomed to hold religious services during the summer months. In the winter their meetings were held in private houses. The first mails were brought by the settlers in turns from Panama. There were then no roads, but in 1826, a road was laid out and a mail line established from Jamestown to Erie. The first law suit was tried before Gardner Cleveland, Jr., in 1824, in a log hut. The jury room in the loft was reached by means of a ladder. The counsel were Samuel A. Brown and Joseph Waite, of Jamestown, who, with the prominent witnesses, lodged on a "field bed," on the floor of one of the neighboring log houses.

The first religious services were held by the Baptists, at the house of Mr. Cleveland, in 1820, and were presided over by Elder Powers. The first Church (Baptist) was formed in 1830; but a church, the first in town, was built in 1824, by members of that denomination. The first settled pastor was Rev. Samuel Alvord.

The Clymer M. E. Church erected their house of worship in 1870. It will seat [illegible] persons. There are seventy-six members. Their pastor is Rev. W. L. Riley, our informant. The Church property is valued at $6,000.

DUNKIRK was formed from Pomfret, Nov. 17, 1859. It lies upon the shore of Lake Erie, east of the center of the county, and contains 6,632 acres, about one-half of which is occupied by the village of Dunkirk. It is by far the smallest town in the county. The surface is level, and has a slight inclination toward the lake. The town is entirely included in the strip of comparatively level land bordering the lake, and known as the lake shore slope. The soil is a clay and gravelly loam. The only important stream is Canadaway Creek, which debouches into the lake near the west line of the village of Dunkirk. Excellent building stone is quarried along the lake shore, which has been used in constructing the arches on the railroad, and upon the public works at Dunkirk.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R. passes through the town, near the lake shore. The Erie, and the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh railroads terminate in the east part of the village. A horse railroad extends through the town, connecting Dunkirk and Fredonia, three miles south.

The population of the town in 1870 was 6,912, of whom 4,493 were native, 2,419, foreign and all, except seventeen, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained three school districts and employed twenty-eight teachers. The number of children of school age was 2,711; the number attending school, 1,974; the average attendance, 935; the amount expended for school purposes, $23,032.22; and the value of school houses and sites, $89,600.

DUNKIRK, (p. v.) a village of about 8,000* inhabitants, and incorporated May 15, 1837, is situated on Lake Erie and the L. S. & M. S. R. R., and is the western terminus of the Erie R. R. and the northern terminus of the D. A. V. & P. R. R.† It harbor, though entirely artificial, there being no stream available for navigation, is deemed one of the best on the southern coast for all vessels drawing not more than thirteen feet of water. The breakwater inclosing the harbor is still incomplete, but moderate appropriations are being made for the accomplishment of that end. Its wharves and extensive warehouses give it facilities for the transaction of a large amount of business, and these were formerly utilized to their fullest capacity; but since the completion of other branches of the Erie railroad, making the line to this village one of minor importance, and the withdrawal of the Erie line of steamers, its importance as a lake port has largely diminished. The removal of the Erie repair shops, the discontinuance of the immense freight transfer business of the Erie road and the devastating fires which have ravaged the village have proved serious drawbacks to the growth of Dunkirk. But its recuperative energies have not been permanently crippled. The busy hum of industry which issues from its many manufacturing establishments evinces vitality and gives evidence that its future prosperity is assured, since it is established on a more enduring basis than heretofore.* The village contains nine churches,† five schools, with an excellent graded school system,‡ four good hotels, two banks, two newspaper offices, (Dunkirk Journal and Advertiser and Union,) one job printing office, an extensive locomotive manufactory,§ a large foundry and machine shop, an extensive engine and boiler

* The manufacturing interests of Dunkirk, already extensive, are rapidly increasing in importance and value. In 1872 not less than 738 persons were employed in this branch of business; and the value of the manufactured articles was about $1,500,000.

† There are nine church edifices belonging to the Baptists, Catholics, Episcopalians, German Catholics, German Lutherans, German Methodists, German Reformers, Methodists and Presbyterians, and three societies—Free Methodists, Spiritualists and Universalists—which have no edifices, though the former hire a building in which meetings are held.

‡ The public schools of Dunkirk "are not surpassed by any in the State." They are managed by a Board of Education consisting of six members, who, by a special law, enacted in 1858, have their entire control. They are divided into four grades: the academic department, under the patronage of the Regents of the University, and grammar, intermediate and primary departments. A thorough and comprehensive system of education has been adopted; which, with a rigid enforcement of discipline, has placed the schools in the front rank of educational institutions. The school buildings consist of five elegant brick structures, and a wooden one, which is rented. These, with other property connected therewith, cost about [illegible]. At present (May, 1873,) there are 26 teachers employed, and about 1,100 pupils are in daily attendance.

It has several planing mills, and an extensive lumber trade. The village is lighted by gas and is supplied with water for fire, domestic and manufacturing purposes by the Holly system of water works.

The Water Works of Dunkirk are justly regarded with pride by its citizens. They are under the control of a Board of Water Commissioners‡ created by an act of the Legislature, passed in 1871. The water is drawn from Lake Erie, after being filtered through a crib sunk in its waters, and is forced by powerful machinery to all parts of the village, through more than ten miles of iron pipe. The power and perfectness of the machinery is such that a constant pressure can at all times be maintained for domestic and manufacturing purposes; and in case of fire, large and powerful streams can, at a moment's notice, be taken from any of the numerous hydrants, located in sufficient number throughout the village, to speedily drown the most serious conflagration. The total cost of the entire work—including crib in the lake, building, machinery, ten miles of pipe and sixty-four double hydrants—done in the most thorough manner, was $100,000, for which the village issued bonds payable in twenty-five years. The work will ever be regarded as a monument to the energy and perseverance of its projectors and to the enterprise and munificence of the taxpayers of the village. Its importance is already shown and felt by the numerous manufacturing establishments which

* The Dunkirk Iron Works, situated on the corner of Lion and Ruggles streets, about one-fourth from the railroad depot, were established in 1865, under the direction of Clark & Allen, who carried on the business until the spring of 1868, when they disposed of the whole business to Sedlow & Popple, the present enterprising proprietors. Since purchasing the establishment they have added three large brick buildings, at a cost of nearly $20,000, besides a large amount of new machinery, thereby increasing facilities for carrying on a large amount of business. The manufacture of boilers, engines, saw mill, tannery and grist mill gearings, and castings forms a large part of their business. They also manufacture various articles of machinery—planers, matchers, corn shellers, circular saws, &c., and the business is constantly increasing. Their boilers, engines and other machinery are in use throughout the country—in New York, Penn., Ohio and Michigan. From 75 to 80 men are constantly employed. They have built up a large business, which has contributed much to the prosperity of the town and reflects great credit upon the proprietors.

St. Mary's Orphan Asylum and School, situated on Buffalo street, was established in 1857, and incorporated under the general law of the State, Jan. 11, 1858. It has no permanent income, but depends chiefly upon the voluntary contributions of the charitable and benevolent. The State aid hitherto received was of great aid, but of this it has been deprived. The asylum is under the immediate charge of a religious society of ladies, known as the "Sisters of St. Joseph," who also conduct charity schools in the vicinity. Since its establishment, 135 orphans—half of them destitute girls—have been admitted; and of this number 109 have been provided for, four have died, and twenty-two remain in the asylum. The children are educated, receive religious instruction, are trained in domestic labor, plain and fancy needle work, and are taught trades if desired.

Dunkirk Library and Free Reading Room was instituted in 1872 and opened in July of that year. It contains 1500 volumes, to which monthly additions are made. It is located in the Monroe Block, second floor, on Center street, and is open from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Settlement was commenced in 1808, by Timothy Goulding, who settled one mile west of the harbor. Solomon Chadwick* located on the site of the village the following year, and — Gaylord, Daniel Pier and Luther Goulding settled soon after at the same place. The first vessel was brought into the harbor by Samuel Perry, in 1810. Walter Smith built the first grist mill in Dunkirk. He conducted the water from Canadaway Creek by means of a race-way a distance of three miles. The first male child born in town was George D. Alton, who was born Sept. 15, 1817, and still resides in the village. Mr. and Mrs. Adam Fink, who are still living in the town, were the first couple married in Dunkirk, in 1819. Mr. Fink cleared with his own hands the plat now occupied by H. I. Miner & Co's Bank, and sowed it to wheat. He also made the first cast-steel edge tool in the county.

In 1837, the year in which the village of Dunkirk was incorporated, a striking mania for speculations in real estate was displayed, in consequence of the supposed importance which the New York and Erie railroad would attach to lands in this locality, and much loss and serious embarrassment resulted therefrom. In referring to this subject, Warren, in his Historical Sketches of Chautauque County, says:

"The speculations in real estate, which were at their hight during this period, and which have resulted in such incalculable injury to the interests of the whole people, affected the village of Dunkirk more seriously than any other point in the county. The termination of the New York and Erie Railroad at this place, pointed it out to those most deeply affected with the contagion, as a spot on which operations of the kind might be carried on for a while at least with success. The rage for corner lots and eligible sites, was rife, and ran to so high a pitch, that men of all pursuits—farmers, mechanics, merchants, lawyers, and even ministers of the gospel, embarked upon the wild sea, without rudder or ballast, with nothing to propel them but a whirlwind, that soon scattered them in broken fragments upon a lee shore.

"The general result has been a stagnation of trade, depreciation in the prices of all kinds of property, the ruin and entire prostration of many families who had been in prosperous circumstances, and on the high road to competence and even independence, and the hopeless bankruptcy of thousands of others. Though affected to a greater degree, this village was not alone in its madness. Most of the other villages were more or less influenced by the mania that swept over the land, and suffered in proportion to the extent of their operations."

The first sermon in Dunkirk was preached by Eder Joy Handy, the pioneer minister of Chautauqua county.

The First Presbyterian Church of Dunkirk was organized with eleven members [illegible] by Timothy Stillman, the first pastor. Their first house of worship was erected about 1840. A new one is in process of erection, which is designed to seat 500 persons, and cost $30,000. The present pastor is Rev. M. Adams. There are 150 members.*

St. Mary's Church, Roman Catholic at Dunkirk; was organized with 500 members by Rev. Peter Colgan, the first pastor, in 1851, in which year was erected the first house of worship. The present church edifice was erected in 1853–4, at a cost of $12,000, and will seat 800 persons. The present pastor is Rev. Basil Keating; and the number of members is about 2,500. The Church property is valued at $25,000. A parochial school is also established, as a house of studies for ecclesiastical students of the order of Passionists, in whose charge the congregation now is. The Passionist fathers came to Dunkirk in 1860. They are a missionary body, and extend their labors to all parts of the country. The house erected in 1861 is designed as a home for the missionaries of the order, and is known as St. Mary's Monastery. It now contains six priests, six students and four lay brothers.†

St. John's Church, Episcopal at Dunkirk, was organized in 1852, and its first house of worship was erected the same year. The present edifice was erected in 1869, at a cost of $12,000, and will seat 400 to 450 persons. There are 150 members. The pastor is Rev. P. P. Kidder. The Church property is valued at $15,000.†

ELLERY‖ was formed from Chautauqua, Feb. 29, 1821. A part of Stockton was taken off Dec. 11, 1850. It is the central town in the county and contains 30,073 acres. The surface is hilly, the highest summits being about 400 feet above the valleys, and 1,000 feet above Lake Erie. The principal stream is Bemus Creek, which flows south into Chautauqua Lake. The lake forms the west and south boundary of the town, with the exception of a small portion of the former. Cassadaga Creek crosses the north-east corner. The soil upon the hill is a clay loam and in the valleys is a gravelly loam.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1616, of whom 1581 were native, 35, foreign, 1614, white and two Indians.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained fourteen school districts and employed thirteen teachers. The number of children of school age was 498; the number attending school, 418; the average attendance, 224; the amount expended for school purposes, $4,722.93; and the value of school houses and sites, $8,373.

‖ Named in honor of Wm. Ellery, who was born at Newport, R. I., Dec. 22, 1727. He graduated at Harvard College in 1747, when he commenced the practice of law in his native town. He was an early opponent of British aggression, and enjoying public confidence was elected a delegate to the Continental Congress, where he [illegible] was [illegible] was signer of the Declaration of Independence. In 1785 he was appointed by Washington the first Collector of Newport, which office he held until his death, Feb. 15, 1820.

east shore of Chautauqua Lake, about midway between Mayville and Jamestown. It contains one church, two hotels, (one of them large and built with a view to accommodating the numerous visitors who frequent the shores of the lake during the summer season,) a blacksmith shop, harness shop and fifteen dwellings. The steamboat upon the lake stops at the landing at this place.

Settlement was commenced at Bemus Point in 1805, by Wm. Bemus, from Rensselaer county. James Bemus, his son, who was then eight years old and still resides in the town, says that when his father started in search of a home he journeyed first to within fifty miles of Philadelphia, whence he turned his steps westward until he reached the Ohio, near Marietta, and from there he came by way of Meadville and Erie, Pa., to this county. Thomas, James and Jedediah Prendergast accompanied Mr. Bemus in his southern trip, and they with their families to the number of about thirty persons settled along the lake shore. They brought with them sixteen horses, six wagons and one coach. Jeremiah Griffith and Azariah Ingerson brought their families in the following year. The former settled in the south part of the town, on the place where Nelson Griffith now resides, and the latter, in the north-west part. Mr. Griffith's family consisted of his wife, five sons (Samuel, Jeremiah, Jr., John, Seth and Alex. H.) and one daughter. They came from Madison county by way of Buffalo, thence to Fredonia by Lake Erie and Canadaway Creek, and thence through the woods a distance of twenty-two miles to Chautauqua Lake, at Mayville, where the party separated, Mr. Griffith, his wife and daughter, in company with Samuel and one other son, proceeding upon the lake which was then frozen over, drawing after them a hand-sled. Night overtook them before their destination was reached and they encamped in the woods, sleeping upon hemlock boughs with blankets for a covering. The other party came down the shore of the lake, following the path cut by the Bemuses a few weeks previous to the Point, from which place they cut their way through the forest to their destination. They brought with them a sled, containing their effects, drawn by an ox team. At that time, says Samuel Griffith, who is now in his 84th year, there was only one family living between Fredonia and Mayville, and but two at Mayville. Game and fish were abundant, and on these they chiefly subsisted until their farms became productive. Their grain was pulverized with mortar and pestle, the common substitute for mills in new countries. Samuel Griffith and his brother Jeremiah were called to the defense of Buffalo during the winter of 1813 and saw it reduced to ashes by the victorious enemy. The daughter of Mr. Griffith was married to Amos Bird, from Mass., and from these families have sprung a numerous progeny. Thomas VanWert settled on the farm on which Jotham Bemus now lives in 1807. Joseph Strong and John DeMotte settled in the town in 1809. The former came from Cayuga county and located in the north-west part, on the farm now occupied by George Belden, where he raised a family of nine children and died at the age of 71; the latter came from Chenango county in the fall, with an ox team and sled, bearing his wife and five children, and located on the north half of lot 5, on Cassadaga Creek. Mr. DeMotte brought with him a quantity of apple seeds, with which he started a nursery, and in a few years set out an orchard, from which he began to harvest a few apples about 1822. Some of these trees, though old and sere, continue to bear fruit. Daniel, the oldest son of De Motte, was somewhat eccentric, though he was quite intelligent and displayed much ingenuity. In his younger days he spent much time in trying to solve the problem of the feasibility of a perpetual motion and his efforts were not relaxed until he demonstrated the fallacy of his theories. He subsequently turned his ingenuity to practical account by constructing a grist mill in the lower story of his house, the motive power for which was supplied by a small spring brook. The stones, which were about eighteen inches in diameter, were made from rock obtained on the farm, and, unlike ordinary mill stones, which run in a horizontal position, they were hung perpendicularly and discharged the flour in the same manner as the domestic coffee mill. The mill was fed with such precision that only three grains of corn were admitted at one time. It would run night and day with a very small quantity of water, and grind about three bushels of corn in twenty-four hours into excellent meal. As it was designed for his own use and convenience he did not seek the patronage of his neighbors, though when his own grinding was done he was always willing to accommodate them, without exacting fee or toll. Another ingenious contrivance saved him much time and arduous labor in supplying back-logs for his fire-place, which were indispensable in those days. In one jamb of the fire-place, which was capacious and constructed of stone, was a hole about two feet in diameter, through which was inserted one end of a log which rested on a moveable carriage. As often as that portion of the log exposed to the fire burned away the carriage was moved forward until the whole log was consumed. Joseph Smiley and Clark Parker came in 1810 and Wm. Smiley, about the same time. Both the Smileys participated in the defense of Buffalo, and William sacrificed his life there. James, son of Wm.

Smiley, and John, son of Joseph, who accompanied their fathers to this town, are still residing here, the former being seventy and the latter sixty-five years of age. Mrs. Smiley, upon the death of her husband, returned with her family to Chenango county, where she remained eight years, when she again took up her residence in Ellery. Abel Bronson and Allen Manley became residents in 1811. Bronson came from Bridgewater and settled in the north-east corner, where he died at the age of seventy. His sons, Oliver and Alfred, still live on the old homestead. Manley came from Berkshire county, Mass., and still lives on the lake shore, one and one-half miles above Bemus Point. He is eighty-six years old and is the oldest man in town. Thomas Parker, who participated in the defense of Buffalo, came from Otsego county in 1812, and in conjunction with his brother, Clark, who came two years previous, commenced improving a farm, for which they paid $2.50 per acre. Each worked at his trade until the farm was paid for. John Johnson came about 1812 and settled on the town line road. Mrs. Johnson is now living with John Vandewark, her son-in-law, and is eighty-four years old. David Young settled in the north-west corner, two miles from the lake, in 1815, at which time he says there were only three families—those of John Love, Jared Nickerson and Henry Angerson—living in that locality. Abijah Clark came the same year and settled on the lake shore road, on the farm on which he now resides. He is eighty-five years old. Joseph Loucks, Peter Loucks, his son, and M. P. Loucks, his grandson, also settled in 1815. They came from Madison county and located in Dutch Hollow. John Vandewark, Elias Clark and John Pickard came in 1816. Vandewark came from Herkimer county and settled on the town line road. Clark located on the farm on which he now resides at the age of eighty-one years. Pickard, with a family of eight sons and four daughters, came in company with Adam Van DeWorker and Lawrence Stom, from Madison county, and located on what is now known as Pickard street, on the first of March of that year. He bought of John DeMotte one hundred acres on the south part of lot 5 and built a log house on the east side of the road, nearly opposite the residence of the late Cyrus Ballard. The sons of Mr. Pickard, only one of whom (Abraham) is now living, at the age of sixty-three years, and subsequently his daughters, with their husbands, settled on this street. Van DeWorker took up fifty acres on lot 3, adjoining a farm of equal extent taken up by Adam Pickard, near Dry Brook. Stom bought out John Love and John Love, Jr., on lot 16, a tract of 200 acres, then known as the Hovey lot, from Josiah Hovey, who made a small beginning there in the spring of 1811, and selling soon after to Love, removed to Mayville, where he died many years since. Adam subsequently sold out, near Dry Brook, to take a place nearer his brothers on the hill. The Pickards were all carpenters and remarkably active men. Ezra Horton, who is now eighty years old, came from Cayuga county in 1820 and settled about one mile north-east of Ellery Center, on the place where he now resides. He says the families of James, Stephen and Garrett Newbury, who came two years previous, were then living there. Deacon Josiah Maples was an early settler in this town. He was born at New London, Conn., May 15, 1762. At the age of fifteen he entered the Revolutionary army and served until the close of the war. He lived at one time upon the Mohawk, and removed successively to Otsego, Yates, Erie and lastly to Chautauqua counties, and died in this town July 4, 1847, aged eighty-five years. He was twice married and was the father of eighteen children, all of whom lived to have families of their own. He always followed agricultural pursuits, and by industry and frugality amassed a competence. For the last sixty years of his life he was a deacon of the Baptist Church. The first school was taught in the north-west part, by Dr. Cary, in 1808; in which year was erected the first saw mill, by Wm. Bemus, who also kept the first inn, and built the first grist mill on Bemus Creek, in 1811. The first store was kept at Ellery Center by David Bellamy, in 1830.

The first Church (Baptist) was formed in 1808, by Elder Jones, who was then a resident of Ellery, at West Ellery, at the house of John Putnam, who was a deacon of the Church over forty years.*

The Baptist Church, at Ellery Center, was organized with nine members, in 1811, by Elder Asa Turner, the first pastor. The first house of worship was erected in 1813, the present one, in 1852, at a cost of $2,000. It will seat 500 persons. There are one hundred members. The pastor is Rev. C. C. Mackintosh. The Church property is valued at $5,000.

The First Universalist Church of Ellery was organized with twenty-three members, by Lewis C. Todd, the first pastor, Oct. 13, 1847. Their house of worship was erected in 1858, at a cost of $1,500, and will seat 400 persons. The Society numbers fifteen members. Its property is valued at $5,000.†

The M. E. Church, at West Ellery, was organized with twelve members, by Messrs. Chandler and Barnes, in 1831. Their first church edifice was erected in 1836; the present one, in 1860, at a cost of $1,700. It will seat 300 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Wm. Chandler; the present one is Rev. T. P. Warner. The Society numbers forty members, and its property is valued at $3,000.‡

The M. E. Church, at Pickard Hill, was organized about forty years ago. In 1871 they united with the United Brethren and built a Union Church, at a cost of $3,000. It will seat 300 persons. It is owned jointly, and occupied by both societies. The Society numbers twenty-two members. Their pastor is Rev. T. P. Warner.§

The United Brethren Church, at Pickard Hill, was organized with eight members in 1869, by Rev. Lansing McIntyre, the first pastor. In 1871 they united with the Methodists of this vicinity in erecting a Union Church, as stated above. There are twenty-two members, who are under the pastoral care of Rev. Job Miller.

ELLICOTT* was formed from Pomfret, June 1, 1812. A part of Busti was taken off April 16, 1823, and a part of that town was re-annexed May 7, 1845. Carroll was taken off March 25, 1825, and Poland, April 9, 1832. It is an interior town, lying south-east of the center of the county, at the foot of Chautauqua Lake, and contains 23,429 acres. Its surface is a hilly upland and has a gentle inclination toward the south-west. The principal streams are Chautauqua Lake Outlet, which is navigable for steamboats four miles, and Cassadaga Creek, which unite near the center of the east line. The soil is a sandy and gravelly loam.

The Atlantic and Great Western R. R. extends through the south part, following the general course of the Outlet. The Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh R. R. traverses the north-east part, crossing the A. & G. W. at Worksburg. The proposed Buffalo & Jamestown R. R., now in process of construction through Cattaraugus county, crosses the town, running parallel with and in close proximity to the A. & G. W. R. R.

The population of the town in 1870 was 6,679, of whom 5,177 were native, 1,502, foreign, 6,627, white, 49 colored and 3, Indians.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained twelve school districts and employed thirty-five teachers. The number of children of school age was 2,152; the number attending school, 1,739; the average attendance, 1,062; the amount expended for school purposes, $27,213.86; and the value of school houses and sites, $95,105.

JAMESTOWN (p. v.) is beautifully and eligibly situated in the center of the south border, on the outlet of Chautauqua Lake, and is a station on the A. & G. W. R. R., and on the line of the B. & J. R. R. It is a thriving village of 6,000 to 7,000 inhabitants† and was incorporated March 6, 1827. It contains ten churches,‡ a fine Union school, with academic and collegiate departments,§ two newspaper‖ and one job printing offices, three national banks, three first-class hotels and several *Named from Joseph Ellicott, the resident agent of the Holland Land Company.

†The population in 1870 was 5,529. It is estimated that there are 1700 Swedes in the village. They are located principally in the east part, on the south bank of the outlet, and are extensively employed as operatives in the various manufactories. They are clannish and slow to adapt themselves to the customs of our country, though they are very industrious and orderly.

* The manufacturing establishments consist of a woolen mill, operated by Allen, Preston & Co., who employ a capital of $100.000, fifty persons, thirty of whom are females, and manufacture about 100.000 yards of cloth and flannel per annum, about three-fourths of it being plain and fancy cassimeres: three cabinet manufactories, operated by D. C. & J. W. Breed & Co., who carry on the business established in 1820 by their fathers, Wm. & Jno. C. Breed, employ a capital of $60,000 and fifty men, and in 1872, produced about $80.000 worth of furniture; by Wood & Co.. who commenced business about three and one-half years ago, employ a capital of $27,000 and 34 to 40 men, and in 1872, produced about $55.000 worth of furniture, principally bedsteads, chairs and tables, which are specialties with them; and by Schildmacher & Bauer, who employ thirty men and a capital of $15.000, and manufacture $20.000 to $40,000 worth of furniture per annum: two cane seat chair factories, one operated on a very extensive scale by the Jamestown Cane Seat Chair Co., of which O. E. Jones is President, H. H. Gifford, Secretary and Treasurer, and C. E. Weeks, Gen'l Agent, who are a stock company, organized in 1870, employ a capital of $50,000 and 105 men, (besides about 1,200 persons, principally children, in caning seats,) and manufacture about fifty dozens per day, valued at $150.000 per annum; and the other by J. J. Gates, who employs $500 capital and manufactures about 1000 chairs per annum, valued at $750: three wood seat chair factories, operated by the Jamestown Wood Seat Chair Co., composed of Jno. J. Whitney, Seth D. Warner and Harrison C. Cheney, who have just commenced business, with a capital of $20.000, who employ 25 men, (which number they intend to double in a week or two,) and when running to their fullest capacity expect to manufacture 1,000 chairs per day, and do a business worth $180,000 per annum; by Chase & Son, who employ about $4.000 capital and 18 men, and manufacture about 25,000 wood, flag and reed seat chairs per annum, valued at $18,000 to $20,000; a piano factory, operated by George A. Georgi, who employs thirty men and a capital of $20.000, and manufactures about 150 per annum, valued at $75,000; two planing mills and two saw and planing mills, one of which, (L. B. Warner's) gives employment to fifty men, a capital of $100,000, and turns out about $100.000 worth of work per annum: two foundries and machine shops, one of which (the Jamestown Iron Works, of which Baker, Bros. & Co. are proprietors,) gives employment to 15 men and a capital of $20,000 and manufactures stock (in which dog-powers are made a specialty,) valued at $20,000 per annum, and the other, J. H. Clark's, doing a good business and gives employment to 21 men; two sash, door and blind factories, one of which (R. J. Barrows & Co.'s, at Pioneerville,) gives employment to 45 men and a capital of $15,394, and in 1872, manufactured stock valued at $44,724.17; one butter pail factory, operated by the Union Butter Pail Co., of which A. S. Prather and J. T. Wilson, (of Sharon, Pa.,) are proprietors, who employ 14 men and a capital of $54,000, (about $[illegible] of which is used in the butter pail business, the remainder having been employed in erecting the building, a part of which they now occupy, which contains four sections, each forty feet square, and one 55 feet wide, the whole building being 225 feet long and three stories high, and which was built for the purpose of renting sections with power, to supply which an engine of 125 horse power is used,) and manufacture about 50,000 butter pails per annum, valued at about $22.500; D. A. Seymour & Co.'s pump and water pipe factory and cooperage, in which five men are employed, about $5,000 capital used, and about $12,000 worth of stock manufactured per annum; C. A. Coates' cigar box factory, in which five men are employed, $1,000 capital used, and 8,000 to 10,000 boxes made per annum, valued at $16 per hundred; two grist and flouring mills; five carriage and wagon shops, employing in the aggregate about forty men and $[illegible] capital, and manufacturing about $45,000 worth of stock per annum; three washing machine manufactories; a stave factory, giving employment to six persons; a dry measure manufactory, in which are made 100 measures per day; a carding machine; a wheelbarrow factory, in which 5,000 are made per annum; a broom factory, in which fifty dozen brooms are made per day; an edge tool factory, in which about twenty men are employed, a capital of $25,000 or $[illegible] used, and about 3,000 dozens of edge tools, principally axes, valued at $36,000, are annually made; a sash balance manufactory, employing four men and a capital of $[illegible], and turning out about ten dozens per day; and an alpaca mill, which is now in process of erection and is to be completed in the fall of 1873. There are to be two buildings, the first 100 by 56 feet, three stories, with stone basement and brick super-structure, and an L, [illegible] by 5[illegible] feet; the second, 145 by 45 feet, one story of brick above the stone basement. FALCONERS STATION (Worksburg p. o.) is a hamlet situated on Chautauqua Lake Outlet, near the intersection of the A. & G. W. and D. A. V. & P. railroads, and contains a sash, door and blind factory,* saw mill, chair factory and a small grocery.

LEVANT is situated on the east border, at the confluence of Chautauqua Lake Outlet and Cassadaga Creek. Neate's brick yard at this place was established in 1840, and is manufacturing about 550,000 bricks per annum.

The Jamestown Cheese Factory, located two and one-half miles from Jamestown, on road 22, near 33, (see map) and owned by F. Blanchard, W. D. Shaw and S. S. Cady, formerly used the milk of 125 cows and made from eight to ten tons of cheese per annum, but the present proprietors are adding improvements which will enable them to use the milk of 250 cows.

Ross' Steam Saw Mill, built in 1873 by E. A. Ross & Co., and situated in the north part, on the D. A. V. & P. R. R., is capable of sawing one hundred thousand feet of lumber per annum.

Settlement was commenced in 1806, by William Willson, who located upon the Outlet, in the east part of the town. Thomas R. Kennedy and Edward Works settled on the Outlet in 1807, and Wilson Ellicott and James Culbertson, in 1808. In 1810, James Prendergast purchased a tract of land embracing the site of Jamestown. Prendergast was subsequently a Judge of Chautauqua county. He was a man of generous impulses and is credited with liberal benefactions to the early settlers in his vicinity. He was accustomed to give to each new settler a bag of flour. He was considerate toward the poor and lenient toward his debtors. At the settlement of his estate, says his son, Alex. T. Prendergast, who is now living in Kiantone, he burned notes amounting to several thousand dollars, which he had allowed to outlaw rather than become an oppressor of the poor. The mantle of the father has evidently fallen upon the shoulders of the son before named. At the outbreak of the war of the Rebellion he contributed $500 toward fitting out the first company raised in Jamestown, and when the draft was made in Kiantone he gave to each drafted man $100. The first house on the site of Jamestown was built for Judge James Prendergast, by John Blowers. Benjamin Lee and family, consisting of wife, four sons and two daughters, and Jonas Simmons, came from Berlin, Rensselaer county, in the spring of 1811, and were the first to settle in the western part of the town. They came with a span of horses by way of Utica, Syracuse, Canandaigua, Buffalo, Fredonia, Westfield and Mayville. The county was a wilderness; deer were numerous, and there were some bears and a few wolves. Mr. Lee settled upon the farm now occupied by his son, James Lee, who has since lived there. Jacob Fenton came to this town in the spring of 1814, from Mayville, to which place he moved the previous year, from New Haven, Conn. He settled at Jamestown and built the third house erected there. He kept the first inn on the site of that village. He established a pottery in 1814, and continued that business three years, when he removed to Fluvanna and resumed it there, continuing until his death in 1821. Benjamin Ross came from Cincinnati in 1815 and settled in Carroll, where he remained one year, when he removed to this town and settled on the Cassadaga, in the north part. His nearest neighbor was three miles distant, and he and Mr. Isaac Youngs cut a road through the forest for three miles to his location, the task occupying twenty-one days. They spent the nights where darkness overtook them. Here he erected a log house, into which he moved his family, consisting of wife and one child, in the fore part of December. For four weeks they occupied it without doors or windows, the apertures for these being covered with blankets. Here, two years later, Mr. Ross built a saw mill, the machinery for which he purchased at Pittsburgh and brought home in a canoe. He paid for the saw 11,000 feet of the first quality of pine lumber. The first saw mill was built in 1808, and the first grist mill in 1809, by Edward Works, who was the first to make available the water-power of the Outlet. The saw mill built by him was the second upon the waters flowing into the Allegheny. In 1811 James Prendergast built a dam across the Outlet at the rapids, now Jamestown, and the following year he erected a saw mill. In 1815 the village plat of Jamestown was surveyed and the name then given. In this year also the first school was taught in the house of John Blowers, at Jamestown, by Rev. Amasa West. Mary Blowers, daughter of John Blowers, was the first child born in Jamestown.

The First Congregational Church of Jamestown, the first church formed in the town, was organized with nine members, July 16, 1816, by Rev. John Spencer, a missionary from Connecticut. Their first church edifice was erected in 1824; the present one, which was two or three years under construction, was dedicated August 1, 1870. It cost about $80,000, and will seat about 600 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Isaac Eddy; the present one is Rev. Eli Corwin. The Society numbers 200 to 250 members; its property is valued at $45,000.*

The M. E. Church, at Jamestown, was organized about 1825, and its house of worship erected in 1828, at a cost of about $1,500. It will seat 900 persons. It has a membership of about 400. The pastor is Rev. R. M. Warren. The Church property is valued at $10,000.†

The Presbyterian Church, at Jamesville, was organized with fifty-four members, in March, 1834, by the [illegible] Presbytery. Their church edifice was erected in 1870, at a cost of $4,500, and will seat about 700 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Erastus J. Jillet; the present one is Rev. Wm. Wirt Macomber. There are about 225 members. The Church property is valued at $5,000.*

The Christian and M. E. Churches, at Fluvanna, united in the erection of a Union church in 1842. It cost $1,000, and will seat 250 persons. The pastors are Revs. E. T. Warner and A. S. Langdon.†

The First Baptist Church of Jamestown was organized with twenty members, May 24, 1832, and its first house of worship erected in 1834. The present house was built in 1857. It cost $4,000, and will seat 400 persons. The first pastor was Rev. David Bernard; the present one is Rev. P. B. Haughwout. The Society numbers 280 members; its property is valued at $18,000.‡

The Swedish M. E. Church of Jamestown and Sugar Grove was organized with two members in June, 1852, by Rev. Mr. Hammerin, the first pastor. The church edifice was erected in 1860, at a cost of $3,000, and will seat 250 persons. The number of members in June, 1873, was 138. The pastor was Rev. H. Alson. The Church property, including the buildings at Sugar Grove, was valued at $5,000.§

St. Luke's Church of Jamestown (Episcopal) was organized with fourteen members in 1853, by Rev. Levi W. Norton, the first rector. The first church edifice was erected in 1854-5; the present one, which will seat 300 persons, in 1864, at a cost of $6,000. The present rector is Rev. J. A. Robinson; and the number of members, 116. The Church property is valued at about $10,000.

The Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Church of Jamestown was organized with thirty members in 1857, by Rev. Jonas Swanson, the first pastor. The church edifice was erected in 1866, at a cost of $4,000, and will seat 800 persons. There are 1,024 members, under the spiritual tutelage of Rev. Carl Otto Hultgren. The Church property is valued at $10,000.‖

The Free Methodist Church was organized with seven members, Oct. 16, 1871, by Rev. C. D. Brooks, the first pastor. The Society worships in Westcott's Hall, which will seat 200 persons. There are eighteen members. The pastor is Rev. Chas. C. Eggleston.¶

ELLINGTON was formed from Gerry, April 1, 1824. Cherry Creek was taken off May 4, 1829. It lies upon the east border of the county, a little south of the center, and contains 22,808 acres. The surface is a rolling and hilly upland. Conewango Creek, which crosses the north-east corner, and Clear Creek, which flows through the north and central parts, in a south-east direction, are the principal streams. The soil is a sandy and gravelly loam.

The Buffalo & Jamestown R. R. enters the town from Cherry Creek in the north-east corner, and passing into Cattaraugus county at the village of Clear Creek, re-enters the town in the south-east corner, which it crosses and passes into Poland.

 The first town meeting was held at the house of Lucretia French, in the north part of the town, March 1, 1825, and the following named officers were elected: James Thatcher, Supervisor; Cornelius H. Nicholson, Town Clerk; Robert Jones, Jr., John Lenel and Chas. Thatcher, Assessors; Almonzo Hadley, Benj. Livermore and Geo. H. Frost, Constables; Almanzo Bailey, Col. Reuben Pendelow and Ward King, Overseers of the Poor; Robert James, Ira Gates and Henry McConnel, Highway Commissioners; [illegible] and Daniel C. Green, Nathan Brown and Reuben Pendelow, Fence Viewers.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,556, of whom 1,519 were native, 37, foreign and all, except two, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained twelve school districts and employed thirteen teachers. The number of children of school age was 493; the number attending school, 511; the average attendance, 257; the amount expended for school purposes $5,056.43; and the value of school houses and sites, $4,860.

ELLINGTON, (p. v.) situated on Clear Creek, near the center of the town, contains four churches, (Baptist, Christian, Congregational and M. E.) a Union school, hotel, three dry goods, one drug and two hardware stores, two groceries, two shoe shops, one harness shop, two wagon shops, four blacksmith shops, two cooper shops, one cabinet shop, one grist mill and nearly 400 inhabitants.*

CLEAR CREEK, (p. o.) situated on the east line and partly in Cattaraugus county, contains one church, one hotel, two stores, a harness shop, shoe shop, cabinet and cooper shop and about 25 houses.

Settlement was commenced about 1812 or 1813 by Benj. Follett, who settled in the north part of the town, on lot 40. He built a house, but remained only a short time, removing to Cattaraugus county. Joshua Bentley, from Stephentown, Rensselaer county, came in 1813 or 1814, and settled in the east part of the town, on lot 7. Joseph Bentley came the latter year and settled on the same lot. Joshua Bentley kept the first hotel in town, in a framed building, built of rough lumber, in which also was kept the first store by Messrs. Camp, Colvil & Holbrook. In the latter year or the year following James Bates,† from Massachusetts, settled in the north part, on lot 48. Wyman Bugbee, a native of Connecticut, moved into this town from Stockton, where he had settled with his father's family in 1811, and located in the valley of Clear Creek, in the north part of the town, where he resided till 1832, when he removed to Ohio.* Samuel McConnell and Simon Lawrence settled in the town in 1816. The former was from Cayuga county, and located on lot 47, in the north part; the latter came with his family from Rutland county, Vt., with an ox team, and located on lot 38. The journey occupied six weeks, and for six weeks after their arrival the family lived without bread. Alvah and Simon, Jr., are still living upon the same lot. The latter, born in 1817, was the first child born in the town. Simon Lawrence set out the first orchard in town and raised the first apples. Ward King, from Massachusetts, came in 1817. He settled on lot 16 in the north-east part, and on this lot, three years later, he built the first grist mill. The mill stones were obtained in the locality and fashioned by himself. The bolt was made of bleached factory. The stones were propelled by an overshot wheel, the water being conveyed to it by means of a trough hewn in logs. In this year (1817) the first marriage was contracted, by Rufus Hitchcock and Ranah Hadley; and the death of the former, which occurred six weeks after his marriage, by falling from a building, was the first in the town. In 1821 David Gross was killed while felling timber on lot 30. His father was killed in a similar manner the following year. Reuben Penhollow and Abner Bates settled in 1818. Penhollow came from Pittsfield, Mass., and located on lot 39 on the first of April of that year. He built a log house and cleared a small patch of ground, on which he planted a few potatoes. He was one of the party who threw the tea overboard in Boston harbor. Bates came from Chesterfield, Mass., with his family, consisting of his wife (Nancy) and five children, (Vinal, Joseph P., Mariah, Alvah and Corydon,) and settled on lots 48 and 50, on the 12th of July, 1818. He carried the most of his provisions on his back from Fredonia. Ebenezer Green, came from Pittsfield, Mass.,

* While hunting one day soon after his settlement, in company with two of his neighbors, his dog started a bear, at which he fired his last shot. But the bear, though hit, was not disabled, and after running a few rods, climbed a tree. Hughes called to his companions, who came to the rescue. Alvah Lawrence shot the bear in the head, but did not kill it, and it began to descend. The party, which now consisted, besides the two already mentioned, of Simon Lawrence, Z. Davenport, Geo. McConnell and Joseph Bates, the two former being armed with axes which they had been grinding, surrounded the tree with axes and clubs, awaiting the bear's descent. When about ten feet from the ground it dropped, and McConnell dealt it several blows upon the head with his club, but without any apparent effect. The bear started to run and Hughes's dog followed in close pursuit. Being sorely annoyed by the dog the bear turned upon it and gave it a terrible hug. The cries of the dog brought Hughes to its assistance. He got behind the bear and tried to open its mouth, but the animal sprang back and Hughes fell. A terrible struggle now ensued during which the bear bit Hughes several times in the leg. The position of the combatants was so frequently changed that the hunters [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ... was so faint that it was necessary to carry him home, and his injuries confined him to his house for six months.

in 1819, with an ox team, the journey occupying thirty days. That year he erected the first house on the site of the village of Ellington, and the same year made maple sugar on the site of the park in that village. The first sermon in the village was preached at his house in 1820, by Rev. A. Williams, a Methodist. While Mr. Green was looking after his cattle at a late hour one night he was chased into the village by wolves. The first saw mill in the town was built the latter year (1820) on lot 30, by Simon Lawrence. James Thacher settled on lot 64, Dec. 9, 1820. It was the custom at that time to turn the cattle into the woods to browse. At one time, Mr. Thacher lost a cow twenty-six days. It had strayed into a timber slashing, and when found had its head entangled in some bushes in such a manner as to be unable to extricate itself. It was alive when found, and continued to live. Nathan Bugbee, brother of Wyman, who had also previously resided in Stockton, settled on lot 20 in this town in 1822. About 1825 he removed to Saybrook, Ohio, where he died in the spring of 1860. Daniel C. Green settled on lot 24 in February, 1823, and in that and the following year many settlers came into the town. The first female child was born in the family of Benj. Follett. Milo Camp taught the first school in a part of McConnell's log house.

On the 8th of Sept. 1865, a rain storm of only three or four hours' duration produced a flood which did great damage throughout the town. It carried away nearly all the bridges, and threatened the destruction of the village. The hotel and Baptist church were swept from their foundations into the street. The Walden block was entirely destroyed. A. Mattock's house was carried across the park, and four of his children were drowned, one of them, a little four-years-old boy was never found. His wife was carried a distance of thirty rods under water, to a pile of drift-wood, on which she lodged. J. Torrey was swept from a shade tree in the park, up which he had climbed, by a small barn, which was carried down with the current, and was only saved from drowning by having a rope thrown to him from Holmes' store.

The Ellington Freewill Baptist Church, at Ellington village, was organized with eight members in 1829 or 1830, by Rev. Amos C. Andrus, the first pastor. The church edifice was erected in 1840, at a cost of about $1,200, and will seat about 200 persons. There are about 85 members; but the Church is without a pastor at present. The Church property is valued at about $2,000.‡

FRENCH CREEK was formed from Clymer, April 23, 1829.§ It lies in the south-west corner of the county, bordering upon Pennsylvania upon the south and west, and contains 21,886 acres. The surface is hilly and broken by the deep valley of French Creek, which, with its tributaries, are the only streams. The soil consists mostly of a heavy clay loam, well adapted to dairying, which forms the chief pursuit of the people.

The population of the town in 1870 was 973, of whom 815 were native, 158, foreign, and all white. Next to Kiantone it has the smallest population of any town in the county.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained seven school districts and employed seven teachers. The number of children of school age was 293; the number attending school, 261; the average attendance, 140; the amount expended for school purposes, $6,646.67; and the value of school houses and sites, $5,605.

There are no villages in the town.

FRENCH CREEK and MARVIN, both situated on French Creek, are post offices. The former is in the north part; the latter, in the south-west part, and is kept by A. Scarratt, who also keeps the only grocery in that part of the town.

A steam saw and shingle mill, in the north part, gives employment to six persons and manufactures 2,000 feet of lumber and 8,000 shingles in ten hours.

Settlement was commenced in 1811, by Andy Noble, who came from Oswego county and located on lot 44. John Cleveland settled on lot 31 in 1812, and Nathaniel Thompson on lot 9 in 1813. Roswell Coe, Ammon Beebe, Paul Colburn (from Oneida county) and Gardner Cleveland, settled in 1813, Coe, on lot 39 and Colburn on lot 44. The first death was that of a son of Nathaniel Thompson, who was drowned in French Creek. The first school was taught by —— Chitsey in 1818. The first inn was kept by Wm. Graves, who also built the first grist mill, in 1822. The first store was opened in one end of the grist mill by John Dodge.

The first religious services were held on lot 46, in 1818, by Elder Ashford, who also organized the first church, (Baptist) in 1821, in a school house which stood on the farm now owned by John Jones. This worthy Elder evidently attached great importance to "the outward and visible sign in the form of baptism," for it is related that he refused admission to the Church to an aged couple until they were immersed in his presence, although they had previously been baptized in accordance with the prescribed method. The aged couple were unwilling that personal comfort should be a barrier to their salvation, and accordingly a hole was cut in the ice, while the mercury stood below zero, and they went down into the water.

The French Creek Society of the M. E. Church, in the north-west part of the town, was organized with four members, (Isaiah and Betsey Golding and Wm. and Amy Adams,) in 1830, by Rev. J. K. Hallock, who, and J. Chandler, were the first pastors. Their house of worship was erected in 1858, at a cost of $2,000, and was finished painted and carpeted in 1867. It is a fine country church, stands on lot 46, and will seat 300 persons. In rear of the church is a continuous row of double sheds extending ten rods. The pastor is Rev. C. R. Waters. The Society numbers thirty-five members; its property is valued at $2,500.*

GERRY† was formed from Pomfret, June 1, 1812. Ellington was taken off April 1, 1824, and Charlotte, April 18, 1829. It is an interior town, lying a little north-east of the center of the county, and contains 22,105 acres. The surface is a hilly upland, the highest summits being in the north-east part and 900 feet above Lake Erie. The broad valleys of Cassadaga and Mill creeks extend along the west border, from north to south. The principal stream is the Cassadaga, which crosses the south-west part of the town. Several of its tributaries have their sources among the hills in the north-east part. Several sulphur springs exist in the town; and a gas spring has been

The soil is chiefly a clay loam; that in the Cassadaga valley being somewhat sandy. The town is well adapted to grazing, and dairying forms the chief pursuit of the people. The hills are timbered principally with beech and maple, and the valleys with hemlock, black-ash and pine.

The Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley and Pittsburgh R. R. enters the town in the north-west corner, and passing through the west part, along the Cassadaga valley, leaves it a little east of the center of the south border.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1096, of whom 1027 were native, 69, foreign and all, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained eight school districts and employed eight teachers. The number of children of school age was 351; the number attending school, 300; the average attendance, 150; the amount expended for school purposes, $2,037.78; and the value of school houses and sites, $3,175.

VERMONT, (Gerry p. o.) (formerly known as Bucklins Corners,) situated in the south part, is a station on the D. A. V. & P. R. R., and contains a Union church, hotel, two stores, a cheese factory, thirty dwellings and 150 inhabitants.

SINCLAIRVILLE STATION on the D. A. V. & P. R. R., is in the north-west part of the town.

Settlement was commenced in 1810, near Sinclairville, in the north-west part, by Stephen Jones and Amos Adkins. Early in the spring of that year Jones built a log house about one mile south of Sinclairville, and Adkins, his brother-in-law, built another near him. The same season James and William Gilmore came in and built a house near the Sinclairville railroad depot, upon the street leading from the depot to Sinclairville. In 1811 Melzar Sylvester and Hugh B. Paterson, and soon after David Cobb, settled upon this street. During this year, (1811,) the old Chautauqua road from Mayville to Ellicottville, Cattaraugus county, was cut through the north part of the town; and soon after it was opened, John Love, —— Bartlett, Seth Cole, jr., Ichabod Russell, Abner Comstock and Seth Grover settled upon it. A road was also opened from Sinclairville to Jamestown, which crossed the north-west portion of the town, and upon this Elijah Haswell, Cornelius DeLong (who was wounded at the battle of Bridgewater in the war of 1812,) Jesse D. Ward and others settled. Prior to 1815 no settlements were made in the town, except along the north and west borders, and much the greater portion of the town remained a dense and undisturbed forest. In the spring of 1812, Wm. Alverson came from Halifax, Vt., on horseback, to Gerry, and selected land south-west of the center of the town, about one mile north of the village of Vermont. He then returned to Vermont. In 1816, he, Porter Phelps, and Hezekiah Myers, from Vermont, and Jason Strong, from Rhode Island, purchased and settled lands there. This constituted the first settlement in this part of the town, which has since been widely known as Vermont Settlement. During the years immediately following, the eastern, southern and central portions of the town were rapidly settled, almost entirely by Vermonters, most of them from Windham county. At the present time, much the larger portion of the population of the principal part of the town are Vermonters, or their descendants. The first settlement upon the site of the village of Vermont was made by James Bucklin, and the place was formerly known as Bucklin's Corners. The first death in the town was that of the wife of Amos Adkins; the first birth was in the family of Stephen Jones. Howard Blodget kept the first store at Vermont in 1826. John Hines and Wm. Newton erected the first saw mill on Cassadaga Creek, in 1819, and the first grist mill in 1822.*

The first religious meeting was held in the spring of 1818, by Elder Jonathan Wilson.

Vermont M. E. Church was organized with ten members in 1867 or '68, by Rev. A. L. Kellogg, the first pastor. The Society is without a church edifice, and worships in a free church, which will seat 200 persons. There are thirteen members, who are ministered to by Rev. H. W. Leslie, our informant.

HANOVER was formed from Pomfret, June 1, 1812. Villenova was taken off January 24, 1833, and a part of Sheridan, April 16, 1827. It lies in the north-east corner of the county, upon Lake Erie, and contains 29,112 acres. A part of the Cattaraugus Indian Reservation lies in the north-east part of the town. Along the lake shore the surface is level or undulating, and in the central and southern parts it is hilly, with an inclination toward the north. Cattaraugus Creek forms a portion of the north boundary. The interior streams are Silver and Walnut creeks, with their tributaries, the former flowing in a north-westerly, and the latter in a northerly direction, which unite near the lake and discharge their waters into it within the limits of the village of Silver Creek. The soil is clay, gravel and gravelly loam, and, except where the clay largely predominates, is very productive. The town is admirably adapted to dairying. Deposits of excellent building stone exist in the vicinity of Forestville.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R. crosses the north part of the town, near the lake shore, and the Erie R. R., the central part.

The population of the town in 1870 was 4,037, of whom 3,526 were native, 511, foreign, 4,015, white and 22, colored.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained sixteen school districts and employed twenty-six teachers. Previous to the construction of the railroads, an extensive business was carried on at the harbor, and several lake vessels were built here, among which was the steamboat, W. F. P. Taylor, which was built in 1836 by Oliver Lee and others. The first was built by Ira Fairchild, in 1816. Mr. Lee, with some assistance from the general government and individuals, built a convenient dock, where vessels and steamers discharged large quantities of merchandise and received produce of almost every description. A light-house was kept at the expense of the government for many years; but the completion of the railroads so effectually revolutionized business and the means of transportation, that these works have gone to decay.

In 1870, McNeal & Huyck erected a building, put in a steam engine and machinery and commenced the manufacture of the Silver Creek Smut Machine, which is constructed on a different principle from that made by Howes, Babcock & Co., and a large number have been made and sold. products evinced more enterprise and thrift than many of the places along the shores of the lake, which are now more important. Individuals engaged in mercantile pursuits, the professions and mechanic arts, with good schools and churches, all in a flourishing condition, have given way, to a considerable extent, to the ravages of the waters of the creek occasioned by the freshets. The soil is loose and easily moved by the water, and often great damage is done to private property by this agency. There is still, however, much business enterprise left.

Settlement was commenced near Irving in 1797, by Amos Sottle, who, as before stated, was the first settler in the county.‖ Wm. Sidney and Capt. of Forestville the same year. Thomas Merritt, Joseph Brownell, Joseph Henderson, Geo. Comstock, John Parker and James Jewett came in 1810. Merritt came in March and located one and one-half miles east of Forestville, cutting his way through the pathless forests. He was well and favorably known from his participation in the militia trainings in Westfield. He died in Iowa, Nov. 15, 1871, at the age of 83 years. Brownell was a native of Newport, R. I. He settled at Nashville, where he was the first post master, and in 1812, upon the erection of the town, he was elected the first Supervisor. He was called out with the militia in 1812. He took an active part in forming the first Baptist Church in town, and for many years kept an excellent tavern. He was actively identified with the interests of the town until his death, at the age of 71 years, April 14, 1844. Henderson and Comstock located at Hanover Center, long known as Angells Settlement, the former owning the lands belonging to the Gridley family and Daniel C. Smith, and the latter, those belonging to Alonzo Horton and a part of the Ethan Angell farm. Parker and Jewett settled on the road leading from Silver Creek to Forestville, near where J. F. Spink and Comfort Birdseye now live. James Knapp, who served as a Captain during the war of 1812 and was present at the burning of Buffalo, came from Butternuts, Otsego county, about 1810. Samuel J. Smith, Nedebiah Angell, Samuel Nevins, Salmon Prentice, John DeGroat, Isaac Smith, Christopher McManus and Dr. Jacob Burgess came in 1811. S. J. Smith, who is now 85 years old and retains his mental faculties, came from Saratoga county in June and settled on the farm he now owns. He has held several town offices. Angell, Nevins, Prentice and DeGroat settled at Angells Settlement, near Hanover Center, to which Mr. Angell gave his name. Angell located on the farm recently known as the Wiley farm, on the four corners, and having held many town and county offices, and kept an inn at Forestville from 1830 to 1833, removed the latter year to Battle Creek, Mich.; Nevins, on the farm now owned by H. H. Hawkins; and Prentice, on the farm owned by Luke Cockburn, though the buildings then stood on the road leading to Smiths Mills, and opposite the site of Thomas Roberts present residence. Isaac Smith first hired a small log house one mile north-east of Forestville, and the same year took up the piece of land now owned by Warren Griswold. He brought with him twelve children, among whom was Rodney Smith, from whose ownership of the mills at Smiths Mills that place derived its name, and who, after a life of usefulness, is still living at the age of 75 years. Christopher McManus, a Revolutionary hero, came in March of that year (1811) and located on the place now owned by his son James. He died in 1849, at the advanced age of 91 years. Dr. Burgess was a fine scholar and possessed high attainments. He practiced his profession successfully many years, and died at a ripe old age, about 1856. Thomas Bagley, a native of New Hampshire and hero of the war of 1812, came in 1813, and is now living, aged 87 years. From this period until the close of the war settlement was retarded. Being a frontier town it was exposed to the visits of the British naval forces. Capt. Harmon, of Ashtabula, Ohio, the owner of a small vessel, was pursued by the British armed brigs Queen Charlotte and Hunter and sought refuge in Cattaraugus Creek. The brigs fired several shots, which were afterward found and kept many years in remembrance of their visit, but the little vessel had found safe mooring up the creek about eight rods above the railroad bridge. On the appearance of the vessels a messenger was sent to the Indians upon their reservation. They came quickly and in large numbers, anxious for a fight, and took posts along the banks of the creek, near the lake. Soon after the arrival of the Indians the vessels, to the great disappointment of the savages, but the no less satisfaction of the residents, turned and went off into the lake. One company of militia from Hanover accompanied the Chautauqua regiment to Buffalo and Black Rock in December, 1813. Unaccustomed to the stern exactions of war they returned home after a few skirmishes and one battle in a distressed and somewhat demoralized condition, with the loss of three killed (Messrs. Nash, Bovee and Hubbard) and some wounded. During the war and two or three years following it much suffering was experienced by the settlers. The seasons were unpropitious and a scarcity of provisions was felt. Some were obliged to dig up the potatoes they had planted, to satisfy the hunger of their children. Soon after the restoration of peace the influx of settlers commenced with considerable activity. About this time Otis Tower settled at Hanover Center, on the farm now occupied by Philo Osborne; Marshall Brown, on the farm upon which his grandson, Rush Brown, now resides; and Jacob Morrison, at Silver Creek, on the north side of the creek, on Howard street, where he worked a small tannery. James Black, from Oneida county, Marmeduke Ball, Benj. Horton, Belinus Green, John Weeks and Ebenezer Wood came in 1816. Ball came from Pompey, Onondaga county, and Stephen Ball, his son, who came with him, is still living in the town. Horton, who came from Cheshire, Mass., bought of Comstock's widow and settled where he now resides in the family of his son, Alonzo. He is 80 years old. Green, who came from Vermont, and is about the same age as Horton, settled on the farm where he now lives with his son, Edwin. Weeks and Wood were also from Vermont and settled where Charles Stebbins and Timothy Vallance now live. Walter Libby came from Maine in 1817 and settled on the farm he now owns. He is 82 years old and still in possession of vigorous mental faculties. Philo Newton came with his sons, (Heman, Samuel, Lyman, Charles and Henry J.,) from Berkshire county, Mass. His other sons came at a later day. About this time came Wm. Colvill from Scotland. He settled on the north side of Main street, near where his sons Wm. Jr. and Dr. D. Colvill now reside. He was a man of sterling character, and his family of highly educated sons and daughters was justly considered a great acquisition to the town. Soon after his arrival he purchased the mills of Jehiel Moore and lands lying west of the village, on the side hill, as well as most of the lands north of Main street to the creek. The price was paid in British coin and was said by the settlers of that period to be of such marvelous amount that Moore could but just carry the bag containing it upon his shoulder.

The first child born in the town was Caroline Sidney, in 1804. The first marriage was contracted by Richard Smith (who was in after years one of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Erie county, then a part of Niagara,) and Sally Mack, daughter of Capt. John Mack, in 1807. The first death was that of Wm. Sidney, (the same who accompanied Settle on his return in 1801,) in January of the same year. The first saw mill was built by Abel Cleveland and David Dickerson, at Silver Creek, in 1804, and to the saw gate they attached a pestle, by which they pounded corn for food in a mortar made by digging and burning out the end of a log. The next year they built a grist mill, near the creek, on or near what is now known as Howard street, and north-west of where Elder Woodbury now lives. Jehiel Moore built a grist mill about the same time at Forestville, upon the site now occupied for the same purpose by C. D. Angell & Co. The first public house of any pretensions was opened in 1806, by Capt. Mack, near the mouth of Cattaraugus Creek, though Skinner, as before stated, had previously entertained such as were in need of shelter. Mack's tavern and ferry were institutions well and favorably known for many years. In 1806 John E. Howard purchased some 300 or 400 acres of land from Cleveland and Dickerson, (they reserving some thirty acres where their mills and improvements were,) and built a framed house, in which he opened the first [illegible] Mills. the first school in Silver Creek in a log hut, which stood on the north side of the creek between the residence of George Swenderman and the new house built by J. J. Robson. The first religious services were held by Rev. John Spencer, in 1808 or 1809.

The M. E. Church of Forestville was organized with seven members, in 1816, by Rev. D. D. Davidson, the first pastor. The first church edifice was erected in 1816; the present one, which will seat 400 persons, in 1851, at a cost of $6,500. There are 125 members, who are under the pastoral care of Rev. Mr. Townsend. The Church property is valued at $15,000.*

The Forestville Baptist Church was organized with 29 members, Nov. 15, 1817, by Nathan Mixer and others. The first house of worship was erected in 1825; the present one, in 1850, at a cost of $4,000. It will seat 350 persons. The first pastor was Rev. James B. [illegible]; the present one is Rev. Emerson Mills. There are 196 members, the whole number who have united with the Church being [illegible]. The Church property is valued at $6,000.†

The M. E. Church of Silver Creek was organized with seven members, about 1828, by Rev. J. Robinson, the first pastor. Their house of worship, which will seat 250 persons, was erected in 1848, at a cost of $1,100. Previous to its erection the Society worshiped in school houses and the house of the Presbyterians. The pastor is Rev. J. M. Bray. The Society numbers eighty-two members; its property is valued at $5,000.‡

The First Presbyterian Church of Silver Creek was organized with thirteen members Oct. 28, 18[illegible], by Rev. L. B. Gray and Timothy Stillman. Their first church edifice was erected in 1831; the present one in 18[illegible], at a cost of $[illegible]. It was remodeled and thoroughly repaired in 1863—4, at an expense of some $4,000, and will seat 300 persons. Rev. O. C. Beardsley was the first pastor; Rev. Charles W. Wood is the present one. The Society numbers 128 members; its property is valued at $12,000.§

The First M. E. Church of Irving was organized by J. H. Taggert, and erected its first house [illegible] and '[illegible]. It was repaired in 18[illegible], and will seat [illegible] persons. The present pastor is Rev. P. Burrows, and the number of members about thirty. The Church property is valued at $2,500.‖

The First Baptist Church of Hanover, at Nashville, erected their church edifice in 18[illegible], at a cost of $1,500, the present value of Church property. The present pastor is Rev. D. E. Burt.

HARMONY was formed from Chautauqua, Feb. 14, 1816.¶ A part of Busti was taken off April 16, 1823. It lies upon the south border of the county, a little west of the center, and contains 54,918 acres, being by far the largest town in the county. The surface is a moderately hilly upland, the highest summits being about 900 feet above Lake Erie. Chautauqua

Lake forms the north-east boundary. The streams are Little Broken Straw Creek, which flows south into Pennsylvania, and Goose Creek and a branch of Prendergast Creek, which flow north into Chautauqua Lake. The soil is a clay and gravelly loam. Quarries of a fine kind of sandstone for building purposes are found in various localities. Upon the farm of Lester Hobart, about two miles south-east of Panama, is a mineral spring which is said to possess great medicinal properties, and whose waters, we are informed, were much used by the early settlers. The water, as it flows from the hillside, is highly colored, and decidedly brackish.

The Atlantic & Great Western R. R. crosses the south-east corner of the town.

The population of the town in 1870 was 3,416, of whom 3,213 were native, 203 foreign, and all, except eight, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained twenty-two school districts and employed twenty-three teachers. The number of children of school age was 1,047; the number attending school, 970; the average attendance, 491; the amount expended for school purposes, $6,399.08; and the value of school houses and sites, $21,175.

PANAMA, (p. v.) situated on Little Broken Straw Creek, west of the center of the town, is a pleasant village of about 600 inhabitants,* and was incorporated in 1861. It contains three churches, (Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian,) a Union school, eight stores, three shoe shops, two carriage factories, a grist mill, saw mill, two planing mills, a cooper shop, harness shop and four blacksmith shops. It was once a thriving village, but its isolation from railroad communication has effectually checked its growth. It is distant five miles from the A. & G. W. R. R. on the east, and equally distant from the Buffalo, Corry & Pittsburgh R. R. on the west. A hotel formerly stood upon the beautiful hills on the west side, but was destroyed by fire some five years since. The village is now without a hotel of any kind, and its want proves a serious loss to the business men and inconvenience to the traveling public.

ASHVILLE, (Harmony p. o.) situated on Goose Creek, near the east line and Chautauqua Lake, is a station on the A. & G. W. R. R., and contains three churches, (Baptist, Congregational and Methodist,) one school, one hotel, three stores, a grist mill, saw mill, two shoe shops, two wagon shops, one cabinet shop, two blacksmith shops, a harness shop, and had, in 1870, 350 [illegible].

* The population in 1870 was 650.

Charity Lodge, I. O. of G. T. was organized Nov. 28, 1868. It has forty members.

Alhambra Division, No. 46, S. & D. of T. was organized Feb. 7, 1868, and has sixty members.

GRANT STATION, (Broken Straw, p. o.) situated on Little Broken Straw Creek, in the south part of the town, is a station on the A. & G. W. R. R., and contains two churches, one school, one hotel, two stores, a blacksmith shop, saw mill and about thirty dwellings.

BLOCKVILLE, (p. o.) situated on Goose Creek, four and one-half miles east of Panama, contains one church, (Methodist) a school house, a saw mill, grist mill, two blacksmith shops, three cooper shops, one carriage shop, two groceries and about thirty dwellings. The population in 1870 was 200.

PANAMA STATION, (Watts Flatts p. o.) situated in the south-east part, on the A. & G. W. R. R., contains a school house, saw mill, feed mill, four stores, one hotel, two blacksmith shops, a shovel-handle manufactory and about thirty houses.

STEDMAN (p. o.) is a hamlet near the north line.

Strenuous efforts are being made to effect a division of the town and the organization of a new one by running a north and south line through the town about four miles west of Ashville and annexing a part of Busti, thus making Ashville a central point in a new town.

Settlement was commenced upon the west shore of the lake in 1806, by Jonathan Cheney.* Daniel B. Carpenter, from Washington county, settled near the lake the same year. Myron Bly, Sr., from Burlington, Otsego county, settled upon Goose Creek, on the site of Ashville, in 1809, bringing with him his family, consisting of his wife and four children. Myron Bly, Jr., his third son, who was 65 years old Dec. 10, 1872, has, with the exception of about four years, since been a resident of Ashville. Obediah Morley, Reuben Slayton, Jr., and Theron Bly, brother of Myron, came in 1810. Morley brought his family and settled where his son Venus now resides. Slayton settled upon Goose Creek, on the site of Ashville, March 10th of that year. He came from Springfield, Otsego county, with his family consisting of his wife and four children, and purchased a tract of 250 acres. In 1811 he built a saw mill upon the site of the present saw and grist mills in Ashville, and on the south side of the saw mill he built an addition for a grist mill. He borrowed for the latter a run of stones at the inlet for a short time. A rock was found, which, by being split, furnished a pair of stones of such excellence that they were continued in use until the fall of 1872, a period of about sixty years. The raising of the water by the construction of the dam produced a sickness in his family which resulted in the death of his wife, brother (Thomas) and mother-in law. His father, from whom he was named, who also accompanied him, returned to Springfield with the intention of removing his family here, but he sickened and died soon after reaching that place. At this saw mill, which was the first in the town, Slayton sawed the lumber for the Jamestown saw mill, which was built soon after his. Charles D. Slayton, the fourth child of Reuben Slayton, Jr., who was 65 years old Dec. 4, 1872, has since resided in the town. Theron Bly came from Burlington, Otsego county, with his family consisting of his wife and three children, and after three years residence here he returned to that county to take charge of his father's farm, remaining five years, when he again came to this county and died in 1850, at the age of 65. He left three sons and one daughter, the latter of whom and two of the former are still residing in the town. Wm. Matteson, Sr., Orange Phelps and Josiah Carpenter became residents of this town in 1811. Matteson was from Burlington, Otsego county, and settled, with his family, consisting of his wife and twelve children, on the shore of the lake, three miles from Ashville, upon land purchased in 1809, on the 9th of February. They came down Chautauqua Lake upon the ice from Mayville. Matteson was a blacksmith and the first one of his profession to settle in the town. He was a soldier of the Revolution, and was the last pensioner of that war in Chautauqua county. He died in April, 1858, aged 98 years. His son, Victor M. Matteson, has since resided in the county, and, with the exception of four years, in this town. Phelps settled in the county in 1809 and in this town, at Ashville, in 1811. He died Feb. 14, 1865, aged 86 years. Carpenter purchased land in the town in 1809, but did not settle upon it until 1811, since which time his family have resided here. Samuel Hurlbut, with his family, consisting of his wife and three children, settled near Blockville in 1815, since which time Edson, his son, has been a resident of the town. Samuel died in 1865, aged 85 years. Simeon Weaver settled here in 1816, and Wm. Webber in 1817. John [illegible], Sr., came from the town of Litchfield, Herkimer county, to the town of Ellery, February 24, 1811, and to Harmony in February, 1821. He died April 15, 1826. His sons John, Jr., and Sardius have resided in Harmony since 1821, the former, who was for ten years Supervisor of Harmony and for two years a member of the State Legislature, now resides at Panama, and the latter at Ashville. The first birth was that of Junia Carpenter, son of James and grand-son of Josiah Carpenter. About twenty-five years since he removed with his family to Ohio, where he died some twelve or fifteen years ago. The family is so scattered that we were unable to ascertain the date, though the fact is stated on good authority.* James McClellan kept the first public house and Titus Kellogg, the first store. The latter also built the first ashery, and Ephraim Berry, the first distillery. Eben Pratt taught the first school in 1817.

The first religious services were held by the Baptists in the school house at Blockville, under the direction of Rev. Simeon Powers.

The First Harmony Baptist Church, at Panama, was organized with sixteen members, May 14, 1817, by a council consisting of Revs. John Lasure and Asa Turner and Messrs. John Putnam, Lorenzo Hunt, Russel Babcock, Wm. Marsh and Henry Bliss. The first house of worship was erected in 1826, and was burned Sunday morning, June 25, 1876. The present house was erected in 1880, at a cost of $7,000, and will seat 350 persons. Rev. Simeon Powers was the first pastor; Rev. W. H. Husted is the present one. The Society numbers 175 members; its property is valued at $7,000.†

The Second Congregational Church of Harmony, at Ashville, was organized with nine members, June 20, 1824, by Rev. John Spencer, the first pastor, and erected the church edifice, which will seat 200 persons, in 1826, at a cost of $1,000. There are seventy-five members who are under the pastoral care of Rev. Emery Jones. The Church property is valued at $1,500.‡

The First M. E. Church of Blockville was organized with six members in January, 1838, by Rev. Mr. Hill, the first pastor, and erected their church edifice, which will seat 200 persons, in 1838, at a cost of $1,500. The pastor is Rev. H. H. Moore; the number of its members, forty. The Church property is valued at $2,000.§

The Third M. E. Church of Panama was organized with six members in 1826, by Rev. David Preston, the first pastor, and erected their church edifice, which will seat 300 persons, in 1851, at a cost of $2,000, exclusive of the present value of Church lot, etc. There are 180 members, who are under the spiritual tutelage of Rev. H. H. Moore.‖

The First Close Communion Baptist Society of Ashville was organized with seven members in 1868, by Rev. James Handy, the first pastor. The previous year Dr. Abner N. Shaw, Albert Partridge, Julia Hurlbut, Reuben Slayton, Jr., Maria Shaw, Lucy Hicks, James Nordholm, son and Jr., Maria Berry and C. D. Slayton, only two below of whom is now a member of this Church, were constituted a branch of the Maryville Baptist Church by that society. Their church edifice was erected in 1868, at a cost of $3,500, and will seat 300 persons. There are twenty-five members, but the Church is without a pastor. The Church property is valued at $3,000.¶

The First Presbyterian Society of Panama was organized with five members, Nov. 20, 1824, by Rev. Justin Parish, a minister of the Baptist Presbytery, by the advice and with the consent of Revs. Samuel Lockwood and Isaac Jones, members of the same Presbytery. Their house of worship was erected in 1836, at a cost of $1,614, and will seat 250 persons. The first pastor was Rev. A. W. Gray; the present one is Rev. C. Burgess. The Society numbers 111 members; its property is valued at $5,000.

86, foreign and all, white. It had the least number of inhabitants of any town in the county.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained five school districts and employed five teachers. The number of children of school age was 233; the number attending school, 166; the average attendance, 88; the amount expended for school purposes, $1,203.95; and the value of school houses and sites, $1,925.

KIANTONE (p. o.) is situated south of the center, six miles south of Jamestown, and contains about twenty-five dwellings. The population in 1870 was sixty-two.

GOULDS CORNERS is a hamlet near the north border.

The Kiantone Farmer's Club consists of thirteen members, with Osmond Fields as President and Azariah Hall as Secretary, and was organized for the promotion of the agricultural interests of the town. It has been in operation four years.

Settlement was commenced on lot 29 in 1806, by Joseph Akins. Robert Russell and James Hall settled on lot 28 in 1810. The former built the first saw mill, on Kiantone Creek, and the latter kept the first store, on the lot upon which he settled. Stephen Rogers taught the first school in 1814. The first inn was kept on lot 11 by Wm. Seaver. Otis Moore settled in this town in the winter of 1816 and '17. He came from Leverett, Mass., in company with families named Davis, with ox teams and was six weeks on the way. He died in April, 1872.

This town furnished thirty-two soldiers during the war of the Rebellion, eight of whom were killed or died of wounds and disease.

The first religious services were held by the Congregationalists at the house of Joseph Akins, in 1814, under the direction of Rev. Mr. Smith, and June 27th of the following year, the Congregational Church of Kiantone was organized with six members, by Rev. John Spencer, the first pastor. The Society erected the house in which they worship in 1830. It cost $1,500, and will seat 200 persons. There are ninety-one members. Their pastor is Rev. Elliot C. Hall, our informant. The Church property is valued at $4,500. This is the only Church in the town.

MINA was formed from Clymer, March 23, 1824.* Sherman was taken off April 17, 1832. It lies upon the center of the west border of the county and contains 21,842 acres. The surface is rolling and hilly. The principal streams are French Creek, which crosses the south-east corner, and its tributary upon the west border. The head waters of Twenty Mile Creek are in the north-east part. Findleys Lake is a fine sheet of water in the south-west part.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,092, of whom 951 were native 141, foreign and all, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained eleven school districts and employed twelve teachers. The number of children of school age was 555; the number attending school, 437; the average attendance, 228; the amount expended for school purposes, $3,323.34; and the value of school houses and sites, $6,600.

FINDLEYS LAKE, (p. o.) situated at the foot of the lake of the same name, contains a church, Union school, hotel, five stores, two harness shops, two blacksmith shops, one carriage shop, two saw mills—one steam and one water power*—a grist mill, shingle mill and photograph gallery.

MINA CORNERS (Mina p. o.) is situated a little east of the center and contains about fifteen dwellings. A. D. Holdridge's steam saw and shingle mill, located near here, gives employment to eight men, contains five circular saws, and has facilities for sawing 10,000 feet of lumber and 10,000 shingles per day, besides a large quantity of lath.

FRIENDS is in the north-west part. E. Chesley & Co.'s steam saw-mill in this vicinity contains five saws, one of them being five feet in diameter, gives employment to five men, and has facilities for sawing 10,000 to 15,000 feet of lumber per day.

Settlement was commenced on lot 52 in 1816, by Alex. Findley, a native of Ireland, who, previous to his arrival here had resided in Pennsylvania. Aaron Whitney, from Dunnville, Canada, settled on lot 59 in 1821, and Zina Rickard, on lot 28, and Roger Haskill on lot 50, the same year. James Ottaway, from Kent county, England, settled on lot 14 in 1823. Jeremiah Knowles settled at an early day, one and one-half miles north of Findleys Lake, when there was not a public road in the west part of the town. He was a civil engineer, and laid out the first public road in that locality. It is said that Nehemiah Finn made the first butter sent to New York from Chautauqua county, and that John Shaver made the first firkin and owned the first dog-power in the county. The first birth was that of a daughter of Nathaniel Throop, in 1823, and the first death that of the mother of the same individual in 1825. The first marriage was contracted by Isaac Stedman and Nancy

*Silkrigg & Speckenagle's steam saw mill, located here, is the largest in the town. It gives employment to eight to ten persons, runs three saws, and has facilities for cutting 1,500 feet of lumber per hour. Messrs. Case & Clark, of Buffalo, are engaged in shipping lumber from this mill.

The M. E. Church, in West Mina, was organized with thirty-five members in 1857. Their house of worship was erected in 1859, at a cost of $650, and will seat 300 persons. The first pastor was Rev. R. C. Chapman; the present one is Rev. L. E. Beardsley. The Society numbers twenty-five members; its property is valued at $1,000.‡

POLAND was formed from Ellicott, April 9, 1832.§ It lies upon the east border of the county, south of the center, and contains 22,341 acres. The surface is a hilly upland, divided into several distinct ridges. The principal streams are Conewango and Cassadaga creeks, which unite near the south line.

The Atlantic & Great Western R. R. crosses the town in the north part; the Buffalo & Jamestown R. R. runs parallel with it; and the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh R. R. crosses the south-west corner.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,418, of whom 1,287 were native, 131 foreign, and all, except three, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained eleven school districts and employed nine teachers. The number of children of school age was 484; the number attending school, 416; the average attendance, 231; the amount expend-

KENNEDY,* (p. v.) situated in the north-east part, on the Conewango, is a station on the A. & G. W. R. R. and contains two churches, one hotel, eight stores, a grist mill,† barrel factory, saw, planing and lath mill,‡ two blacksmith shops, three wagon shops, two shoe shops, a livery stable and 284 inhabitants.

A daily stage to Ellington leaves Kennedy at 5.15 P.M., and a tri-weekly leaves Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for Forestville at 8 A.M., stopping at Clear Creek, Cherry Creek, Villenova and Arkwright Summit, and arrives at Forestville at 4 P.M.

POLAND CENTER, (p. o.) is a hamlet on the A. & G. W. R. R., containing a hotel and steam saw-mill, with a capacity for sawing one million feet of lumber per annum, and 3,000 shingles per day.

Saxton's saw mill, located on Cook Creek, in the north-east part of the town, saws about 100,000 feet of lumber per annum.

Waterboro's steam saw mill, situated on the Conewango, in the north-east corner, has facilities for sawing 12,000 feet of lumber per annum.

Wait's shingle mill, situated on Mud Creek, manufactures about 300,000 shingles per annum.

Hartson's saw mill, situated on the Cassadaga, in the west part, saws half a million feet of lumber per annum.

Settlement was commenced upon the site of the village of Kennedy in 1804 or '5, (Harry Abbott, of Kennedy, says the former year,) by Dr. Thomas R. Kennedy, from Meadville, Penn. In 1805 he built a saw mill there, the first erected in the town, the lumber from which is believed to be the first rafted down the Allegheny from this county;§ and in 1806 he built a grist mill at the same place. Edward Shillitto settled in the same locality about the same time. Other early settlers were Amasa Ives, Isaac Young, —— Owens, —— Miles,

* Originally named Kennedy's Mills, from Charles Kennedy.

† The mill occupying the site of this was burned Nov. 30, 1871, and the present one built in 1872. It contains four runs of four-feet stones and one run of two-feet stones.

‡ This mill is capable of sawing 10,000 feet of lumber per day, besides doing a considerable amount of planing, and manufacturing a large quantity of lath.
Brook's stave factory, located here, manufactures 600,000 staves and about 1,000 tubs and firkins per annum.

§ It is generally believed, and has been so stated by historians, that this was the first saw mill erected in the county. This is undoubtedly incorrect, as saw mills were built in Hanover and Westfield as early as 1804, though it was doubtless the first in this section of the county.

Joseph and Daniel Wheeler, Nicholas Dolloff and Joshua Woodard. Abram Staples came to this town from Marcellus, Onondaga county, in 1813, and has since resided here. He is now 81 years old. He helped to cut the first roads and build the first bridges in the town. At an early day in the history of the settlement he lived six weeks upon potatoes and milk. Nelson E. Cheney came to this county from Windham county, Vt., in 1812, and settled in Kiantone. In 1819 he removed to Poland Center, where he has since resided. He is now eighty years old. He assisted in erecting the first frame building in Jamestown—the grist mill built for Judge James Prendergast. Hobart Newton, a native of Westminster, Vt., came here from Henrietta, Monroe county, in 1825, and has since resided here. Jeremiah Hotchkiss came from Perry, Wyoming county, in 1827, and died in 1868. John True, from the same place, came in July, 1828, and located on the farm where he now resides. Geo. Hills came from Rome, Oneida county, in 1829, and still lives here. Capt. Norton B. Bill, a native of Southwick, Mass., where he was born, Dec. 26, 1794, also removed here from Perry, Wyoming county, in 1830. He died Oct. 26, 1871. Joseph Clark, Jr., came to this town from Burlington, Otsego county, in 1831, and has since resided here. Joseph Clark moved into this county from the same place in 1809. He remained long enough to build a shanty and clear four acres of land, when he returned to Burlington, where he died in 1870, aged 79 years.

The First Baptist Church of Kennedy was organized with twenty-two members, [illegible] 1826. Their house of worship was erected in 1868, at a cost of $2,500, and will seat 250 persons. The first pastor was Rev. B. Braman: the present one is Rev. H. A. Conrad. There are fifty-one members. The Church property is valued at $2,[illegible].*

Union Free Church, at Kennedy, was organized about 1857, in which year the church edifice, which will seat 500 persons, was erected, at a cost of $2,500, the present value of Church property.*

United Wesleyan Church, (Wesleyan Methodist) in the west part of the town, was organized by Rev. Emory Jones, the first pastor. The church edifice will seat 200 persons and was erected in 1872, at a cost of $2,500. The present membership is about thirty-five; and the pastors, Revs. Daniel Ball and Emory Jones. The Church property is valued at $3,000.†

POMFRET was formed from Chautauqua, March 11, 1808. Ellicott, Gerry and Hanover were taken off June 1, 1812; a part of Sheridan, April 16, 1827; a part of Arkwright, April 30, 1829. Another portion was annexed to Arkwright in 1830. It lies north of the center of the county, a very small portion of the north border in the west corner being washed by Lake Erie, from which it is separated by the town of Dunkirk. It contains 28,899 acres. The surface in the north part is a comparatively low plain, being included in the lake shore slope; while in the south it is a rolling upland, the highest summits being 700 to 800 feet above Lake Erie. The principal stream is Canadaway Creek, which flows through the northern and central parts. Other smaller streams flow north into the lake, and a portion of the head waters of Cassadaga Creek lie in the south part. The soil is a clay and gravelly loam. Quarries of sandstone suitable for building purposes have been opened on Canadaway Creek at Laona and Shumla, in the rocks of the Portage group. The mass at Laona is about five feet thick, the upper three feet often forming but a single course, thus affording blocks of large dimensions. It is highly bituminous, and petroleum is seen on the water which rises from the earth in the vicinity of the rock. About three miles south of Fredonia there is a quarry of shale and sandstone, from which some blocks of about a foot in thickness have been obtained. These are succeeded by shale and thin layers of sandstone. Along Canadaway Creek, especially at and in the vicinity of Fredonia, alternating with the strata of slate which form the bed of that creek are found thin seams of a substance resembling bituminous coal, or rather what seems to be indurated petroleum, from which carbureted hydrogen is evoked. This gas is discharged most copiously at Fredonia, where it issues in sufficient quantity, and is used to illuminate the village.*

The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R. crosses the north-west corner of the town, and the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley and Pittsburgh R. R. passes through the eastern part.

The population of the town in 1870 was 4,306, of whom 3,656 were native, 650, foreign and all, except twelve, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained sixteen school districts and employed seventeen teachers. The number of children of school age was 1,504; the number attending school, 611; the average attendance, 329; the amount expended for school purposes, $5,158.14; and the value of school houses and sites, $5,505.

FREDONIA,† (p. v.) situated upon Canadaway Creek, in the north-east part of the town, three miles south of Dunkirk, with which it is connected by horse cars, is a beautiful village of about 3,000 inhabitants and was incorporated May 2, 1829. tains five churches, (Baptist, Episcopal, Free Methodist, M. E. and Presbyterian—old school—and a Congregational Society without an edifice,) two newspaper offices, (Fredonia Censor and Advertiser and Union,) two banks, two hotels and several manufacturing establishments, principally wagons and carriages, sashes, doors and blinds and pumps.* The village is well laid out, handsomely shaded, is lighted by natural gas which is emitted in sufficient quantity to supply the whole village,† and the State, induced by the intensly bitter feeling which was manifested by the representation in the local board, involving the temporary suspension of the school, passed an act abolishing all boards consisting of more than thirteen members. This school was the only one affected by the act, and, it is believed, was the only one embraced in its design. In the fall term of 1869, Rev. J. W. Armstrong undertook the arduous and responsible task of appointing a new faculty and restoring to a healthy condition the chaotic elements he found governing the school. By judicious management he has succeeded in harmonizing the conflicting opinions which gave rise to the disturbances, which may be referred principally, perhaps wholly, to religious prejudices, and the school is now in a prosperous condition and doing a noble work. The faculty connected with the school numbers sixteen. The routine of studies embraces primary, junior, senior and academic practicing schools in addition to the Normal department. The number of Normal students during the year 1872 was 350. The present building will accommodate 700 pupils. It is built substantially of brick and is an imposing structure. The interior of the building consists of a basement, containg the furnace rooms, gymnasium, accommodations for the janitor's family and accessory rooms; the ground floor, containing at the north end the junior room, with its accessory rooms, at the south end, the senior room, with its accessory rooms, between them the primary rooms, and the chapel, which projects from the rear and is capable of seating 800 persons; the first floor, containing at the north end the normal room, with its accessories, at the south end the academic room, with its accessories, and in the center rooms for the family of the principal; and the upper floor, containing the libraries, with 3,000 volumes, and rooms for classes in drawing. The cabinet consists of a fine selection for class purposes, imported from Germany and valued at $600, to which it is proposed to add an amount of equal value during the present summer, (1873) and a general collection, small and unarranged, valued at $300. The philosophical, chemical and and astronomical apparatus are valued at $2,500. The Fredonia Academy was merged in the Normal School at the opening of the latter, and now forms the academic department in it. The Normal building and grounds, valued at $97,500, together with furniture valued at $4,200, and library and apparatus valued at $6,430, making a total value of $108,130, were presented by the village to the State for the purpose of establishing a Normal School. The State guarantees to maintain in the School an academic department and keep it free to all persons residing in the village.

*The principal manufacturing establishments are those of Taylor, Day & Co., who give employment to about seventy men and manufacture 1,200 to 1,500 road and business wagons per annum; Mallett, Green & Bissell and Herman & Reuther, who give employment to about 25 men, and manufacture about 150 carriages and buggies per annum; and Henry C. Lake, who is just completing a building and putting in machinery for the manufacture of the Globe force pump, on which he now gives employment to about fifty men. He expects to manufacture about 2,500 pumps the present year (1873.)

†The use of natural gas at Fredonia was begun in 1821, when experiments were made to determine its illuminating value and it was introduced into a few of the public places, among which was the hotel which then occupied the site of the Taylor House, and which was thus illuminated when Lafayette passed through the village. The gas used at that time was the first used in the United States, and the gas works established here were the first in this country. The spring first discovered and from which gas was first used is located on the north bank of Canadaway Creek, at the bridge crossing that stream on Main street in the village of Fredonia. The gas escaped at various places in the immediate vicinity, but when the well was sunk it was drawn to it. The gas from this well, which was sufficient for about thirty burners, was used alone until 1858, when another well was sunk on the creek, in the north-west part of the village, by Preston Barmore, the shaft being thirty feet deep, six feet in diameter at the top and fourteen feet at the bottom, with two vertical borings, one of 100 and the other of 150 feet depth. In the fall of 1858, Elias Forbes, the present president of the gas company, purchased a half interest in the well, and that fall a company was formed, and during the remainder of that and the following year, the gas in sufficient quantity to supply about 2,000 cubic feet per day was conducted to the is supplied with good water from a spring in the north-east part of the corporation. The water is collected in a reservoir and conducted through mains in ample quantity for fire and domestic purposes. Two handsome parks which were donated by the Holland Land Co. adorn the center of the village, fronting on Main street and divided by Temple street. Each is ornamented with tastily laid out walks, fine shade trees and a beautiful fountain, the water for which is drawn from the reservoir which supplies the village. The fire department consists of an engine company, (Fredonia No. 1,) supplied with a hand engine and about 1400 feet of hose. The village is a station on the D. A. V. & P. R. R.

village through three miles of mains, and supplied directly from the well to the stores of the village. During the latter year (1859) the company put in a gas receiver or holder of 12,000 cubic feet capacity, and supplied private houses. In the fall of 1871, Alvah Colburn made a boring for gas near his mill, with a view to supplying fuel for generating steam therefor; but the supply was inadequate for that purpose though it was evolved in considerable quantity. He therefore purchased the Barmore interest in the gas company and connected his well, which is 1,230 feet deep, with the company's receiver, since which time the supply of gas has been ample for the demands of the village. Previous to the opening of Colburn's well the supply of gas was not sufficient to meet the demand for it during the winter, and the deficiency was made up by gas manufactured from coal. Prof. Hadley's experiments show that the consumption of natural gas as compared with that manufactured from coal, through burners of equal capacity and in equal times, is less than one-half, with a greater candle power. He shows that a burner which consumed six feet of coal gas in one hour with an illuminating power equal to fourteen sperm candles, six to the pound, consumed of the natural gas a fraction less than three feet, with an illuminating power of a little more than sixteen sperm candles. The natural gas also possesses a greater diffusive power, and one who has been accustomed to the use of coal gas, finding it difficult to read ordinary print without being in close proximity to the light, is astonished at the facility with which he can read in any part of an ordinary sized dwelling room under the light from the natural gas. Thus Fredonia is supplied with a good and cheap light, as the price corresponds with that of other places of even greater size.

Settlement was commenced at Fredonia in 1804, by David Eason and Thomas McClintock, from Pennsylvania. The latter contracted two and one-half sections in the west part of the present corporation limits in 1803, and this sale, it is believed, is the first in this county recorded upon the books of the Holland Land Co.* He kept the first inn in the town. Among others who settled this and the following year (1804 and '5) were Low Minegar, Judge Zattu Cushing,† Hezekiah Barker

* Statement of Ex-Lieut. Gov. Geo. W. Patterson, of Westfield.

† Judge Zattu Cushing, son of Nathaniel and Lydia Cushing, was born at Plymouth Rock, Mass., in 1770, and was one of a family of thirteen children. During the Revolution his father converted his large real estate into Continental money, the depreciation of which reduced him to poverty. Zattu, in consequence, received only such scholastic advantages as the district schools of that period afforded, though he was carefully nurtured in those sterling qualities which grace true manhood. He was apprenticed to a ship carpenter and, after learning his trade, worked at it some time in Boston harbor; but disliking that occupation he resolved to try farming and removed to Saratoga county, in this State, where he took up a piece of land. A sickness there of several months so reduced his means that when he recovered he had left nothing but an ax, and with that upon his shoulder he went on foot to Paris Hill, Oneida county, where, in company with a Mr. Cowan, he took up a farm in the wilderness. They did their own cooking and washing two years, and having no team, exchanged works with a neighbor who had, by which means they cleared their lands and prepared them for crops. In 1795, he married, at Ballston, Saratoga county, Miss Rachel Buckingham, with whom he became acquainted during his brief residence in that county. In 1799 he was employed to go to Presque Isle (now Erie, Pa.,) to superintend the building of the ship Good Intent, which he claimed was the first built upon Lake Erie, and which was lost with all on board, on the Canada shore, in 1805. On his return home he spent the first night upon the lot on which he subsequently settled, and which he then resolved to make his home as soon as the lands came into market. In February, 1805, he came with his family and goods to this vicinity, with two sleds, each drawn by a yoke of oxen. He also brought with him four cows, a barrel of salt, half a bushel of apple seeds, and two men to assist in clearing. From Buffalo they journeyed by the lake, upon the ice, intending to go on shore before dark, "but night and a terrible tempest came unexpectedly upon them." The leaks in the ice made it dangerous to proceed, so they undertook to spend the night upon the sleighs where they were, with the oxen so placed as to break off the wind as much as possible. The Judge had with him an old fashioned dinner horn, upon which he blew at intervals, hoping to attract the attention of some settler, and not in vain, for it was heard and heeded by two men, who came with lanterns about one o'clock in the morning and piloted them ashore near Eighteen Mile Creek. Before daylight the ice was so much broken up that escape then would have been impossible. On arriving he was disappointed to find that the lot he had selected had been taken by Thomas McClintock. He got an article of the farm subsequently occupied by Samuel Marsh and built a log house, occupying in the meantime an unfinished shanty erected the previous year by Low Minegar. There was neither floor, door, nor chinking between the logs, but it promised immediate partial shelter from the deep snow and cold of that season. His cattle subsisted upon browse, as no other food was obtainable. In the fall of 1807 he sold his farm, on which he had cleared fifty acres, to Mr. Marsh, and bought of McClinand Samuel Geer. Barker made the first considerable clearing within the village corporation in 1807, on the site of the Academy. In 1808, Israel Lewis and Samuel Geer, in the employ of Mr. Barker, chopped and logged the common, which he afterwards donated to the village. In 1806, J. P. Bellows, Oliver Woodcock, Philo Orton, Daniel G. Gould and others came in. Woodcock came from Sangerfield, Oneida county, in company with the families of Richard Williams and James Morgan. A little daughter of Mr. Woodcock's was killed in October of that year by the fall of a tree, while engaged in picking nuts in a clearing, where a man was chopping. This was the first death which occurred in the town, and the first interment made in the old cemetery. The first school in the town was taught that winter by Mrs. Woodcock, at the request of the neighbors. She had sixteen pupils. Orton was a native of Tyrringham, Mass., but removed here from Augusta, Oneida county. He was the first supervisor of Pomfret, and held that office from 1808 to 1813. On the organization of the county he was appointed Associate Judge, which office he filled with ability and general acceptance many years. Gould settled near Fredonia on the 18th of June, and died at Forestville, aged 84 years. Elijah Risley and John L. Bartoo came in 1807. Risley came in the spring of that year from Cazenovia, Madison county, with his family of wife and seven children, and goods conveyed by an ox team, and settled at Fredonia. His first log hut stood upon the site of a frame house subsequently built by Rev. Samuel Sweezy, a Presbyterian clergyman, and afterward known as the Berry house. In 1808, he opened a store, which was the first in the county. Bartoo came from Oneida county. He was a millwright and built the first saw and grist mills in the town, at Fredonia, for Hezekiah Barker, the same year. He also built the first carding mill in the county. Dr. Squire took the one he had in view when he arrived, paying $100 for the privilege. It consisted of 557 acres, and he went immediately to Batavia and paid the whole purchase price—$1,392.50—receiving his deed Nov. 7, 1807. Upon the erection of the county in 1808, Mr. Cushing represented it as Associate Judge, the courts then being held at Buffalo; and when its organization was completed in 1811, he was appointed First Judge. During the war of 1812 he did much by voice and example to allay the fears and anxieties of the settlers, and participated as a private in the battle at Erie. In August, 1816, his wife died, and in the fall of 1817 he married Miss Eunice Hopkins, of Burlington, Otsego county. In 1822 he retired from the bench, with a high reputation for ability and integrity. In 1826, he, in company with Joseph Spencer and others, built a boat for the Erie Canal, which was named The Fredonia Experiment. He worked upon it with great zeal and animation, and with the same old carpenter's tools which had been laid by for thirty years. It was towed by "a hundred yoke of oxen" to Dunkirk, and loaded with the first wheat sent from the county to the New York market. The consignors were Todd & Douglass, of Fredonia. Judge Cushing was a man of exemplary piety and rare benevolence. While his benefactions to religious and educational interests were munificent, they were not confined to these, but were extended as bounteously to the needy settlers, many of whom had occasion to revere his memory. He died January 13, 1849, after years of patient suffering.—[A Memoir of Judge Zattu Cushing, by O. W. Johnson, Esq., of Fredonia, delivered before the Scientific and Historical Association of Fredonia, Jan. 1854.

White, the first regularly licensed physician in the county, settled at Fredonia in the summer of 1809, and for half a century practiced his profession here. He was born at Guilford, Vt., Nov. 20, 1785. Feb. 9, 1811, he was appointed the first Surrogate of the county, and held that office until 1818. He was elected a Member of Assembly in the interest of the anti-Masonic party in 1830, '31 and 32. He died of pleurisy, after a short illness, at Fredonia, April 2, 1859. Leverett Barker came in 1809, and in 1811 he established the first tannery in the county at Fredonia. Among the first who settled at Laona was Dr. Cooley, who located on the farm known as the Hezekiah Bull farm. He built a saw-mill at an early day, and later sold to Thomas Bull, who built the first grist mill there. Oliver Cleland, of Berlin, Ohio, came to this county with three brothers, all of whom are still living, and settled at Fredonia March 11, 1811. He served under Col. James McMahan in the war of 1812, and assisted in repelling a party of the enemy who attempted to capture the corn designed for the command to which he belonged, at the mouth of Canadaway Creek. He is now eighty years old.

The Baptists, through the instrumentality of Judge Cushing, were the first to inaugurate religious services. The first meeting was held in November, 1808, and was attended by nine persons—five males and four females. This movement led to the organization of the first religious society in the town and the second in the county, in 1808.

Fredonia Baptist Church, the first in the town, was organized as the First Baptist Church of Pomfret, with sixteen members, Oct. 20, 1808, by a council consisting of Revs. Joy Handy, Joel Butler and Hezekiah Eastman, which convened in Judge Cushing's barn, which was for many years the most spacious edifice in town. The name was changed May 25, 1876. The first church edifice (the first in the county) was erected in 1821-2; the present one, upon the site of the first, in 1853-3, at a cost of $10,000; [illegible] about one-half the present value of Church property. It was dedicated July 7, 1853, and will seat 600 to 800 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Joy Handy; the present one—the seventeenth in number—is Rev. Lester Williams, jr. It has a membership of 260.*

The Presbyterian Church, at Fredonia, was organized with twelve members, Sept. 20, 1810, by Rev. John Spencer. The first pastor was Rev. D. D. Gregory; the present one is Rev. A. L. Benton. The church edifice was erected in 1836, and will seat 400 persons. A new one is about to be built, at a cost of $25,000. The Church property is valued at $16,000.†

Trinity Church of Fredonia (Episcopal) was organized with about six members, Aug. 1, 1832, by a public meeting, over which Gen. Elijah Risley presided. The first rector was Rev. David Brown; the present one is Rev. W. O. Jarvis. The Society numbers 185 members.‡

The M. Protestant Church, at Fredonia, was organized with fifteen members, in 1858 by Rev. O. C. Payne, the first and present pastor. The church edifice will seat about 500 persons, and was erected in 1863, at a cost of $2,000. There are forty members, and three have gone from this Church into the ministry. The Church property is valued at $3,000.§

The M. E. Church of Fredonia consists of 175 members. The church edifice was erected about five years since. It cost $30,000, and will seat 400 persons. The pastor is Rev. A. N. Craft. The Church property is valued at $31,000.‖

For Dry Goods, Clothing or Carpets, JAMESTOWN.

PORTLAND was formed from Chautauqua, April 9, 1813.* Ripley was taken off March 1, 1817, and a part of Westfield, March 19, 1829. It lies upon Lake Erie, a little west of the center of the north border, and contains 20,510 acres. Upon the lake and back from it for two or three miles the surface is rolling; but the central and western parts are broken and hilly. Numerous small streams, none of them important, flow into the lake. The soil is a clay and sandy loam, and that upon the lake slope is admirably adapted to grape culture, to which it is largely devoted. The manufacture of wine from grapes forms an important feature in the industrial pursuits of the inhabitants.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R. extends through the north border of the town; and the Buffalo, Corry & Pittsburgh R. R. passes in a circuitous course from Brocton, its northern terminus and point of intersection with the L. S. & M. S. R. R., through the central and south-western part of the town.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,887, of whom 1,693 were native, 194 foreign, and all, except two, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained eleven school districts and employed twelve teachers. The number of children of school age was 570; the number attending school, 484; the average attendance, 256; the amount expended for school purposes, $3,903.80; and the value of school houses and sites, $10,950.

BROCTON, (p. o.) in the north-east part of the town, contains two churches, one hotel, six stores, two wagon shops, one tannery, one grist mill, two cooper shops, two blacksmith shops, two cabinet shops, a millinery establishment, an extensive wine cellar,† and a population of about 500. The depot of the same

*The first town meeting was held at the house of Jonathan Cass, in the village of Westfield, in April, 1814, and Thomas Prendergast was elected Supervisor; Asa Hall, Town Clerk; Jonathan Cass, Oliver Stetson and David Eaton, Assessors; John Post, Wm. Bell and James Parker, Commissioners of Highways; Samuel Dickson, Collector; Robert Dickson, Jabez Hulburt and David Eaton, Commissioners of Schools; Elijah Hayden, Amos Atwater and James Parker, Inspectors of Schools; Samuel Dickson and Asa Hall, Constables; James Montgomery and John Brewer, Overseers of the Poor.

†The Lake Shore Vineyards, owned by Ryckman, Day & Co. were established in 1859, by Ryckman, Haywood & Fay, and a building 30 by 50 feet, two stories high and one and one-half above ground, was erected for manufacturing and storing wine. In 1865 the business was sold to individuals who organized a company under the title of the Lake Shore Wine Co., and in 1867 erected an addition, 40 by 50 feet, two stories above and two below ground, each ten feet, to increase their facilities for manufacturing and storing. In 1868 the Company sold to the present proprietors. They buy all the grapes used, principally from the vicinity of Brocton, though they lay under contribution the whole section of country between Silver Creek and Sandusky, Ohio, including about 1,500 acres devoted to grape culture. They have a capacity of 2 tons of grapes and make about 150 gallons of wine per annum. They use the Catawba, Diana, Delaware, Iona, Isabella and Concord grape extensively, but principally the former. The finest grapes for the purpose are obtained from Ohio. They have storage facilities for about 200,000 gallons, the two lower stories of their building being used for storage purposes and the two upper ones for manufacturing.

name is about one mile distant, at the junction of the L. S. & M. S. and B. C. & P. railroads.

CENTERVILLE (Portland p. o.) is situated a little north of the center, and contains three churches, (Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian,) and had, in 1870, a population of 141.

SALEM-ON-ERIE, in the north-east part, is the home of a society established in 1861, at Wassaic, Dutchess county, by Rev. Thomas L. Harris, formerly a Universalist minister in New York city, and removed to this locality in 1867. They assume no name, but are known to others as the "Harris Community." They own about 2,000 acres of land, and are extensively engaged in the culture of grapes, and the manufacture of wine. They have a wine press and wine cellars, a greenhouse for the sale of plants, a hotel, restaurant and other property. They have a unity of interests, though the marriage relations are held sacred; and although they are united on a religious basis, no conformity to a religious creed is exacted. Their religious views, though not confined to, are strongly tinctured with those of Swedenborg, but extended and divested of apparent crudities in the Swedenborgian faith. While holding to the belief in spiritual translation and the possibility of communication between the worlds of spirit and matter, they reject and condemn the phenomenal phase of spiritualism. They consecrate their lives to high and holy purposes, and strive to subordinate self and selfish interests to promote the general welfare. It is difficult—impossible—to convey an adequate conception of their religious views and purposes in life with the aid of a definitive sentence to which the scope of this work limits us; hence, one who would know them as they are must study the works defining their position, and become familiar with their life practices by intercourse with them. For this reason, and for the purpose of evading the frivolous inquiries of the curious, they are very reticent upon religious subjects, preferring generally to allow the visitor to form his own conclusions rather than attempt a definition which might only mislead or convey but a vague idea of their life purposes.

Settlement was commenced on lot 31, in the vicinity of Centerville, in 1804, by Capt. James Dunn, from near Meadville, Pa. The following year he built a shanty, into which he moved his family, consisting of his wife and six children. A few months later he built a shanty on land now owned by John Dudley; and in 1806 he erected a more commodious log house on lot 30, near the residence of Mr. Dudley. In 1808 he opened a tavern on the road surveyed by James McMahan in 1805. In 1806 settlements were made by Nathan and Elisha Fay on lot 25, the former locating on the farm now owned by Lincoln Fay, and the latter where he now resides; Peter Kane and John Price on lot 38, the former on the farm now owned by Mrs. Leach, and the latter on that owned by Edward McGarrall; Benj. Hutchins, on lot 41, on the farm owned by Geo. W. Arnold's heirs; David Eaton, on lot 30; and Nathaniel Fay on that part of lot 12 now occupied by F. Fay. All settled in township V, and of the number only Elisha Fay is now living. James Parker settled on lot 37, Joseph Correll on the east part of lot 29, and Nathan Crosby on lot 33, all in township V, in 1807. Erastus Taylor settled on lot 4, in the same township, in 1808. In 1809, settlements were made in the same township by Roe Goldsmith, on the north-west part of lot 7, Jeremiah Klumph on lot 19, Rufus Perry and David Joy on lot 33, David B. Granger on lot 37, P. Ingersoll on lot 41, Parsons Taylor on lot 34; and in township IV., by Andrew Kelsey on lot 55, and Jared Taylor on lot 63. In 1810 settlements were made by Perry Hall and Leonard Vibbard on lot 62, township IV.; and in township V, by Daniel Barnes on lot 3, Jeremiah Potter and Wm. Hutchins on lot 29, and Absalom Harris on the east part of lot 33. In 1811 Wilder Emerson settled on lot 55, and Jonathan Burch on lot 62, in township IV.; and Elijah Fay* on lot 20, Wm. Berry on lot 25, John Quigley on lot 30, and Calvin Barnes on lot 33, in township V. Hollis Fay came into the town this year, but did not locate land until 1813, when he settled in the north part of lot 13, in the latter township. Chester Bushnell located on lot 53, and Sanford Haines on lot 62, in township IV., in 1812; and Hiram Fish on lot 54, in the same township, in 1813. During the war, the settlements were retarded, but after its close were resumed with the former rapidity.

The first religious services were held at the house of Capt. Dunn, in 1810, by Rev. John Spencer, who organized the first church (Congregationalist) in 1817.

The First Baptist Church of Portland, at Brocton, was organized with eleven members, in 1819, by Rev. Jonathan Wilson, the first pastor. Their house of worship was erected in 1857. It cost $11,000, and will seat 400 persons. There are 160 members. The pastor is Rev. G. W. Divoll. The Church property is valued at $13,000.

West Portland Baptist Church was organized with 87 members. The church edifice was erected in 1842, at a cost of $3,000, and will seat 300 persons. The present pastor is Rev. Wm. B. Downer, our informant, and the present number of members, thirty-six. The first pastor was Rev. Jonathan Wilson. The Church property is valued at $4,000.

* Deacon Elijah Fay was the first settler in the vicinity of Brocton village. He located on the farm now owned by Mrs. L. E. Ryckman, and was the father of the grape culture in this county. He planted the first vineyard in 1824, and some of the vines then planted are still growing at the old homestead and continue to bear, though all, except four, which are preserved as relics, have been taken up.

Lake Erie, in the north-west corner of the county, and contains 31,110 acres. A belt of level land two miles wide extends from the lake along the north border. The surface in the south-east part is broken and hilly, the highest summits being 800 feet above the lake. The middle and southern parts are much broken. The principal stream is Twenty Mile Creek which flows in a north-westerly direction through the central and southern parts, forming deep gorges, among which are Truesdall's and Peak's gulfs, which are 400 to 500 feet deep, with almost perpendicular banks on either side for several rods. In the former gulf Wm. S. Prouty lives upon a farm of about fifty acres which, although much cut up by the stream, is very productive, and grapes and fruit of all kinds common to the country grow in great abundance. Numerous small streams flow into the lake. The soil is a clay and gravelly loam. That in the plain bordering the lake is well adapted to the cereals, to which it is largely devoted; while that upon the table lands is best adapted to dairying purposes. The timber skirting the creek is literally buried under the wild grape vine, which grows in great profusion. Valuable deposits of sand-stone exists along the lake shore, where quarries have been opened. These deposits exhibit interesting instances of elevation and fracture of the strata in the rocks of the Portage group. The strata are mostly shales or shaly sandstones, with a single thick bed of sandstone, which is broken at numerous points along the curve. The irregular fracture is strongly stained by decomposing pyrites; and there seems to have been injected mud, which has forced its way into all the fissures and between the shaly laminæ, for several inches and often for several feet. The laminæ of slate and shaly sandstone are broken, and stand in the fracture at various angles, from nearly horizontal to vertical. The fracturing of the strata has rendered the mass much more destructible, and the waves have worn a deep, cavernous depression, which recedes fifteen or twenty feet beyond the general line of the cliff. Many of the indentations along the shore are produced in this manner, their commencement being the fracture in the strata.

The monument erected on the west line of this town Aug. 23, 1790, to designate the west line of the State, was replaced in 1869 by another, located 440 feet south of it, by Commissioners from the States of New York and Pennsylvania, in consequence of its being defaced and in danger from the encroachment of the waters of the lake.

The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R. extends through the town near the lake shore.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,946, of whom 1,702 were native, 244, foreign and all, except five, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained twelve school districts and employed thirteen teachers. The number of children of school age was 654; the number attending school, 530; the average attendance, 262; the amount expended for school purposes, $3,503.16; and the value of school houses and sites, $5,590.

QUINCY (Ripley p. o.) is a thriving village situated in the north part, one mile from the lake, and is a station on the L. S. & M. S. R. R. The population in 1870 was 350.

STATE LINE STATION is a hamlet near the west line and on the L. S. & M. S. R. R., containing a church, (M. E.) school house and two stores.

The town contains three steam saw mills which are doing a good business. They give employment to eight or ten men and saw about 17,000 feet per day. Carris & Houghton's shingle mill gives employment to three men and manufactures about half a million shingles annually. Goodrich's tannery gives employment to two men and tans about 3,000 hides per annum.

Settlement was commenced in 1804 by Josiah Farnsworth, who came from the east part of the State and located on the site of Quincy. Perry G. Ellsworth, Samuel Truesdall, Alex. Cochrane and Wm. Alexander settled in the town the same year. Ellsworth located near Farnsworth, on lot 12. Truesdall, who was a hotel keeper and farmer, near the Pennsylvania line; and Cochrane, on lot 10, in the north-west part. Silas Baird settled on lot 6, in the north-east part, in 1806, and Thomas Prendergast, who was born at Pawling, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1758, son of Wm. Prendergast, who emigrated from Ireland, settled in the town the same year, and died there June 3, 1842, aged 84 years. He was elected Supervisor of the town of Chautauqua in 1809, and though he did not change his residence in this town, by the division of towns he was elected Supervisor of Portland in 1814 and of Ripley in 1817. Ira Loomis also settled here in 1806. Charles Forsyth settled here in 1808, and Alex. Lowry, brother of George and Morrow Lowry who settled at Mayville, came here about 1808 or '9. The Lowry brothers had previously settled in Erie county, Penn., but owing to difficulties experienced relative to land titles they were obliged to leave their improvements there and commence anew in the wilderness of Chautauqua county. James Taylor, who was a noted hunter, came from Rockbridge county, Va., to Greenfield, Erie county, Penn., 1803, and to State Line Station in this town in 1812. He subsequently took up 100 acres south of the Station. He had a family of six children—four sons and two daughters—only three of whom are now living. He died in 1840, at the age of 59 years, and his wife in 1836, at the age of 54 years. The first inn was kept near the State line in 1805, by Samuel Truesdall; and the first school was taught a little west of Quincy, in 1810, by Ann Riddle.

The first religious services were held by the Baptists at the house of Nathan Wisner, under the direction of Rev. Samuel Wisner, in 1806.

The First Presbyterian Church was organized in 1817. Their first church edifice was erected about 1821: the present one, which will seat 400 to 500 persons, in 1853, at a cost of $7,000. The first pastor was Rev. Giles Doolittle; the present one is Rev. E. S. Wright, D. D. The Society numbers 110 members; its property is valued at $10,500.*

SHERIDAN was formed from Pomfret and Hanover, April 16, 1827.† It lies upon the north border, on Lake Erie, near the north-east corner of the county, and contains 22,451 acres. The surface is level in the north-west, and hilly in the south-east, with a gradual inclination toward the lake, along which extends a nearly perpendicular bluff, 50 to 200 feet high. Numerous small streams, the principal of which are Scott and Beaver creeks, flow into the lake. The soil is a clay loam, intermixed in some places with gravel.

The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R. extends through the town contiguous to the lake, and the Erie R. R. crosses the center of the town in an east and west direction.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,686, of whom 1,363 were native, 323, foreign and all, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained ten school districts and employed the same number of teachers. The number of children of school age was 547; the number attending school, 401; the average attendance, 229; the amount expended for school purposes, $2,822.90; and the value of school houses and sites, $5,875.

There is no hotel, and but one postoffice in the town.

SHERIDAN CENTER, (Sheridan p. o.) situated near the center of the town, on the Erie R. R., contains one church, (M. E.) a store, blacksmith shop, shoe shop and about twenty-five houses.

* Information furnished by Ira Loomis, deacon.

† The first town meeting was held at the house of Wm. Griswold, at Sheridan Center, Tuesday, May 8, 1827, and Lyscom Mixer was elected Supervisor; Enoch Hasbrouck, Town Clerk; Rodolphus Simons, Collector; Otis Ensign and Jonathan Pattison, Overseers of the Poor; Hayen Brigham, Otis Ensign and Sheldon Stanley, Assessors; Samuel Loomis, Wm. A lodge of Good Templars was organized Dec. 21, 1868, and has 150 members.

Settlement was commenced on lot 17 in 1804, by Francis Webber, from Massachusetts. John Walker, Orsamus and Alanson Holmes, Jared and Wm. Griswold, Uriah Lee and Alva H. Walker settled in 1805, most of them near the center. Wm. Griswold came from New Hampshire at the age of twenty-five and located on lot 35. In 1809 he married Zilpha Bush, and in 1812 their domestic felicity was interrupted by the rude blast of war. He was summoned to the defense of his country, and witnessed the burning of Black Rock and Buffalo. With the return of peace he laid aside the implements of war for those of the agriculturist. After a life of activity and usefulness he died in 1873. Walker, who is now residing at St. Johns, Mich., 71 years of age, had three brothers born, one in the town of Chautauqua, Genesee county, one in the town of Pomfret, Niagara county, and a third in the town of Sheridan, Chautauqua county, though all were born in the same house. Stephen Bush settled in the town in 1805 or '6, and Rev. John Spencer, at the center, in 1807.* For some time after Mr. Spencer came to this county he was obliged to go to Buffalo, or cross the lake to Canada, to get to mill; and frequently when stopping at an inn for something to eat he was obliged to wait until the host ground the corn for the repast by means of the mortar and pestle in use at an early day. Jesse Baldwin, who is still living, came to this town in 1812, at the age of fifteen years, having been preceded by his brothers one year. Having arrived within two miles of their log cabin, he was directed to follow a path leading to it—the only house in that direction. Arriving at the door of the humble cabin and receiving no response to his knock thereon, he pulled the latch and entered. Seeing nothing familiar below he ascended a ladder in one corner to the garret, where, after groping some time in the dark, he discovered a gun which had been purchased in the East by himself and brother. Having satisfied himself as to the identity of the place, he began to retrace his steps, but, to his surprise, at the place where he supposed he ascended there was neither opening nor ladder. The garret was without window and dark, but as the house was not large—being sixteen feet square, with one room below and a low garret above—he soon discovered by the light from below the place of exit. The next fall his father came on with the rest of the family, to the number of fifteen in all, and took up quarters in this small and rude habitation. They cleared off enough timber that winter to enable them to see Lake Erie. When the snow was deep trees could be felled in the door yard and fire wood was thus secured without the fatigue of hauling it. The cows got plenty of leeks in the spring, and their butter had a stronger flavor than any he has since seen, though this quality would scarcely commend it to one who is familiar with the product of the dairies of Chautauqua county at the present day. Mr. Baldwin (Jesse) was drawn on one of the earliest grand juries, whose members served without pay and furnished their own board. So many oats were required, at the prices which then prevailed, to pay for their board, that the jury, in their wrath, indicted every person brought before them, and the district attorney found it necessary to recall them to withdraw some indictments which had been found against innocent persons.

*A remarkable incident connected with the experience of Mr. Spencer is related by his daughter, who is still living. While on his way one night to visit a sick brother he had occasion to cross Eighteen Mile Creek at a point where it flowed through a deep gorge, which was spanned by a bridge. The planks had been taken up from the bridge, leaving nothing but the bare stringers, but of this fact Mr. Spencer was unaware, and astonishing as it may seem his horse crossed the bridge in safety. He remained unconscious of the danger to which he had been exposed until a friend, at whose house he stopped to refresh himself and horse until daylight, inquired how he crossed the creek, and when answered that he had crossed upon the bridge he told him that could not be, as the planks were off. An examination in the morning revealed, to the astonishment of both, that the horse had actually crossed upon the stringers, for his tracks were plainly discernible at either end of the bridge.

The first birth was that of Joseph Ellicott Holmes, in the family of Alanson Holmes, in 1805; the first marriage was celebrated by Benj. Barrows and Betsey Stebbins, in 1807–8; and the first death was that of Alanson Holmes, in the fall of 1805. Wm. Griswold, the first school teacher in Chautauqua county, taught the first school in his own log house, in the winter of 1808–9. Orsamus Holmes kept the first inn, west of the center, in 1808, and Elisha Gray opened the first store the same year. Haven Brigham built the first grist mill on Brigham's Creek, in 1807.

The first religious services were held by the Presbyterians, at the house of Orsamus Holmes, in 1805, and were conducted by Rev. John Spencer, a missionary for the Holland Purchase; and the first church, of the same denomination, was organized by him in 1816.

The Wesleyan Society of the M. E. Church, at Sheridan, was organized with seven members, in 1817, by Rev. B. P. Hill, the first pastor. Their house of worship, which will seat 250 persons, was erected in 1850, at a cost of about $1,200, and was repaired in 1870. There are 160 members, under the pastoral care of Rev. E. D. McCreary. The Church property is valued at $5,000.

He possessed no scholastic advantages, yet he was eager in the pursuit of knowledge, and when apprenticed to a shoemaker, a trade he followed until his 22d year, he often had a book open before him when at work. In 1743 he removed to New Milford, Conn., with his tools upon his back. He soon relinquished his trade, however, and was for a time engaged in mercantile pursuits. He subsequently studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1754, having previously settled in New Haven. He was soon after elected a member of the Connecticut Legislature. is an interior town, lying south-west of the center of the county, and contains 22,161 acres. The surface is rolling and hilly, broken by the deep ravines of the streams, the principal of which are French Creek and its tributaries. The soil is a clay and sandy loam.

The Buffalo, Corry & Pittsburgh R. R. extends through the center of the town in a north and south direction.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,470, of whom 1,328 were native, 142 foreign, and all, except two, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained eight school districts and employed eleven teachers. The number of children of school age was 453; the number attending school, 390; the average attendance, 248; the amount expended for school purposes, $6,319.14; and the value of school houses and sites, $13,120.

SHERMAN, (p. v.) situated on French Creek, in the north part, is a station on the B. C. & P. R. R., and had, in 1870, a population of 610.

CENTER SHERMAN (p. o.) is situated on French Creek in the south-west part.

PLEASANT VALLEY is situated on French Creek, west of the center.

WAITS CORNERS is situated south-east of the center.

There are several manufacturing establishments in the town, among which are Westley's butter tub factory, situated in the village of Sherman, which gives employment to four persons, and turns out 3,000 firkins per annum; Parsons' butter tub factory, which gives employment to two persons, and turns out 1,500 firkins per annum; Parks' steam saw and shingle mill, situate on French Creek, three miles below Sherman, which employs two persons, and has facilities for sawing 5,000 feet of lumber per day; and Phelps' steam saw and shingle mill, in the south-east part of the town, which is capable of sawing 2,000 feet of lumber and 7,000 shingles per day.

Settlement was commenced on lot 32, by Otis Skinner, from Chenango county, who came to this town in 1821. In 1823 he commenced a settlement, and in the spring of 1824, he moved his family in. Joseph Skinner, who is now living, was then mittee appointed to draft the Declaration of Independence, which he signed, as well as the Articles of Confederation and Constitution. After the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, in connection with which he took a prominent part, he was elected a representative in Congress, from Connecticut. He was chosen senator in 1791, and filled that office until his death, July 23, 1793. He was a profound and sagacious statesman, an able and upright judge, and an exemplary Christian. He was made Master of Arts by Yale College, and was treasurer of that institution from 1759 to 1776.

six months old. He immediately set to work to build a log cabin, which, like many of the houses of that and an earlier period, was built without boards, nails or shingles. The floor was made of split logs, hewn smooth, and the doors of the same material, slatted and pinned together. After his farm was partially cleared, he sold it to his father, and took up another section joining it upon the west, upon which he built the first framed house in that part of the town, and one of the first in the town. Mr. Skinner was elected justice soon after his settlement, and filled that position for forty consecutive years, with the exception of two or three terms. In 1840 he was appointed marshal for the twelve eastern towns in Chautauqua county. He was a staunch advocate of temperance, and strenuously opposed the granting of licenses in his town. He died Aug. 7, 1872, aged 73 years. The latter year (1824) Alanson Weed, Harvey W. Goff, Lester R. Dewey and Hiram Gleason settled in the town. Weed and Dewey located on lot 31, Gough on lot 80, and Gleason on lot 24. Charles Ross, who was an early settler of this town, was a noted hunter, and was accustomed to supply his neighbors with meat, they in turn doing his chopping. D. Dorman also settled in 1824. The first birth was that of Amasa Dorman, in 1824; the first marriage, that of Lester R. Dewey and Fanny Patterson, in 1825, the ceremony being performed by Justice Otis Skinner; and the first death, that of —— Arnold, in 1826. Otis Skinner kept the first school, in his own house, in 1828. Josiah Keeler kept the first store and inn, on lot 27, in 1827. The first mill was erected by Alanson Weed, on lot 30, in 1825.

The first religious services were held by the Baptists, at the house of Jonathan Reynolds, and were conducted by Rev. John Spencer, and the first church was formed by the Congregationalists in 1827. There are six churches in the town—Baptist, Catholic, Free Will Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian and Universalist.

The First Presbyterian Church, at Sherman village, was organized with twenty-four members, June 25, 1827, by Revs. Miles P. Squire and Amasa West, members of the Presbytery, as the First Congregational Church of Mina. The frame of the church edifice was raised June 21, 1832, and the house dedicated March 7, 1833. It was erected at a cost of $2,000, and will seat 350 persons. The building was moved to the South Hill in the fall of 1845, and was enlarged and repaired in 1866. Rev. Justus Marsh was the first pastor; Rev. Wm. L. Hyde is the present one. There are 82 members. The Church property is valued at $10,000.*

The M. E. Church, at Sherman village, was organized with twelve members, in 1826, by Rev. J. Williams. The first house of worship was erected in 1848; the present one, which will seat 450 persons, in 1866, at a cost of $9,000. There are 84 members. The pastor is Rev. Wm. H. Wilson. The Church property is valued at $10,000.†

‡ Richard Stockton, from whom the town derives its name, was born at Princeton, N. J., Oct. 1, 1730. He graduated at Princeton College in 1748, when he commenced the study of law with David Ogden, and adopted and became eminent in that profession. He was appointed a Judge both under the Provincial government and after the adoption of the Constitution. He visited England in 1767 and became 1821.* A part of Ellery was annexed Dec. 11, 1850. It is an interior town, lying a little north of the center of the county, and contains 28,860 acres. The surface is a rolling and hilly upland. Bear and Cassadaga lakes, two small bodies of water lying upon the north border, give rise to the creeks of the same name, which unite near the south-east border and are the only considerable streams in the town. The soil is a clay loam upon the hills and a sandy loam in the valleys.

The Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh R. R. passes along the east border of the town.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,639, of whom 1,556 were native, 83, foreign and all, except two, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained ten school districts and employed eleven teachers. The number of children of school age was 507; the number attending school, 423; the average attendance, 243; the amount expended for school purposes, $3,646.39; and the value of the school houses and sites, $12,800.

DELANTI, (Stockton p. o.) situated on Bear Creek, a little north-east of the center of the town, contains four churches, (Baptist, M. E., Christian and Universalist, in the two former of which services are held regularly, and in the latter two only occasionally,) a school house, hotel, four stores, a carriage shop, three blacksmith shops, two shoe shops, cabinet shop, tin shop, grist mill, steam saw mill, and had, in 1870, 245 inhabitants.

CASSADAGA, (p. v.) situated at the foot of Cassadaga Lake, in the north-east corner of the town, contains one church, two hotels, three stores, one carriage and three blacksmith shops, a shoe shop, a pump factory, a manufactory of churns and butter tubs and firkins, and had in 1870, 225 inhabitants. It is one mile east of the station on the D. A. V. & P. R. R.

SOUTH STOCKTON, (p. o.) situated on Cassadaga Creek, in the south-east corner of the town, contains a store, saw mill, lath and shingle mill, grist mill, a manufactory of churns and butacquainted with many distinguished men. He was a Delegate to the Continental Congress in 1776 and '7, and signed the Declaration of Independence. In the autumn of 1776, while returning from an official visit to the Northern army, he was made prisoner and treated with much cruelty. His constitution became shattered before his release, and sinking gradually, he died Feb. 28, 1781. His son, bearing his name, a grandson and great grandson succeeded him as member of the Federal Congress.

* The first town meeting was opened at the house of Abel Thompson, April 3, 1821, and adjourned to the school house near D. Nelson's, where Calvin Warren was elected Supervisor; John Curtis, Town Clerk; Ebenezer Smith, Jr., Hiram Lazell and John Tyler, Assessors; John Newbre and Joseph Sacket, Overseers of the Poor; David Sacket, Salmon Tyler and Levi C. MOONS, (p. o.) near the east line, a little south of the center, is a station on the D. A. V. & P. R. R.

OREGON is a hamlet in the south part. The postoffice which was established here in 1820 has been discontinued. It was the first postoffice in the town, and Ebenezer Tyler was the first postmaster.

Settlement was commenced in the south part of the town in 1810, by Shadrach Scofield, David Waterbury and Henry Walker, from Saratoga county. Anson Lett, Dexter Barnes and Jonathan Bugbee came in 1811. Lett was from Herkimer county, and during his residence here filled many town offices. His widow is still living at the age of 93 years. Barnes came from Little Falls, Herkimer county, and opened a blacksmith shop. In 1824 he removed to Hartfield in the town of Chautauqua, where he rebuilt the mills, and was extensively engaged in business until his death, March 11, 1860, nearly 69 years old. Bugbee was born in Woodstock, Conn., May 11, 1789. In the spring of 1808 he removed with his father to Madison county, in this State, and the next year to this town. At Bemus Point he made the acquaintance of Amos Adkins, a young surveyor, who with a pocket compass piloted him to lot 32, in the south part of the town, which Adkins had marked in his field notes as being superior in many respects to any of the adjoining lands. In a few weeks Mr. Bugbee returned to Madison county, stopping on the way at the land office in Batavia to have 305 acres of this lot booked to him at $2.50 per acre. In the latter part of February, 1811, he again came in company with his father and mother and two brothers—Wyman and Simeon. Their household goods were conveyed on two long, heavy sleds, drawn by two yokes of oxen. They arrived at Cassadaga Creek, opposite the residence of Wm. Barrows, but were unable to cross, as the creek was swelled by the melting snow. Mr. Barrows saw their dilemma and came with his canoe to their assistance. The teams swam the creek, and the goods were taken over the next day. Says J. L. Bugbee in an article contributed to the Chautauqua Democrat of March 12, 1873:

"They had with them a large potash kettle and this was too heavy for the canoe, and after consultation, and expending all the philosophy with which they were possessed, they decided the kettle would swim and carry one of the men over. Wyman, the most daring of the company, volunteered to go on board and paddle it across the creek. Soon the kettle, by the aid of chains, was safely lowered into the water and Wyman immediately went aboard. This iron-clad swayed 'to-and-fro,' careened, and the hatchways all being open, this celebrated navigator was obliged to abandon the ship and strike out for land without the aid of the small boats. After the water had subsided the kettle was raised from the bottom of the creek and made to do duty for many years, and bring money into the hands of its possessor, when black salts was almost the only commodity, within the reach of the early settlers, that could be sold for cash."

The party, guided by Mr. Barrows, cut a road through the wilderness to admit the passage of their teams, a distance of three miles from the latter's cabin. The spring of 1811 was a remarkably early one, and the oxen were enabled to subsist mostly upon the herbage which grew with wonderful vigor and profusion. Soon a log cabin was erected, and the family installed in it. Early in 1812, Nathan Bugbee, the oldest brother of Jonathan, joined them; and in the summer of 1813, two substantial log houses were built nearly opposite each other, upon either side of the road, into one of which Jonathan moved his family, while the other was occupied by his parents and youngest brother, Simeon. In the winter of the latter year, Wyman Bugbee married Milla Love and removed to the west part of lot 33. In 1815 he removed to the town of Ellington, as previously stated. (See page 118.) Nathan married in 1819, and also removed to Ellington about 1822. Late in life, Jonathan, by a series of reverses, became involved financially, and much of his property was sacrificed to adjust the claims of his creditors. He died Oct. 19, 1829.* His widow is still living, aged 81 years.

* We quote the following somewhat remarkable incident from the article before alluded to, the writer of which attributes it to "a mirage, or some phosphorescent display, not fully understood by scientific researches of the present day."

"In the latter part of October, 1828, Mr. Bugbee, [Jonathan] had obtained of Judge Peacock the privilege of making pine shingles on the Land Office land, on the grounds of the great 'wolf-hunt', in the Cassadaga swamp. While at work alone at his shingles, on a rainy day, so peculiar in this season of the year, when light and darkness seem contending for the mastery, he suddenly found himself surrounded by the darkness of night. His guide to the forks of the creek was the 'blazed' trees of the wolf grounds; the distance to the creek was about one mile, when he would be able to reach home with little difficulty. For a few minutes, however, he found himself unable to trace the line of blazed trees, and he found he was lost in the dismal swamp. Feeling somewhat alarmed, he pressed forward amid the drenching rain, encountering obstacles of various kinds at nearly every step. About 9 o'clock, as nearly as he could judge, he paused a moment to rest and quiet his nerves, that he might be better prepared to settle his course and gain his home. Suddenly there sprung up around him a bright light apparently about forty feet square and extending twenty feet above his head. He declared that the lines of darkness were well defined, and that previous to this it was impossible to 'see his hand before his face.' He stood awhile to search out the cause of this wonderful phenomenon, then took his ax from his shoulder and read upon the head, 'Dexter Barnes,' the name of the maker. A few yards in advance was a blazed tree, which gave him renewed courage to make another trial to gain his home. Starting immediately on the course indicated by the blaze on the tree, his light left him, and again he wandered in darkness, as he supposed, for an hour or more. Being greatly fatigued, he again made a pause, and in a moment the same light sprung up around him. He was still upon the line of blazed trees, one of which was easily seen about twenty feet distant from him. Mr. Bugbee was not considered a superstitious man, but he said he was willing to take this as an indication of providence that he was to be delivered unharmed, at his home again. With this quieting thought he sat down by the roots of a tree; the darkness closed around him and he soon fell asleep, from which he did not awake until daylight, the next morning. After several efforts he

At an early day in the settlement of the town a mound twelve to fifteen feet high and about three rods in diameter at the base, was discovered near Cassadaga Lake. When opened it was found to contain a mass of human bones. It was evidently of ancient origin, as when first discovered it was covered with a growth of large forest trees. It is now nearly leveled by the plow and other denuding agencies.

The first birth was that of Wm. A. Walker, in the family of Henry Walker, April 25, 1811; the first marriage, that of John West and Martha Barnhart; and the first death, that of Mrs. Abigail Durfey, who taught the first school in a log school house near Shadrach Scofield's, in the summer of 1815. The first inn was kept by Ichabod Fisher, at Cassadaga, in 1811, and the first store by James Haywood, at Delanti, in 1817. The first grist mill was built on Bear Creek, at Delanti, in 1819, by Hines, Lazell & Nelson. The first framed house was built by Samuel Waterbury, in 1818.

The first religious services were held at the house of Jonathan Bugbee, in March, 1814, by Rev. Joy Handy, from Fredonia; and the first religious society, the Chautauqua Baptist Church—was organized in 1815.

The First Christian Church of Stockton was organized at Delanti with ten or twelve members, in 1825, by Rev. Joseph Bailey, the first pastor. Their first church edifice was erected in 1828; the present one, which will seat 150 persons, in 1852, at a cost of $2,500. There are twenty members, under the pastoral care of Alden Allen. The Church property is valued at $2,500.*

Cassadaga Baptist Church was organized with thirty-seven members, May 8, 1834. Their house of worship was erected in 1835, at a cost of $1,200, and repaired in 1869. It will seat 250 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Elisha Johnson; the present one is Rev. A. Kingsbury. The Society numbers sixty-two members; its property is valued at $2,000.†

——— M. E. Church was organized with seven members, in 1838, by Rev. ——— Wood, the first pastor. The church edifice was erected in 1866, at a cost of $3,000, the present value of Church property, and will seat 400 persons. The Society consists of thirty members and is under the ministrations of Rev. M. Smith.‡

The M. E. Church, at Delanti, was organized with seventeen members by Rev. R. R. Roberts, the first pastor, and the church edifice, which will seat 400 persons, was erected in 1858, at a cost of $2,700. The Society numbers fifty-seven. The pastor is Rev. M. Smith. The Church property is valued at $4,500.§

The First Universalist Church of Stockton was organized with eleven members, Feb. 8, 1836, by Rev. Isaac George, the first pastor. The church edifice was erected in 1[illegible] at a cost of $2,500, and will seat 300 persons. The Church is without a pastor and services are held only occasionally. The Church property is valued at $2,000.‖

Union Church, (United Brethren in Christ,) at Pleasant Valley, was organized with seventeen members, in 1862, by Rev. Joseph Hoyt, the first pastor. The house of worship will seat 200 persons, and was erected in 1871, at a cost of $3,000. There are thirty-six members, under the pastoral care of Rev. Joseph Miller. The Church property is valued at $2,055.¶

VILLENOVA was formed from Hanover, Jan. 24, 1823. A part of Arkwright was taken off April 30, 1829. It lies upon the east border of the county, north of the center, and contains 21,971 acres. The surface is rolling in the south-east, and broken and hilly in the north and center. The highest summit is 900 feet above Lake Erie. Mud Lake upon the west border, and East Mud Lake upon the north border, form the sources of two branches of Conewango Creek, which unite near the south-east corner, and are the principal streams. The soil is a clay and gravelly loam.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,401, of whom 1,343 were native, 58 foreign, and all, except five, white.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained twelve school districts and employed eleven teachers. The number of children of school age was 429; the number attending school, 371; the average attendance, 202; the amount expended for school purposes, $2,699.42; and the value of school houses and sites, $3,250.

HAMLET, (p. o.) situated on the west branch of Conewango Creek, south-west of the center, contains two churches, one hotel, four stores, two carriage and sleigh factories, four blacksmith shops, a saw mill,* harness shop, cheese factory,† two shoe shops, and had, in 1870, a population of 155.

VILLENOVA (p. o.) is a hamlet lying south-east of the center of the town.

Settlement was commenced on lot 3, upon the east border, in May, 1810, by Daniel Whipple, a native of Massachusetts, who came with his wife and six children from Litchfield, Herkimer county. Arriving at Forestville he left his family there while he opened a road to the location of his farm, a distance of about eight miles, and built a log cabin, covered with bark and floored with split logs. Here he lived six weeks with no neighbors nearer than six or eight miles. He was a shoemaker by trade

* Crowell's mill is operated by water, contains an upright saw, and cuts about 4,000 feet of lumber per day.

† Rush's cheese factory is 136 feet long, with a curing room below of 96 feet, and one above the whole length of the building. The milk of 1,000 cows is used. Mr. Rush also owns a factory at Villenova, which is 60 feet in length, and uses the milk of 400 cows.

E. M. Sanderson & Son's grist and saw mills are located on the west branch of the Conewango a little below Hamlet. The grist mill was built in 1858, contains two runs of stones, and its capacity is 200 bushels of grain per day. The saw mill was built in 1866, contains an upright saw and cuts about 2,000 feet of lumber per day.

W. Chase's saw mill also situated on the west branch of the Conewango, about two miles above Hamlet, is operated by water, and its capacity is 4,000 feet of lumber per day. Field's steam saw mill, in the same locality, has a capacity for sawing 2,000 feet of lumber per day.

D. T. Wilcox's steam saw mill, located in the south-east part of the town, contains a circular saw. Its capacity is about 6,000 feet of lumber per day. Connected with it is a shingle and stove factory, which cuts about 10,000 shingles per day.

and found it necessary occasionally to take his "kit" of tools to other settlements to earn a subsistence for his family. He lived on the farm he first located about thirty years, when he removed to Illinois, where he died at an advanced age. The next settler was John Kent, who came from the same place as Whipple and located near him on Conewango Creek. He erected the first saw mill in 1815, and attached a grist mill in 1818. He remained here about twenty-five years, when he removed to Gowanda, Cattaraugus county, where he died. During the same year (1810) John Arnold, from Herkimer county, settled on the Conewango about one and one-half miles above Mr. Kent. He remained until the death of his wife in the spring of 1813, when, being a local preacher in the M. E. Church, and believing it to be his duty to preach the gospel, he returned east and devoted his life to the work of the ministry, joining the Genesee Conference. In December, 1810, Eli Arnold, brother of John, also from Herkimer county, and a local preacher of the same denomination for about sixty years, settled in the town and resided on the farm upon which he first located until his death, in his 85th year, in 1857. He was highly esteemed for his exemplary Christian life. A Mr. Sweet settled here about this time, though but little is known of his history. Soon after Ezra Puffer moved into the town. He was a man of considerable culture, a practical surveyor, and much attached to books. He was somewhat extensively engaged in surveying lands, laying out roads, &c. He was the first Justice in the settlement and drew most of the legal documents for the community. Roderick Wells, another early settler, was noted for his piety and Christian zeal. Within four or five years from the first settlement Villeroy Balcom came in and built a distillery and opened a tavern, which had their sequent influence upon the community. He was the first postmaster in the town, and held the office many years. He was also Justice of the Peace and Supervisor. Wm. Pierce came in 1815, and is still living in the town. Daniel Wright came a few years later and became a prominent man in the town. He kept a tavern for many years and was widely known. He was Supervisor, Justice of the Peace and Town Clerk at different times. He died at the age of 86 years. Augustine Wright moved into the town from Herkimer county and settled on lot 52 in 1817, and has since lived there. N. Warren moved in from Winfield, Herkimer county, in 1819, and settled upon the farm he now occupies. At that time he says there were but eight or nine families in the town, which was covered by a dense forest. Noah and Hiram Strong settled here in 1820, when there was but one framed house in the town. Wm. J. Straight, from

HOYT BROTHERS!
Headquarters for Custom & Ready Made Clothing, Jamestown, N. Y.

Walworth, Wayne county, purchased the farm on which he now lives in 1822 and settled upon it in 1825. He was the first settler in that part of the town. He has raised a family of six boys and three girls, and is still living at the age of about 74 years, in the possession of mental and physical vigor. Elizabeth Straight, his wife, (nee Chase) is a second cousin of the late Chief Justice Chase.

The first settlers were mostly poor and hence labored under many disadvantages. No mills were accessible to them, and they resorted to the practice common to the settlers of most new countries of grinding their corn by the aid of the mortar and pestle, which here, as elsewhere, consisted of a log or stump hollowed out at one end by burning, and a pestle or pounder suspended above this from a spring pole. Their horses and cattle were sometimes wintered entirely on browse.

The first birth in the town was that of Electa Whipple, now the widow of James Wright, May 5, 1812; and the first marriage that of James Mallit and Mary Dighton. The first school was taught by Mrs. Battles, in her own dwelling, near Wright's Corners, in 1815, and the first school-house was built soon after near Mr. Whipple's. Norris & Grover kept the first store, and Villeroy Balcom, the first inn, at Wright's Corners, in 1829.

The early settlers were nearly all professed Christians, and like the Puritans, they soon commenced to hold religious meetings in private houses, and generally at Mr. Whipple's. The first sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Dunham, of Nashville, a local preacher of the M. E. Church, and the first Church was formed by members of that denomination, in 1812.

The First Free Will Baptist Church of Villenova, at Hamlet, was organized with nine members in September, 1828, by Rev. Amos C. Aurelius. The church edifice was erected in 1839, at a cost of $3,000. It will seat 300 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Thomas Grinel; the present one is Rev. Morton W. Spencer. The Society numbers 112 members; its property is valued at $4,000.*

The Wesleyan Methodist Church was organized with twenty members, by Rev. Mr. Sibley, the first pastor, in 1838. The Society numbers sixty, and is under the spiritual tutelage of Rev. D. W. Ball. They have no church edifice, though the immediate building of one is contemplated.†

WESTFIELD was formed from Portland and Ripley, March 19, 1829. It lies upon Lake Erie, west of the center of the county, and contains 29,967 acres. A strip of rolling land of great fertility extends along the lake. In the central and southern portions the surface is hilly. Chautauqua and Little Chautauqua creeks are the principal streams. The former forms a portion of the east boundary of the town and flows into the lake in the north-west corner of the village of Westfield, receiving the waters of the latter near the south line of that village. Numerous small streams flow into the lake, through the north part. The soil is a clay and gravelly loam. Quarries of excellent flagging stone have been opened in the town, from which have been obtained slabs fifteen or twenty feet long and ten or twelve feet wide. The surface of this rock is rippled in large waves. From a quarry opened near Barcelona were taken large masses of clay loam mixed with angular and unworn portions of the harder portions of the rocks, closely impacted together, known as flat gravel. The mass was about five feet thick, and where the surface of the underlying rock was level, it was scratched and worn smooth, evidently from the materials having been moved along it. Numerous similar instances appear in the bluffs of gravel along the lake, where the moving force seems to have torn up the surface layers, and pressed them outward, and accumulating in power and quantity, to have lifted the strata for great distances, bending and breaking the uplifted edges, and leaving them in all manner of contortions. In some instances the gravel is forced under the uplifted edge of a stratum to the distance of many feet.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. R. extends through the north part, adjacent to the lake shore.

The population of the town in 1870 was 3,645, of whom 2,885 were native, 760, foreign, 3,624, white and 21, colored.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1872, the town contained thirteen school districts and employed twenty-six teachers. The number of children of school age was 1,205; the number attending school, 994; the average attendance, 535; the amount expended for school purposes, $19,340.42; and the value of school houses and sites, $59,325.

WESTFIELD (p. v.) (incorporated April 19, 1833,) is beautifully and eligibly situated on the shore of the lake, at the mouth of Chautauqua Creek, and on the L. S. & M. S. R. R. It is one of the most attractive villages in Western New York, and is admitted to be unequaled for physical beauty by any other in the county. Its streets are handsomely shaded, and lighted by natural gas which was formerly used in lighting a lighthouse at Barcelona upon the shore of the lake. It contains six churches, (Baptist, Catholic, M. E., Presbyterian, Episcopal, and United Evangelical Protestant St. Peter's Church—Dutch,) a fine Union school,* capable of accommodating 1,000 pupils,

* The Westfield Academy, which was incorporated by a special act of the Legislature, May 5, 1857, and made subject to the visitations of the Regents of the University Feb. 5, 1859, was merged in the public schools in 1868, as the Westfield Academy and Union School No. 1. As an academy it had seasons of prosperity and adversity, but, since its unification with the public schools, its influence has steadily extended and its efficiency increased, until at present it will compare favorably with any similar institution in the State. The Union School building was erected in 1869. It is constructed of brick and is located near the site of the old academy building, which was removed on the completion of the present structure. The external appearance and interior arrangement are admirable; and it was cited by the Regents

The population in 1870 was 3,000. BARCELONA, near the mouth of Chautauqua Creek, was once a thriving village and a lake port of considerable importance. Much has been expended by Government in improving the harbor, and building docks and a lighthouse. A portion of the lighthouse is still standing, but is in a useless condition, and the docks, since the completion of the railroad which effectually destroyed its commerce, have been allowed to rot and waste away. Many of the buildings have been torn down and removed, and the streets, once rife with business activity, have, many of them, been fenced in and are covered with grass. The principal occupation of those of the inhabitants who remain, during the summer, is fishing.

A new iron bridge is in process of construction (July, 1873,) over Chautauqua Creek, in the village of Westfield, and is nearly completed. Its length is 296 feet; its estimated weight, over 100 tons; and its cost, $13,000 to $16,000. It consists of two spans, one being 192 feet and the other 103 feet in length. The roadway is 37 feet above the surface of the water.

* The First National Bank of Westfield was organized in July, 1864, with a capital of $50,000. The present capital and surplus is $120,000. The officers, since its organization, were, Francis B. Brewer, President; Levi A. Skinner, Vice-President; Levi A. Skinner, Edward A. Skinner and Chas. P. Skinner, Cashiers; and Francis B. Brewer, Levi A. Skinner, Sextus H. Bungerford, John H. Minton, Directors.* Those whose names are printed in italics are the present officers.

† L. F. Phelps & Son, (A. F. Phelps,) bankers, began business April 1, 1871.

‡ The Westfield Lock Works were established by a stock company in 1864, and in 1871 became the property of Hon. F. B. Brewer. The business employs a capital of about $80,000 and fifty to seventy-five men. More than a hundred varieties of locks, latches, pad-locks and door-knobs are made.

§ R. G. Wright & Co.'s paper mill gives employment to about twenty men, and manufactures about 2,500 tons of printing paper annually.

‖ This factory is owned by L. Stone & Son, gives employment to twelve persons, and uses about 25,000 pounds of wool per annum in the manufacture of cassimere and flannel cloths.

¶ The Buckeye Mower and Reaper Works, of which Geo. P. York is proprietor, were established in 1868. They give employment to about twenty men. Besides the manufacture of these machines, which is the principal business, a general machine shop and foundry jobbing business is done.

 Named from Volusia Ann Haight, daughter of Hiram A. Haight, the first postmaster there.

Settlement was commenced about half a mile west of the village of Westfield, upon a farm now owned by Wm. Vorce, in 1802, by Col. James McMahan, a native of Northumberland county, Pa. McMahan was a surveyor and first passed through this county in 1795, while in search of an eligible site for a residence upon the lake border. He selected and located a tract of land in Harbor Creek, Erie county, Pa., the farm now owned and occupied in part by Joseph Y. Moorehead, and returned to his home in Northumberland county. The next year he cleared a piece of ground upon this tract, which he sowed to wheat, and built a log cabin, which stood near the site of the brick residence of Mr. Moorehead, and in 1797 he removed his family, consisting of his wife and one child, to this wilderness home. In 1802, anticipating the result of a controversy then going on in respect to the title to lands in western Pennsylvania, he contracted and occupied early in the spring of that year, the tract in this town as above described.* Having cleared a small tract and planted corn, and erected a log house, he removed his family here in the fall. His purchase embraced about 4,000 acres. James McMahan died at Westfield, Dec. 13, 1846, aged 76 years. John McMahan, an elder brother of James, purchased lands in the county the year previous to the latter's settlement, (1801) and located near the mouth of Chautauqua Creek in 1803. His purchase embraced the fourth township in the XIV. range of the Holland Co.'s Purchase, containing 22,014 acres, at $2.50 per acre. He paid $1,035 down, and was to pay the balance with annual interest in eight installments. He erected saw and grist mills in 1804, about a quarter of a mile above the mouth of the creek. These were doubtless the first mills erected in the county.† John McMa-

* Upon the farm now owned by Wm. Vorce, nearly a mile west of the village of Westfield, is a monument with the following inscription:

"First farm settled in Chautauqua county by James McMahan, A. D., 1802.
"Chautauqua P. O., first in the county, located here May 6, 1806.
"Plan of E. T. Foote.

Authorities conflict relative to the first settlers of the county. See page 79.

† The stones used in this mill were transferred to a mill which stood near the site of the present grist mill in Westfield, and when the latter was built they were taken out and placed beside a monument which stands upon the public highway, about half a mile west of the village of Westfield. We state this upon the authority of Judge Thomas B. Campbell,* of Westfield, as it has been disputed.

* Judge Thomas B. Campbell, who is now living in the town, came here in 1817. The first year he kept a tavern in a log house which stood upon the site of John Spencer's block. He was Supervisor of the town ten years. In 1824 he was elected Judge of the county and held the office for twenty years, during the last three of which he was First Judge. He was a Member of Assembly in 1822 and '26.

The monument in question is built of Berea (Ohio) sandstone. The base is four feet and six inches long, twenty-five inches wide, and fourteen inches thick. The die is five feet high, two feet, nine and one-half inches wide, and ten inches thick, with a four inch oval top. Upon the east side it bears this inscription:

ticipated in the actions at Black Rock and Buffalo during the war of 1812. After the war he rose by grade to the rank of General of Militia. Some years after he removed to Mayville, where he died, Sept. 22, 1831, aged 66 years. Edward McHenry, also from Northumberland county, Pa., moved his family to a tract adjoining that of James McMahan in 1802, and his was the first family that settled in the town, as they moved in before McMahan's family removed from Harbor Creek. John McHenry, now living in the town, son of Edward McHenry, was the first white child born in the county. He was born Aug. 28, 1802. Edward McHenry kept the first inn, at the village, which was long known as Portland ⋈ Roads, in 1802. He was drowned the next year after his settlement, by the capsizing of a boat in a storm on Lake Erie. He, with two others, had started from the mouth of Chautauqua Creek for Erie, to obtain a supply of provisions. His companions were saved by clinging to the bottom of the boat. This was the first death in the town, and probably the first in the county. The town meetings of the original town of Chautauqua were held at Westfield until, by a strategic movement, a party rallied by Judge Zattu Cushing in the vicinity of Fredonia, then known as Canadaway, succeeded in taking "the town meeting home with them"—an act which led to a division of the town and the formation of the town of Pomfret. The first school in the town was taught by Wm. Murry in 1803. The first marriage was celebrated by James Montgomery and Sarah Taylor, June 30, 1805.

The first Church in the town and county was organized at Westfield, in 1808, by Rev. John Lindsley, and was of the Presbyterian faith. The organization soon lost its vitality.

The First Presbyterian Church of Westfield was organized with 43 members, June 23, 1817, by Revs. Johnston Eaton, moderator, and Phineas Camp, and Elders James Montgomery and Thomas Robinson.* Rev. Phineas Camp, the first pastor, was installed Sept. 8, 1819. The Society consists of 260 members, who are under the spiritual tutelage of Rev. E. B. Miner, S. S. The church edifice was burned April 13, 1872, and a new one is in process of construction, which, it is said, when completed, will be the finest church in the county. It is being constructed of brick, with Berea sandstone trimmings, at a cost of about $28,000. The audience room will seat over 600 persons. The transcept in the rear is occupied by the Sabbath School and prayer rooms and church parlors. The height of the main spire is 150 feet, that of the other, about 100 feet. It is being built by Aaron Hall, architect, of Jamestown. The transcept, it is expected, will be ready for occupancy Jan. 1, 1874, and whole completed July 1, 1874. When the building is finished the Church will be free from debt, as the means for its erection are provided.*

The First M. E. Church of Westfield was organized in 1820, by Rev. Benj. P. Hill. The first church edifice was erected in 1829-30; the present one in 1872, at a cost of $27,000. It will seat 450 to 500 persons. The first pastor was Rev. —— Hatton; the present one is Rev. J. C. Scofield. The Society numbers 166; its property is valued at $35,000.†

St. Peter's Church of Westfield, (Protestant Episcopal,) was organized in January, 1830. The church edifice was erected in 1833, at a cost of about $2,000, and has recently been improved and enlarged. It will seat about 200 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Rufus Murray; the present one is Rev. John S. Seibold. There are 65 communicants. The Church property is valued at $7,500.‡

The First Baptist Church and Society of Westfield, was organized with 34 members, by a council, May 10, 1831. The house of worship was erected in 1852, at a cost of $5,000, one-half the present value of Church property, and will seat 320 persons. The first pastor was Rev. Charles L. Hatte; the present one is Rev. H. S. Westgate. The Society consists of 140 members.§

The Universalist Church, at Haight's Corners, was organized with twenty-six members, in 1823, by Walter Strong and Elisha Ticknor. The church edifice was erected in 1842, at a cost of $600. It will seat 125 persons. The first pastor was Rev. N. Stacy; the present one is Rev. Isaac George. The Society numbers forty; its property is valued at $400.‖

The Methodist Church, at Howards Corners, five miles from Westfield, was organized with nine members in 1841, by Rev. Darius Smith, the first pastor. The church edifice was erected in 1851, at a cost of $1,300, and will seat about 250 persons. Previous to that time the Society worshiped in school houses, at first, for a year or two, in a log school house, known as the Porter School House, one and one-half miles south of Howards Corners, until a framed school-house was erected. The Society numbers 87, having for its pastor Rev. Wm. Rice. The Church property is valued at $1,500 to $2,000.¶

St. James' Church, (Roman Catholic,) at Westfield, was organized with 100 members, in 1850, by Rt. Rev. P. Timore. Their house of worship, which will seat 300 persons, was erected the same year at a cost of $1,500, one-half the present value of Church property. The first pastor was Rev. F. Colgan; the present one is Rev. M. O'Dwyer. There are 1000 members.

The following is the first minute in the Records of this Church, under date of Nov. 7, 1817:—

"In the year 1808, a church is reported to have been formed in this place by Rev. John Lindsley under the name of Chautauqua Church, and attached to the Presbytery of Erie, (all the records of which, until the following date have been lost,) and has been but poorly and irregularly supplied with preaching down to the same date, when it became worse than extinct. God having lately, in a remarkable manner, revived his work within its bounds, it was deemed expedient to examine into its state, & if found to have a real existence to correct & restore its discipline. After several meetings and consultations with ministers, it was concluded to have little more, if not something worse, than a nominal existence.

"On the 7th of Nov. 1817, a session was formed consisting of Rev. Johnston Eaton, Rev. Phineas Camp, James Montgomery and Thomas Robinson. * * *"

St. Peter's Church, (United Evangelical Protestant,) on Nettle Hill, was organized in 1854, by Rev. —— Kohler, the first pastor. The house of worship was formerly occupied as a school house. It will seat sixty persons. There are forty members. The pastor is Rev. Wm. Fromm. The Church property is valued at $800.*

Chas. B. Albert's celebrated Wall Paper Emporium, at No. 18 Main St., Jamestown, is attracting a good deal of attention from those who desire to decorate their houses in truly first-class style. His is said to be the only store in Western New York devoted exclusively to this business. He keeps experienced workmen in readiness to execute all orders, and makes a specialty of fine decorations. Owners of public halls, church committees, or owners of private residences, can have their buildings decorated to equal the finest frescoing, at a much less price. See advertisement on page 329.

What are Crumbs of Comfort?—Why, Crumb's Carbolic Ointment and Crumb's Carbolic Extract, two wonderful medicines prepared by the Niagara Pharmaceutical Co. at Westfield. It is an old saying that "the proof of the pudding is in the eating;" and so it is with these medicines; for the proprietors have found it so valuable in allaying pain and curing disease, that they freely offer trial packages of the medicine gratuitously. They "cast their bread upon the waters." &c. Read the advertisement on page 364, and then secure some of the medicine, is the best advice we can give.

The Mayville Sentinel has for nearly forty years stood watch over the destinies and fortunes of a large share of the people of "old Chautauqua," during which time it has been a regular and welcome visitor at the homes of its patrons. Mr. PHELPS, the publisher, understands how to cater to the literary appetite of the public, and does his work well. He has recently enlarged his paper eight columns. The Job Department of the office is supplied with all material requisite to good work. We wish the paper continued prosperity and a long life. See card on page 216.

Rolfe & Malm, Merchant Tailors and dealers in Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps &c., in Westfield, near the post office, are prepared to Clothe their customers in the latest styles and in the best manner. All they ask is opportunity. Mr. Rolfe's long connection with the Academy and Union School at Westfield, as teacher, coupled with Mr. Malm's successful experience, should bring them hosts of customers. See card on page 360.

J. Carroll Smith, Decorative Painter in Fresco, at Dunkirk, wants to decorate Churches, Public Halls, Stores, Residences &c., and is prepared to give satisfaction. We commend him to the liberal notice of his countrymen. Card on page 344.

Dunkirk Iron Works, Sellew & Popple, proprietors, were established in 1865, by Clark & Allen, who sold in 1868 to the present energetic firm, who have added three large brick buildings, and a large quantity of heavy machinery. The firm gives employment to 80 or 90 men, and manufactures some of the best Engines and Boilers in the country. They also manufacture Grist Mills, Circular and Upright Saw Mills, and Tanners' Machinery, Turbine Water Wheels &c. In fact it would seem that any kind of a mechanic could procure at these works any article needed. These works are more fully described on page 104. See advertisement, page 334.

The Westfield House, David Dix, proprietor, is pleasantly located on the corner of Main and North Portage Sts., in the village of Westfield, and from it can be obtained a better view of the surrounding country and of the lake, than from any other hotel in the village. Mr. Dix has newly furnished the house, and, through courtesy to his guests, adds to the old time fame of the house as a good place to stop at. See card on page 360.

J. Frank Shaw, Furniture dealer and Undertaker, at Westfield, advertises on page 364. Young people just setting out in the mysteries of housekeeping, should call and see Mr. Shaw before they invest in Furniture. Fathers and mothers who intend to give son or daughter a "setting out," should call on Shaw. His goods are of the newest patterns, and are well made.

J. H. Clark, Founder and Machinist, at Jamestown, publishes an advertisement on page 316. This well known establishment has turned out many heavy Castings and some excellent Steam Engines, for saw mills or other manufactories. Mr. Clark also builds Planing Machines, Agricultural Implements &c. The mechanical work is executed by experienced men, and Mr. Clark's mode of dealing has won for him many valuable customers. It will pay any man in want of new Machinery, Castings &c., to consult Mr. Clark.

J. Mayerhoff, Costumer, at Dunkirk, furnishes elegant, rich, fantastic and ridiculous costumes, for gentlemen and ladies who wish to represent notables, in whatever character desired, at masquerades and fancy dress parties. The stock of Costumes kept on hand represents a large sum of money. Mr. Mayerhoff should be liberally sustained in his effort to please the pleasure loving portion of the community. He advertises on page 372.

J. Hutchinson Hide and Leather dealer, at Dunkirk, makes a specialty of supplying superior Oak Leather Belting. Manufacturers and others using Belting will find it to their interest to buy of him. See card on page 224.

Henry Smith, Music Dealer, in Dunkirk, advertises on page 184. People who are musically inclined, should visit his rooms and examine his fine line of instruments and his endless variety of Sheet Music; in fact his Musical Merchandise is all of good quality and will be sold low. Remember the name and place.

L. D. Clark Shoes Horses, Irons Wagons and Sleighs, and does general repairing, also cures Ringbone and Spavin in horses. Mr. Clark is a superior workman and deserves a liberal patronage. Card on page 188.

H. M. T. Smith, of Dunkirk, sells Drugs, Chemicals, Dental Goods, Paints and Oils, cheap for cash. Mr. Smith keeps a nice stock of pure goods, and will try in every way he can to suit his customers. Try him. See card, page 188.

James H. Lake, dealer in Harnesses, Trunks, Whips, Robes, and all kinds of Horse Clothing, at Fredonia, advertises on page 212. Patronize Mr. Lake when you want a real good job. He is like most other men, in that he wants money badly, and, according to his judgment, the best way to get it is to return full value for it in good goods.

The Daily and Weekly Jamestown Journal, published by Messrs Clark & Waite, are the leading papers of the County. Since Mr. Clark became connected with the office, some seven years ago, and Mr. Waite two years since, they have increased the circulation and influence of the papers wonderfully. The Local Department is well sustained, better than is usual in villages the size of Jamestown; but then Jamestown is an enterprising place, and all kinds of business seems to thrive and prosper here, indicating a healthy condition of affairs. The Job Department of the Journal office is well supplied with fast presses, new and beautiful types, and, above all, good and tasty printers. Connected with the establishment is a Blank Book Manufactory and Bindery. The machinery of the office is driven by steam power, and all departments are under the direct management and watchful care of the Proprietors. The papers are widely circulated and afford most excellent advertising mediums. Card on page 232.

Geo. C. Jenner, proprietor of the "Old Jamestown Marble Works," has employed a new marble cutter, as may be seen by reference to page 200, where the new artist is busy chiseling out a weeping willow. The quality of marble or workmanship Mr. Jenner intends shall not be surpassed, while in price he will be fair and reasonable. He can work as cheaply as any first-class workman. Give him a call when occasion demands.

A. C. Slter, Merchant Tailor and dealer in Hats, Caps, Furnishing Goods generally, Groceries and Provisions, at Laona, suits his customers with Dress Suits, as they may require; and the more he suits them the better he will be suited. He does his work well and sells goods cheap. See card on page 220.

Mrs. D. A. Smith, who resides at Fredonia, manufactures and deals in real and imitation Human Hair Goods, Hair Jewelry &c. She is an expert and worthy of being trusted to execute any job in her line. See card on page 212.

Frank May's Flour Store, at Dunkirk, is visited by those who appreciate good Flour. He represents some of the best mills in the country. He sells Corn, Meal, Shorts, Coarse Grains &c., and also sells the comfortable and easy "old fashioned" splint back Rocking Chairs. Card on page 216.

Elias Allenbrand, Hardware dealer at Dunkirk, has had twenty years experience as a tin and copper worker. He sells a general assortment of goods usually kept in a hardware store, and is agent for the "Gary Iron Roofing." Call at his store and select your goods. His Cook and Parlor Stoves are among the best the market affords. See card on page 244.

Thos. P. Grosvenor, Attorney and Counselor at Law, at Dunkirk, office over the Lake Shore Bank. He will give prompt attention to legal business, and with fidelity to his customers, is prepared to draw conveyances and legal papers of any kind. Card on page 204.

Skinner & Gifford Manufacturing Co., at Dunkirk, manufacture Rail Road Supplies, Machinery, Mill Gearing, Fence Railings &c., and are the sole manufacturers of Skinner's Patent Bench Hook. The business of this firm is very extensive, employing a large force of men and machinery. It is such works as these and other manufacturing interests that build up a town and give it permanent and healthy growth. Card on page 242.

E. Mulholland exhibits a nice buggy on page 216, and yet that is nothing to what he can do. He employs experienced men and uses good material, as his many customers can testify. Remember Mulholland when you want a new Wagon. He will do his best to suit you. Card on page 216.

Durfee, Post & Co., are wholesale dealers in Fresh Fish, at Erie, Pa. These gentlemen have a large fish trap in the lake, in which they secure fish driven into it by means of very long nets. From the traps the fish can be taken with ease, and if more are caught than are wanted for one day's shipments, the surplus can be taken out next day. Merchants and private families wanting fish in quantities, should purchase of this firm. See card on page 282.

JOB WORK

Neatly and Promptly Executed.

Go to 33 MAIN STREET, Jamestown, N. Y.

Louis Koch, Furniture dealer, at Dunkirk, exhibits a nice Parlor Suit on page 338. Mr. Koch does business on a large scale, and sells at wholesale and retail at bottom prices. He employs good workmen and does his work well. He says you are sure to buy if you call. Try it and see.

H. J. Pemberton presides at the Star Clothing House, in Fredonia. He is now selling a coat to the gentleman on page 338. Besides Clothing, in the line of outward garments, he keeps a general assortment of Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps &c., for men and boys. His motto is "Quick sales and small profits." That's what will suit his customers.

The Fredonia Censor, the oldest paper in the county, was established in 1821. The senior partner of the present proprietors, purchased the office and paper in 1842, since which time he has continuously wielded the editorial pen, and has fought valiantly for the interests of his party, and for the advancement of the interests of Chautauqua Co. The junior partner, Mr. Louis Mckinstry, was admitted to the firm in 1867, and is a valuable auxiliary to his father in the management of the business. As regarding the circulation of the Censor and the general make up of subjects, and facilities for executing Job Printing, we refer the reader to the advertisement on page 330.

The Westlake Baby Walker is one of the best inventions brought to our notice for amusing babies, helping them to walk, and relieving the often overtaxed mother. Dr. A. F. Ward, of Dunkirk, has the exclusive right to manufacture and sell this novel invention in Chautauqua County. He gets them up in various styles of finish, from the plainest at $3, to the richly upholstered style at $10. They are well worth the money, as the little ones will appreciate the use of them. See the Baby Walker on page 338.

Andrew G. Newstrom, Wagon and Sleigh Maker, at Jamestown, advertises on page 340. Mr. Newstrom prides himself on the quality of his work, which certainly is of the best. His heavy Wagons, Market Wagons, Sleighs &c., are something worth using. A good wagon that "talks well," is the pride of the teamster. Go to Newstrom for such a one.

Wood & Morse, Builders and dealers in Lumber, at Jamestown, have recently fitted up a new mill, where they plane and dress all kinds of lumber required for building purposes. They are now prepared to contract for furnishing houses throughout with Sash, Doors, Mouldings, Scroll Work &c. Farmers and others in the country, contemplating building, had better consult this firm before entering into contract for work and material. See card on page 312.

E. F. Smith, manufacturer and dealer in all kinds of Marble and Scotch Granite Monuments, Head Stones &c., at Jamestown, prints a card on page 300. Mr. Smith employs good workmen and will give personal attention to setting expensive stones, so that being on a proper foundation, they will retain their upright position. Call and examine his Marble and his work.

Button & Grandin, Harness and Trunk dealers, in Brooklyn, Jamestown, are enterprising men. Mr. Grandin has recently been admitted as a partner, and the shop has been enlarged. They have just filled up with a new stock of Trunks, Valises, Whips, Saddlery Hardware, Horse Clothing of the various kinds &c. They manufacture the best of double and single Harness, from superior leather, and offer them at favorable prices. They not only make to order, but keep a supply of work on hand. Go and see it. Card on page 312.

Frank D. Moon is Agent for the celebrated Florence Sewing Machine, in Jamestown. The Florence makes several kinds of stitches, works to the right and to the left, and for several reasons is preferable to other machines. See card on page 304.

Charles A. Coates, the Cigar Box Manufacturer, at Jamestown, prints a card on page 304. He uses the best kinds of woods, including Spanish Cedar, in his boxes, and supplies Tobacconists with Paper Trimmings, Labels, Brands &c. Cigar makers will do well to buy of him.

E. F. Persons, dealer in Dry Goods, Carpets, Groceries &c., at Westfield, occupies a spacious store in the Brewer Block, where he keeps a full stock of fresh and fashionable goods, which he is prepared to sell at prices to suit customers. He believes that "Live and Let Live" is a good rule to work by, and hence his success in drawing a large trade. Card on page 290.

Mrs. J. B. Hayward, fashionable Milliner, at Brocton, will be pleased at all times to show the ladies who may call on her, the latest novelties in the way of Hats and Bonnets, Fancy Goods and Trimmings. She buys often and consequently sells fresh goods. See card on page 328.

Lorenz Wolfe, practical Cooper, makes the best of Barrels, Staves and Headings, at Westfield. He has a large shop on the creek, and another on Main Street, west side. Fruit dealers, Flour packers, and others desiring good Barrels should remember that Mr. Wolfe can supply them all, at low prices. See card on page 352.

H. J. Howe, Music dealer and Dentist, at Dunkirk, has gained a well earned reputation for dealing in good instruments. He can also furnish any sheet Music desired. As a Dentist he ranks among the best. See card on page 356.

F. Simmons, at Jamestown, supplies merchants, painters and builders with Paint, Oils, Putty, Glass, Wall Papers, Sash, Doors, Blinds &c. His goods are equal to any in the market, and he keeps a variety. Customers can make all their purchases in the various lines mentioned here. His card is on page 356.

James Thompson, Carriage Maker, at Laona, is a young man of experience, who has by reason of careful practice become a first-class workman. He turns out some of the finest work to be found in the county, and he will sell it away down at bottom prices. He can do this, because his expenses are light, and he gives his personal services to the business. His card is on page 356.

Gifford House, Jamestown. This well known first-class Hotel, an illustration of which may be seen on page 9, has this summer been refitted and furnished. Many very important changes have been made, and it is now one of the most convenient and elegant hotels in Western New York. The dining-room is now on the main floor, and extends through from Main St. to the rear of the house; the ceilings are very high, and the walls are beautifully decorated in fresco; the windows are furnished with inside blinds, so that light and heat can be easily controlled, and ventilation is perfect. Off the dining-room is a large carving room and servants' dining-room; and to the rear of this is the kitchen, filled up with a large size cooking range, and other appurtenances complete in every respect. The Hotel accommodates about forty regular boarders, and there are forty well furnished rooms for travelers. In the saloon parlor is one of Chickering's grand pianos, for the exclusive use of guests. The landlords are gentlemen who will devote themselves to the comfort and convenience of their guests. We are sure the Gifford House will draw its full share of the traveling custom.

The Advertiser & Union, published at Dunkirk and Fredonia, is a leading Democratic paper. The presses are run by steam, and the office is supplied with new styles of types and materials. Connected with the establishment is a good Book Bindery. The circulation of the paper is among the most intelligent class of citizens, and is large. The proprietors, Messrs. Benton and Cushing will continue to make the Advertiser and Union a live and reliable newspaper, and they promise to attend promptly to orders for Job Printing, at reasonable rates. Card on page 304.

J. H. Van Buren, Real Estate and General Insurance Agent, sells all the houses and lots, and farms, that are offered and he can find purchasers for; and yet, being an industrious man, he wants more work to do. He wants to work for You! If you haven't property to sell, let him insure your house, barns, goods or life. Card on page 196.

Risley & Co., wholesale dealers in Liquors since 1854, occupy large stores in Dunkirk and Buffalo. They import very extensively, and are connected with some of the largest manufacturers in this country. The house is wealthy, grown so by honorable dealing and the dispensing of good goods. Being the largest establishment of the kind in Western New York, they are able to offer dealers superior inducements. See card on page 295.

J. A. Mead, Dentist, at Mayville, "shows his Teeth" on page 200. It is a representation, however, of the artificial kind, in the manufacture of which it is said he excels. The Doctor appreciates the duty every business man owes—to his would-be customers—to announce their business in such a way that the customer may know just where to go when a job in their line is wanted. For Tooth Ache, or want of Teeth, go to Dr. Mead.

Farnham & Schulz, Hardware Store, in Jamestown, offer tempting inducements to the farmers and mechanics of Chautauqua County. They keep a general stock of House Furnishing and Builders' Hardware, and all kinds of Mechanics' and Farmers' Tools. Mr. Farnham has been in the trade in this county for more than thirty years; is well known and has, since coming to Jamestown, gained a large trade. Mr. Schulz, the junior partner, began the business as a clerk for Mr. Farnham, when a young boy, and has grown up in the business. They are pleasant men to deal with. They advertise on page 347.

Charles Blood, proprietor of the "Dunkirk Furniture Store," established business here in 1859. He manufactures on an extensive scale, is an experienced Upholsterer, and therefore can warrant his goods understandingly. During the years he has been at the head of the Furniture business here, he has found customers from all the surrounding counties. Parties desiring Furniture made up in any desired style or pattern, can be accommodated here. It is well worth the time of citizens of the county to step into Mr. Blood's establishment and look over the elegant show of Furniture there to be seen. Remember to do so when you visit Dunkirk. He will be happy to explain to you how the goods are made, state prices &c., and, above all, to send you home the happy possessor of a nice Chamber or Parlor Suit. See advertisement on page 308.

Dr. Chas. A. Haselmaier, M. D., is a Druggist and Physician of large experience, resides at Dunkirk and is manufacturer of several valuable proprietary medicines, among which are "Royal Sweets, Balsam Myrrh, Dyspepsia Cure, Worm Confectionery, Aromatic Herb Pills, Rheumatic Liniment," &c. It is said that "worms like his confectionery, but after taking it they discover that there is trouble in the wigwam, and leave on the first train." See card, page 254.

East Third St., DUNKIRK, N. Y.

The Dunkirk Journal, an excellent family newspaper, contains 36 columns, weekly, made up of local and general news, choice miscellany, editorials and essays on agriculture, advertisements &c. It is well gotten up and well patronized. As an advertising medium it is one of the best, and in this connection we would say that patrons of newspapers cannot give the advertisements too close attention. From them you will frequently learn just where to buy what you have perhaps vainly sought after; sometimes you may save the price of a years' subscription to the paper by heeding the advice of an advertisement. Men who advertise are, generally speaking, more liberal in their dealings than those who do not. Having something you want, they believe it to be their duty to inform you of the fact. You should feel obliged for the information. See card on page 176.

L. A. Barmore, manufacturer and dealer in Cabinet Furniture, 75 Main St., Fredonia, N. Y., publishes a card on colored page 417. From a personal inspection of this stock, we can most cheerfully recommend him to all persons desirous of purchasing Parlor or Chamber Suits, Dining or Library Furniture. His warerooms occupy six floors, 25x100 feet, in which is displayed the finest and most varied assortment of any to be found in the county. His large experience in furnishing Residences, Hotels, R. R. Offices and Depots, give him a trade at home and abroad, that others may well be envious of his well-earned reputation. Call and examine his stock and prices, and satisfy yourselves of the fact that it is your interest to buy of him.

W. H. Bigelow, of Dunkirk, manufactures Cider Vinegar, "pure juice of the apple," and refined Cider. Farmers can also procure at his mills the best quality known of Land Plaster, an article that every farmer should cover his grass with. Some grain crops are benefited as well by the judicious use of gypsum, and the writer once raised at the rate of 500 bushels of potatoes to the acre, where a handful of plaster had been scattered over each hill when the potatoes were four or five inches high; the piece averaged a bushel to every eight hills. Sow plaster. See card on page 294.

Charles A. Morley "is a Brick." No, he makes Brick at Silver Creek. His experience of twenty years should certainly give him an advantage over others of less experience. He guarantees satisfaction. See card on page 248.

D. Blanding, General Merchant, at Forestville, sells Calico and Molasses, Ribbons and Glass, Butter and Beeswax, Candy and Pork, Oysters and Scissors, Teacups and Crackers, Codfish and ——, but we haven't the space to enumerate all the good things he has to offer at the lowest market prices. His card is on page 248.

P

R. H. Thompson, Merchant Tailor and dealer in Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, Hats and Caps, at Westfield, publishes an advertisement on page 277. Mr. Thompson has been here many years, and has had twenty-five years experience in Custom Cutting. He constantly keeps a large stock of goods on hand, selected with great care, and is determined not to be undersold by any dealer in the county. Those who favor him with their patronage will find the goods as represented. If you want a nicely fitting Suit, durably and elegantly made up, give him a call. If you want a good substantial Business Suit, Thompson is just the man who can get them up in good style. He is a fair and honorable dealer, and is bound to suit his customers.

Erie Hotel, James Gerrans, proprietor, is located at the Depot, Dunkirk, N. Y. This house is large and superbly fitted. The dining rooms are supplied with the rarities of the season. The billiard parlors, in connection with the House, afford opportunity for enjoying that healthy game. The Erie Hotel, being in the Depot, is most convenient for travelers. See advertisement on page 278, and remember the House.

Cassius A. Bush, Carriage, Sign and Ornamental Painter, at Jamestown, is a professional artist, who is prepared to Paint new Signs or retouch old ones in the most superb manner. He can put a coat on a buggy that will shine like polished glass; in fact he will be happy to accommodate his customers in any branch of his business. Will do his work well and at low prices. Card on page 180.

M. Van DeVelde, Merchant Tailor, at Dunkirk, is prepared to dress you up in the most fashionable style, and can supply you with Shirts, Cuffs, Collars, Neckties and other goods in the Gents' Furnishing line, at satisfactory prices. See card on next page.

R. B. Curtice, of the Jamestown Nursery and Small Fruit Farm, can supply all varieties of Fruit and Ornamental Trees suited to this climate. He understands the management of Trees, and offers only those of good growth and form. Of Shrubs, Vines &c., he has any quantity from which to select. Beautify your homes by securing a judicious assortment of Trees, Shrubs and Vines from Mr. Curtice. He advertises on page 180.

Conrad A Hult, dealer in Hats, Caps, Clothing and Furnishing Goods generally, in Weeks Block, Brooklyn, Jamestown, publishes a neat advertisement on page 178. Mr. Hult is also agent for the celebrated Victor Sewing Machine, one of the best machines manufactured. Farmers in want of good serviceable Clothes for themselves, or Sewing Machines for their wives or daughters, will find Mr. Hult an agreeable man to deal with. Try him and then "You'll know how 'tis yourself."

BANNER PRINTING HOUSE,

EAST THIRD STREET, DUNKIRK, N. Y.

The above is an exact Engraving of the Gordon Printing Press now in use in the Banner Printing House. It is the fastest press in the market, and with new type and first-class workmen, we are prepared to do all kinds of printing, such as BILL HEADS, LETTER HEADS, COMMERCIAL NOTE HEADS, ENVELOPES, STATEMENTS, BUSINESS, WEDDING, VISITING and Address CARDS, BALL TICKETS, & Amusement printing of all kinds; Law Cases, Law Blanks, Law Points, Legal Envelopes, Bank Notes, Bank Receipts, Posters, Programmes, Shipping Tags, Pamphlets, &c. In fact, we will [illegible] cial Printing, and business men throughout the county are requested to correspond with us when they are in want of anything in the line of Printing. Orders by mail promptly attended to.

JOHN M. LAKE, Proprietor.

M. Van De Velde,

Merchant Tailor!

AND DEALER IN

Gents' Furnishing Goods,

THIRD ST., opposite Lake Shore Warehouse.

DUNKIRK, N. Y.

W. H. Walker, Druggist and dealer in Patent Medicines, Books, Stationery &c., No. 17 Main St., Westfield, advertises on page 172. It is with pleasure that we recommend Mr. Walker to the patronage of the citizens of Chautauqua County. His store is well filled with goods of the different departments, and the whole has an air of tidiness and thrift which assures the customer at once that the business is conducted for the best interest of the patrons as well as of the proprietor. Mr. W. takes great pains in putting up Physicians' Prescriptions. We advise our readers to peruse the advertisement and remember the place when anything in his line is wanted.

K. F. Kimball, general Hardware Stove and Tinware dealer, in Jamestown, advertises on page 286. Mr. Kimball is a young man and expects to be a long time yet in Jamestown, and desires to form the acquaintance of every farmer and mechanic in Chautauqua County, and our advice to each one is Go and see him, even if you have nothing to purchase. He will be glad to show you his stock of Hardware, Paints, Oils &c., also Stoves and Tinware, of which he keeps a full supply. He occupies two stores and is always ready to give his customers a hundred cents worth of goods for every dollar he receives in exchange.

HANOVER.

FORESTVILLE, N. Y.

MANUFACTURING CHEMIST,

Proprietor of King of Catarrh.

READ THE FOLLOWING TESTIMONIAL:

Mr. Harry Carl, Rathbun House, Elmira, N. Y., says: it has done me more good in two weeks than all the medicine I have used in ten years. I am surprised at the change in two weeks. I do not feel like the same person. My head is as clear as a crystal. I have a splendid appetite, and sleep like a top, which I have not before done for a long time.

Every Bottle Warranted, or the Money refunded.

Don't fail to go to Hoyt's for Dry Goods, Clothing or Carpets, Jamestown.

Chautauqua County Classified Business Directory.

EXPLANATION.

The Towns are alphabetically arranged at the end of the line, under the business classifications. The post office address of each individual or firm follows immediately after the name. Where no post office is given after the name, it signifies that the name of the post office and town is the same. The names of farmers are omitted in this list, as they can readily be found in the general list, by noting the figures at the end of the lines, which indicate the number of acres owned or leased by each.

Thomas Flesher, the well known Iron Founder and Machinist, at Dunkirk, is also the Patentee of a Blind Stile Mortising and Boring Machine, that is creating quite a sensation among blind manufacturers. We advise those who have not seen it to address Mr. Flesher for a circular of particulars, or, what is better, visit him at the "Lake Erie Iron Works," on Front St. See card, page 289.

The King of Catarrh is one of the few patent medicines possessing real merit. The proprietor will refund the money to any person not satisfied with its results. If your druggist does not keep the K. C., enclose sixty cents to J. D. Merritt, Forestville, N. Y., and you will get it by mail. See card on page 252.

Thos. M. Prendergast, Breeder and dealer in Blooded Horses, Hereford Cattle and Cotswold Sheep, at Westfield, prints an illustrated card on page 360. Wm. Prendergast is widely known as a thorough horseman; his reputation in New York among the dealers in fancy horses is of the best, and he is often solicited to supply matched teams for New York gentlemen,—a trust which he uniformly does to the satisfaction of the parties. His fine blooded stock is considered among the best in the country, and "Jimmy" is his pride. He was foaled May 24th, 1869. Dam, Minnie, by Hill's Black Hawk, sire of Ethan Allen, Minnie trotted on the Troy track in 2.36. Sire, Hourglass, by Rysdick's Hambletonian. Sold by L. L. Hyde, of Dunkirk. Interested parties should correspond or call, and see Mr. Prendergast.

33, Proudfit & Osmer, 33, Clothiers, at Jamestown. It seems hardly necessary for us to notice this well known House in this work, for who is there that has ever entered Jamestown that has not at every mile post and guide board, learned the distance to "No. 33 MAIN ST."? but for fear that we should be accused of neglect in omitting to notice popular and well known places of resort, we take the trouble to say, that Proudfit & Osmer are men who find it hard to feel satisfied with doing well, but their constant aim is, to do better. They scour the markets for the finest and best grades of Cloths, and employ a large force of experienced cutters and tailors in the manufacture of their goods. Their custom tailoring trade has grown to be immense, and extends far into the surrounding counties and into Pennsylvania. No. 33 Main St. is represented on page 348 and on margins.

E. D. Harrison, Builder and Jobber, Fredonia, makes a specialty of Churches and Public Buildings. His experience has already won for him an enviable reputation. Church Societies and other interested parties should bear him in mind when offering contracts. He advertises on page 294.

H. Colman & Co., Hardware dealers, at Dunkirk, keep a full stock of all goods in their line. Their store is spacious, and being located on Center Street, is right in the business part of the town. Stop and see them if you want a good article of tools or anything in the hardware line. See card on page 296.

The People's Store, DEFOREST WELD, Manager, 35 Main St., Jamestown, N. Y., is without doubt, one of the largest and most enterprising Dry Goods establishments west of Buffalo, in the State. This House was established at Jamestown, N. Y., about three years ago, by A. Hazeltine, Jr., who secured for its management, Mr. DeForest Weld, an old and experienced merchant, well known to hundreds of people throughout Chautauqua and adjoining counties, as one of the most thorough, go-a-head merchants ever known to the Dry Goods trade throughout this section of the country. From the outset, the People's Store, by reason of its connections in the Eastern Markets, was able to place before the people all styles and qualities of Dry Goods and Carpets at a large per-centage less than the same grades were sold by other dealers; which fact, as a matter of course, was soon ascertained by consumers all over the country; and the future success of the institution was soon foretold by the immense crowds of purchasers who daily thronged the spacious salesrooms. Another popular feature of this House is, that all the various articles on sale represent the newest and most desirable styles to be found in the wholesale market. This arises from the fact that Mr. Hazeltine keeps a buyer in New York the year around, who is always on the watch, not only for Bargains, but for the "Latest Things Out." This gives the stock a fresh appearance entirely unusual with stocks in most dry goods stores at this distance from the market. To consumers of Dry Goods we would say that you should not fail to go to the People's Store and examine the goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere, and compare the prices there current with those demanded by other dealers for like qualities and styles of goods throughout this or adjoining counties. For further particulars read the advertisement on the last page and cover of the Directory.

Thomas & Son, Carpenters and Builders, at Dunkirk, publish an illustrated card on page 236, in which is represented a stone house, erected evidently in the "good old times" we read about. At the present time builders seek to vary the styles of their buildings as much as possible, consistent with convenience and good taste, for a judicious contrast is pleasing to the eye. This firm are competent to undertake the erection of any class of buildings required.

Mrs. Harriet Whicher, manufacturer and dealer in Human Hair Goods, at Jamestown, understands her business to perfection. Ladies generally are fond of their hair, especially if it is abundant and long. The lady represented on page 228, it seems, was photographed while looking out of the window, but she was so well pleased with the appearance of her "back hair" that she retained the picture. It looks well; but it is nothing to what Mrs. Whicher can do.

Wm. H. Sprague, dealer in Hardware, Stoves &c., at Jamestown, is successor to the old firm of "Tew & Sprague." The House has been established here for forty-eight years, and by fair and square dealing has well earned the honorable reputation it holds among the people of Chautauqua. Mr. Sprague buys in very large quantities, thereby saving for the benefit of his customers quite a margin of profits. His Stove trade is his "pet," and he is never satisfied until he secures the best the market affords. Just now he is introducing the "New American" for 1873, which is said to be the most perfect Cooking Stove in the world. His Parlor Stoves are also from the most celebrated manufactories of Albany and Troy, the leading Stove marts of the world. By having his Stoves shipped to him direct, by the car-load, he again saves an item in freight, so that it seems that in several ways Mr. Sprague is enabled to offer superior inducements to buyers. Mechanics in the various trades can here procure tools and all supplies that can be found in any hardware store. Mr. Sprague says "Call and see me and you shall be convinced." Remember, when you desire to buy a new Cooking Stove, that the best is always the cheapest. They give better satisfaction, are more reliable and use less fuel, than cheap and roughly-made stoves, and then a first-class new Stove adds relish to the food cooked upon it, besides the commendations and praises of the neighboring housewives in behalf of the new Stove, is worth more than the extra amount it costs over the common kind. Mr. Sprague's advertisement may be found inside the front cover.

The Chautauqua News, a live Republican paper, is issued at the County Seat every week. Mr. Southworth, the proprietor, takes pleasure in publishing correspondence from his friends in the neighboring towns of the county, regarding local news, crop prospects &c. Patrons of a paper can aid the publisher very materially in the production of a first-class country newspaper. Short items and a good many of them are the most beneficial. Help to make the "News" if it were possible even more welcome to its friends than it now is. Job Printing can be done at this office in good style, by steam power. Advertise in the "News." See card on page 200.

Mrs. Mary A. Smith, Milliner.—We take pleasure in calling the attention of the Ladies of Dunkirk and the surrounding towns, to Mrs. Smith's card, which we print on page 205. She keeps a choice and well selected assortment of Millinery and Fancy Goods, and is prepared to supply the Ladies with anything they wish for in her line of business, at prices that cannot fail to give satisfaction. Remember her place of business, on Third Street, fourth door west of the Exchange Hotel, and give her a liberal patronage.

Of you see vat you don't vant, yoost shpeak quit. Bill von fare, swi tollar effry tay. Walt. Finkel, vas dot boss vot shtays dere, by Dunkirk, N. Y." We take pleasure in recommending the Eastern Hotel to the favorable notice of citizens as well as travelers. Mr. Walter Finkel, the proprietor, is a gentlemanly landlord, has owned and managed this house since 1855, in which year it was built. It is the largest hotel in Dunkirk, and one of the best kept houses in Western New York. See advertisement on page 295, and remember to stop at the "Eastern," when you visit Dunkirk.

The Chautauqua Farmer, a well edited and a widely circulated journal, devoted to the interests of the farm and fireside, is published weekly by Parker & Hendricks, at Forestville. It is not often that a paper of this kind succeeds in a village like Forestville; but the proprietors are men of stamina, who would make success anywhere. They like their business, and their subscribers like the paper, and business men certainly must be pleased, for its circulation is so large that advertisements in it must pay largely. Card on page 256.

C. E. & W. S. Parks, General Furniture Dealers and Undertakers, at Jamestown, occupy two spacious stores on opposite sides of Main St. They aim to stand at the head in their particular branch of business, and judging from the masses of people who daily throng their warerooms, we should judge that their claims are well earned. They supply Church, Store, School or Office Furniture, and they make a specialty of doing their "level best" when called upon to furnish a Hotel or a Private House. In short, they are prepared for all comers, with fashionable goods, suited to the times and purposes of customers. When Death, the dread destroyer, separates our friends from us, it is a source of satisfaction if we can provide for them a decent and respectable burial. The Messrs. Parks can furnish Burial Cases of various styles, Shrouds and other articles needed, and will attend Funerals when called upon to do so. Remember this firm when you have to purchase anything in their line. They advertise on the Map.

Pettit's Medicines.—Dr. Pettit's American Eye Salve has been before the public for over 30 years as a curative of any kind of Sore Eyes, and as such has become a standard article. It has been tested on all kinds of Sores, especially Scrofulous Sores; it has been proven to be a specific for Piles; it never fails to cure Fever Sores, Pettit's Canker Balsam is for Nursing Sore Mouth, but is good for [illegible] Children. Pettit's Liniments are not recommended on commission. See advertisement page 4.

J. Baldwin Jr. & Son, dealers in Coal, Land Plaster, Lime and Cement, at Jamestown, buy from first hands in large quantities, and are, therefore, prepared to offer their customers the best grades of Coal, Lime, Cement &c., at the lowest possible prices. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. See their advertisement on page 347.

O. Monroe, Photographer, at Dunkirk, publishes a card on page 329. Mr. Monroe has been established here for upwards of twenty years, and understands the art of catching life-like pictures from A. to Z. His rooms are pleasantly located and fitted up with two good sky and side lights, and with the best class of instruments, he is prepared to copy or enlarge pictures and finish them up in any known style. Give him a call. There is no better place.

Jacob Houser, of Fredonia, houses his Wheat, Corn and other grain, in good season, so that it is bright and clean. His Mills are fitted with all necessary improvements for securing the best results in grinding. Everybody is interested in his class of productions, and we bespeak for him a liberal share of patronage. Farmers having grain to sell can here find a good market. See advertisement on page 230.

Post & Miniger, Contractors and Builders, at Jamestown, N. Y., advertise on page 228. These gentlemen are competent workmen and they employ experienced carpenters and the best of machinery, by which they are enabled, with the use of good lumber, to turn out superior work at low prices. See card on page 288.

G. W. Wiley & Co., Iron Founders and Agricultural Implement Makers, at Fredonia, N. Y., are young men of practical experience, who are determined by enterprise and industry, to gain a very large share of the trade of Chautauqua County. It will pay farmers to go and see them, for they make Superior Plows, Cultivators, Road Scrapers, Land Rollers, Sleigh Shoes &c., and they also make all kinds of castings to order, for mills &c. They employ good men and use first-class material in their manufactures, and their prices are reasonable. They advertise on page 330.

J. N. Rowe, Painter, Grainer &c., at Fredonia, prints a card on page 220. Mr. Rowe can improve the appearance of your houses in various ways. He can decorate your rooms with paper hangings, clean your ceiling with a nice coat of Calcomine, or clothe any part in coats of Paint of durable colors, and at reasonable prices.

Stop that Horse! on page 220. He has just been to Morley & Knox's, in Jamestown, where he has donned a new suit of Horse Clothing, and he feels so good over it that it's little wonder he couldn't "wait for the wagon."

Hoyt Brothers, dealers in Dry Goods, Carpets, Clothing &c., at Jamestown, deserves more than a passing notice. The business was begun here in the spring of 1869, by Hoyt & Fox. In Jan. 1871 Mr. Fox retired, and Joel I. Hoyt, a gentleman who has for many years been well and favorably known throughout Chautauqua and Cattaragus counties, as a prominent butter buyer, became partner with his brother, Peter H. Since then the business of the firm has steadily increased, until it may now be called one of the "solid concerns" of the County. The store was built and fitted on purpose for the Dry Goods trade, the entire three floors, each 120 by 40 feet in area, and basement, being occupied by the firm. On the main floor, to the left as you enter from the street, is to be found the Dry Goods Department, including ready-made suits for ladies, and on the right is the Ready-Made Clothing Department and Gents' Furnishing Goods Department; near the center, on the right side, is located the Office, which is fitted for the accommodation of the proprietors, the book-keeper, cashier and others with whom they have business. In rear of the office is stored huge piles of Sheetings, Tickings and miscellaneous articles. By an easy flight of stairs we ascend to the second floor, on which is located the Cloth, Merchant Tailoring and Cutting Departments. Here also is a large lot of Clothing in stock, Paper Hangings, Carpets &c. Two large openings in the floor, surrounded by neat railings, admit additional light from the sky lights above to the main floor, and also afford to the visitors on that floor a more correct idea of the magnitude of this enterprising House. Ascending still another flight of stairs, we reach the main Carpet Floor, which is about 70 by 40 feet in area. In rear of the Carpet room is the Manufacturing Department, occupying about 50 by 40 feet; here a large force of experienced tailors are constantly employed. The basement is occupied as a general store room. The House is in every department well represented. The proprietors are popular men and understand their business, and their large force of clerks are gentlemen of experience, who will delight to show the newest styles and best class of goods in all departments. The facilities of the House for "bearing" the market are unsurpassed, and they propose to give their customers the benefit of their low prices. We think it hardly necessary to request our readers to visit this mammoth House, for those who have not done so in the past, undoubtedly will from curiosity, when they next visit Jamestown. The proprietors or their clerks will be pleased to show visitors over the establishment. See advertisement on margins.

Sherman & Hull, Attorneys and Counsellors at Law, at Forestville, are reliable men, who will look after and attend promptly to the best interests of their clients. Card on page 248.

The Drug Store of Lakin & Barrows is located on Second St., just one number from Main, in the village of Jamestown. They occupy a three-story brick store. The first story is the sale room; the second is devoted to Wall Paper, where may be found the most extensive assortment in Western New York, embracing a large stock of Decorations for Churches and Halls. The third story contains goods in original packages, for jobbing purposes. They keep a first-class Decorator and Paper Hanger, whom they keep constantly engaged. The art of Decorating has reached such a state of perfection, that it is even more desirable than frescoing and much cheaper. They always make liberal deductions in decorating churches. Their Drugs are of the purest quality, and Prescriptions are always put up with accuracy. Dr. Lakin, one of the firm, who is a practical physician, attends to the Compounding and Dispensing Department. By their gentlemanly conduct and fair dealing they have established a large and prosperous trade. See advertisement on margins.

Westfield Republican.—Since the purchase of this paper, last spring, by Mr. Hall, the office has been improved and new vigor imparted to the paper generally. Mr. Hall gives due attention to the several departments of the paper, and as it has a good circulation, it makes a good advertising medium. He is prepared to do all Job Printing wanted on short notice, and in an excellent manner. See advertisement on page 346.

James R., Nathaniel J. and Silas, constitute the well known firm of Fenner Brothers, dealers in Boots, Shoes &c., at No. 57 Main St., Jamestown. These gentlemen are able to give their customers the most satisfactory booting possible. In addition to their own experience in the business, they employ a corps of competent workmen in their custom department. Their sales department is kept constantly stocked with all styles of Boots, Shoes, Gaiters, Rubbers &c., for ladies, gentlemen or children. These goods are from some of the most celebrated factories in the country, and will be sold at prices so satisfactory that customers will be only too glad to renew their understandings here. We advise the people of Chautauqua County, who have not as yet purchased goods of this firm, to make their acquaintance at an early day. You will find them courteous and obliging. See card on page 316.

Darwin L. Shepard, dealer in Hardware, Stoves, Tin and Plated Ware, at Fredonia, commenced business here about two years ago. He occupies a splendid store on Main Street and it is filled with first-class goods, selected with care, to meet the wants of the public. This gentleman is building up a large trade, which is well earned by his judicious selections of goods and continually courteous and attention to the wants of his customers. See advertisement on page 184.

HORSE POWERS!

Combined Clover Thrashers,

HULLERS AND CLEANERS,

"Farmers' Favorite" Grain Drills &c.

Our Thrashing Machines and Horse Powers are so well known, and have proved so far superior to all others, that we deem it only necessary to mention them.

Our Clover Machine, commonly known as "Collins & Shattuck's," has proved equally superior, and so great is our confidence in it that we warrant it to give satisfaction, or no pay.

The "Farmers' Favorite" Grain Drill, is the most perfect implement ever offered to the Farmers of Western New York. It is the only Drill having separate sets of distributors for Coarse and Fine Grain. This feature has proved indispensable to accurate sowing.

We WARRANT it to sow Wheat, Rye, Barley, Oats, Corn, Peas, or other Grains, evenly and in any desired quantity, without injuring any seed. If it fails in any respect it may be returned, and the money paid will be refunded.

We have full sets of patterns and pay special attention to supplying Repairs for all Hall Machines in use, including those made by the late Joseph H. Glen & Hall, Auburn, N. Y.
